Stars, Meat, Education.
A Cosmic School.
Food for 123 Millions.
A Great University.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

CHICAGO, April 21.

THREE THINGS seen in Chicago yesterday. First, planetarium, on the lake front, given to Chicago by Dr. Max Adler. The $750,000 that the building and its equipment cost him will be worth in education millions innumerable. That planetarium makes the structure of the universe plain and has a power in education possessed by nothing else.

BEFORE THE doors are opened crowds of children, parents, teachers from high schools, students at universities are eagerly waiting.

Prof. Fox, in charge, having given a private exhibition to a distinguished astronomer from California, President Campbell, of Mount Wilson, takes his audience through the depths of space while his able young assistant, Miss Maude Bennot, late of Northwestern University, whispers answers to questions. She is a fine young astronomer and ought to have a planetarium of her own or better still, a large family.

THE CEILING of the planetarium shows the firmament by day and by night. As darkness falls gradually planets and stars become visible. They are seen moving along their celestial paths in solemn dignity. An eclipse of the sun as the moon passes in front of it is easily understood by a child of 10.

The mystery of the equinox, apparent recession of the planets, seeming to go backward in their brilliant path of the milky way, which is our little universe, or cosmic neighborhood, the giant universes 100,000,000 light years distant, illustrated in magnificent photographs, all become simple matters of fact in that wonderful planetarium.

THE QUESTION put to Job: "Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in his season? Or canst thou guide Arcturus with his suns?" would not disturb Prof. Fox. He changes at will the speed the sun, planets and constellations, showing within 10 minutes or less all changes that occur in the sky in one year.

He turns the heavens around and you see the Southern Cross, never visible in our northern latitudes, barely visible at the horizon's edge in Miami, and at Brownsville, Tex. Next you are under the Arctic sky with the midnight sun traveling along the horizon.

Such a planetarium, to lift the minds of men and children from the dull earth, should be in every American city, within reach of all public schools. They have 12 in Germany, six in other European countries, including one in Moscow. There is only one in the rich United States, and that, thanks to Max Adler's generosity.

SECOND IN sightseeing comes the swift establishment in Chicago's stockyards, where six Swift brothers, Louis, Gus, Edward, Charles, Alden, Harold, help supply the 50,000,000 pounds of meat eaten by Americans each year.

It is a light Monday, only 14,000 head of cattle sent in against 25,000 last Monday. Thirty thousand lambs come to the slaughter. The packers buy all that comes to encourage production.

Butchers in the East prefer black cattle like the polled Angus. The West prefers Herefords, red with white faces.

A photograph shows the Prince of Wales riding with Louis Swift on horseback among the cattle pens, and laughing. A lady with a basket who did not know him is trying to sell him a doughnut. He had never seen one.

A SIGN pointing to the left reads: "Those who wish to see the killing, this way." Ninty-five per cent of the visitors, strange to say, turn that way, toward the shrieking pigs driven to the knife, and the lowing cattle, passing under heavy hammers. The other direction is more interesting.

On the right you see humble animal brothers that feed you. They are peaceful, for it is all over. A ghostly line of pure white hogs scraped and polished, hanging heads down pass along like the automobiles on a production line. As they pass many men standing with knives, do something to them, and agents of the government examine them for disease.

The main thing is tuberculosis. Hog cholera has been almost stamped out. Automobiles as they move along the line are gradually assembled. The poor pigs, cattle and sheep are gradually dismembered.

ONE MR. SWIFT tells you:

"That's where Henry Ford got his idea of a moving line for automobiles' mass production. We used to have butchers going from one carcass to another. Then, realizing that the time of a dead pig is worth less than that of a live man, we moved the pigs along, letting the men stand still at their work."

MUCH EXPERIMENTING, intense laboratory work in a great packing house, scientists test every product by processes innumerable. In one room are hundreds of live white rats, all descended from a brother and sister a thousand generations back.

A thousand generations are short among rats. No vivisection here. The happy rats are fed most carefully to test food values. With no conflicting chromosomes the rat production is absolutely uniform, all are alike, pink-eyed.

Shall we come to that? Terrible thought. If a mother rat

City Contractors Asked to Bring Records of Four Years Before Prosecutor

Action by City Council to subpena the records of the M. O'Herron Company for examination in connection with the Department of Public Works investigation was deferred late today by Assistant District Attorney William H. Colvin.

Instead, Attorney Colvin said, O'Herron company officials, which does approximately $700,000 worth of city work annually, will be asked to attend a conference with District Attorney Andrew T. Park at Park's office tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. They will be asked to bring their records to the conference.

This decision was reached following a conference between Attorney oClvin and City Controller James P. Kerr. It was their third conference of the day. If the O'Herron company does not comply with the request, City Council will be asked to issue a subpena for the records.

RUTH NICHOLS PLANS SEA HOP

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Ruth Nichols, within two weeks will attempt the first woman's solo flight across the Atlantic, Col. Clarence D. Chamberlin, her aeronautical adviser, said today.

In the Red Lockheed-Vega monoplane, which she flew at a speed of 210 miles an hour—a record for women—at Detroit a week ago, she will take off from Harbor Grace, N. F., to follow the Lindbergh trail to Paris.

She and Miss Elinor Smith now are regarded as the two outstanding women pilots in the United States. Miss Nichols has set four records. Last fall she flew from New York to Los Angeles and return, setting transcontinental records for women, both ways. Last month, over New Jersey, she set an altitude record for women which has since apparently been broken by Miss Smith, although the official records have not been announced.

Plans White House Autogyro Landing

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—If weather conditions are suitable President Hoover tomorrow will see an airplane land on the south grounds of the White House.

Harold F. Pitcairn, who was awarded the Collier trophy for developing the autogyro plane, plans to take off from the plaza of the Capitol in his autogyro and land it on the White House grounds.

4 INJURED BY GANG BOMBS

Scores Flee as Homes Burn In East Canonsburg and Carnegie; $125,000 Loss

Two bombings today, one in Canonsburg and one in Carnegie, revealing gangster activities, brought injury to four persons and entailed property damage upwards of $125,000.

Four buildings, two in Canonsburg and two in Carnegie, were razed while several others, including a four-story apartment in Canonsburg, were damaged, causing more than a score of persons to flee from their beds.

Canonsburg police were concentrating their efforts in a search for a Chicago gangster known to residents of the blast district at "Leon." Believed to have been hiding out in the vicinity of the pool room and confectionery store of Louis Malena, 521 Adams avenue, East Canonsburg, where he had been seen on numerous occasions, the Chicago racketeer fled after the bombing.

BLOWN FROM BEDS

The bomb was hurled at the Malena place, wrecking the two-story frame building and blowing the proprietor and his wife from their beds.

Both Malenas were burned seriously by the fire which destroyed the already wrecked building. Four children of the Malenas escaped unhurt. The others injured, Michael Harris, of 209 Third street, and Joseph Collins, of 532 Blaine avenue, friends of the Malena family, were burned while aiding the Malenas to escape from their home.

Police believe the blast broke a gas line under the Malena store, and the flames, fed by the gas, spread to a clothing store of Philip Abraham at 523 Adams street, destroying it. Leaping over a vacant lot, the fire damaged the Standard Restaurant at 527 Adams street, operated by Mrs. Frances Rogowski. Abraham, his wife and five children live above the clothing store and were forced to the street by the flames.

HOSPITALITY PLANS PUSHED

With but three days left in which to prepare for Pittsburgh's Hospitality Days, Friday and Saturday, business and civic leaders and city officials today were pushing their plans of reception to thousands of persons expected here from many sections of the tri-state district.

Designed to acquaint the residents of the territory within the Pittsburgh area with the opportunities offered by the city in the way of a market center, Hospitality Days will be a combination of a get-acquainted and pleasure affair. Indications are that, although the event is the first of its kind in this section of the country, it has been presented to the tri-state territory in such a

Edgewood Woman Killed in Boston

Mrs. Eleanor Thorp Minter, daughter of Charles M. Thorp, of 326 Maple avenue, Edgewood, was killed in Boston yesterday when struck by an automobile during the Lexington Day celebration. Mr. Thorp, her father, is senior partner of the law firm of Thorp, Bostwick, Stewart and Reed in the Grant Building. Mrs. Minter, wife of Capt. John Minter, of Washington, served as a nurse in France in the World War.

Her husband, former newspaper writer, is in the consular service.

DOPE RAID NETS MOVIE NAMES

NEW YORK, April 21.—(INS.)—A record book containing the names of Hollywood movie actors and actresses was seized today by federal agents in a raid directed against what they termed a $1,000,000 nation-wide drug ring.

The raid was led by Chief Agent Joseph Manning, who said that the record book also contained the names of a Hollywood physician and of physicians in the South and Middle West.

The federal agents descended on a Manhattan residence, seized the record book, and placed Jacob Jacobs, alleged to be the ring leader, under arrest. Manning said that the ring averaged profits of $1,000,000 a year, with the total much higher some years.

Will Rogers Pays Longworth Tribute

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Will Rogers, cowboy humorist, visited the office of the speaker of the House today to pay his respects to the memory of his friend, the late Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio. From the speaker's office he went to see Chairman Borah, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, "to tell him what's doing in Nicaragua."

Wales Cancels Plane Trip From Portugal

LONDON, April 21.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales will cover the last stage of his homeward voyage from South America in the fast British cruiser Kent instead of by airplane from Lisbon as he had planned. It was announced today that he and Prince George would board the cruiser at Lisbon next Saturday.

Rockefeller Quits Florida for North

Buckley Murder Jury Deadlocked

DETROIT, April 21.—(INS.)—The jury considering the fate of Ted Pizzino, Angelo Livecchi and Joe Bommarito, three alleged gangsters charged with the murder of Gerald Buckley, radio announcer, continued its deliberations today. It is reported to be deadlocked.

Former Follies Girl Will Divorce Mate

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—(INS.)—That Helen Lee Worthing, former Follies beauty, contemplated filing a divorce complaint against Dr. Eugene C. Nelson, "colored" physician, here within a few days, was revealed here today by her attorney, Ruben Licker.

The couple was married at Tiajuana, Mexico, in 1927 and have separated three times since. Miss Worthing recently returned here from a hospital at Madison, Wis., where she had been treated for a nervous condition, she said.

DIAMOND HELD IN 'TORTURE'

CATSKILL, N. Y., April 21.—(INS.)—Jack (Legs) Diamond, famous racketeer, was arrested today at his mountain retreat at Acra and brought to the Greene County jail here. He is charged with atrocious assault on complaint of Grover Parks, truck driver of Cairo, who says he was beaten and tortured in his garage.

Diamond offered no resistance when arrested at his fortified home. He has been living quietly there since leaving the New York hospital in which he recovered from bullet wounds received in an attempt to assassinate him.

Parks told Greene County authorities that he was set on last Thursday night by several members of the Diamond "mob." He charged he was dragged from his truck, tied to a tree and a bonfire built around his feet. He said he was delivering a truckload of cider to South Durham.

Rains Due to End Warm Spell Tonight

Rain with cooler temperatures, is expected to end the ideal spring weather conditions which prevailed in Pittsburgh for more than a week, according to Forecaster W. S. Brotzman. Showers and cloudy weather are scheduled for tonight, with a minimum temperature of 40 degrees.

BLUE LAWS AMENDMENT DEFEATED, 101 TO 99

Switch of 'Mistaken' Vote Prevents Tie; Forces Backing Change Heartened

BY ED PRENDERGAST,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, April 21.—By the narrow margin of two votes, an attempt to amend the state's blue laws of 1794 to permit Sunday baseball failed in the House today.

The final vote was 99 to 101, the blue law foes creating a tremendous impression by the large number of supporters.

So close was the vote that switch of a single vote of a member, who switched on the ground that he had voted under a misapprehension, prevented a tie.

VOTE "YES" BY MISTAKE

The man who voted "yes" by mistake was the Rev. Sidney V. Carmany, of Oil City.

Eighteen Allegheny County members voted for the amendment, while seven opposed a change in the ancient statute. Two of the delegation were absent.

The 40 members from Philadelphia present out of the delegation of 41 voted solidly for the amendment.

The test vote came with the House sitting as a committee of the whole to consider a proposed amendment to the Schwartz bill which legalizes the delivery of milk up to 10 a. m. instead of 9 a. m. on Sunday.

HOUSE IN "COMMITTEE"

When the Schwartz milk bill came up on special order of business in the House today, Representative Sowers, Philadelphia, objected to dispensing with the "committee of the whole." With that objection the House resolved itself into a committee for the consideration of the amendment to permit Sunday baseball between 2 and 5:30 o'clock.

Speaker Goodnough named Representative George W. Williams, of Tioga, as chairman of the "committee of the whole."

Sowers led the fight for adoption of the amendment. He read a letter from Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, widow of a reform mayor of Philadelphia, urging adoption of the amendment.

Baseball was unknown when the blue laws were put on the

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—Igloo is dead.

The fox terrier dog that accompanied Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd to both the North and South Poles, died at 4 a. m. today in Boston of an intestinal ailment.

Admiral Byrd, who had temporarily suspended his lecture tour at Springfield, Ill., last night to rush back to Boston, received word on arriving here. He canceled plans to fly to Boston and resumed his tour, asserting:

"Now that Igloo has died, there's nothing to do but go on."

Admiral Byrd felt that he had lost "more than a friend" in the passing of Igloo.

Whatever rites might be held for Igloo will be delayed, Byrd said, until he returns to Boston a week from Wednesday.

Igloo lived six years. He was a pup when the admiral went to King's Bay to prepare for the flight over the North Pole. The admiral took Igloo along to the South Pole when he made that flight two years ago. Byrd said:

"But Igloo didn't go along in the plane, as many people thought. That wouldn't have been right. In case of an accident what would happen to a dog when the ship had to be destroyed?"

Sunday Movies Again Win English Lawmakers' Vote

LONDON, April 21.—(AP.)—While kneeling Britons outside prayed for a divine "visitation upon the heads of iniquitous defenders" of the bill legalizing Sunday movies and other amusements, the House of Commons last night passed the measure, 258 to 210, on its second reading.

A barrage of prayer was raised by ardent Sabbatarians while debate was in progress. A huge prayer meeting was organized by the Lord's Day Observance Society in a nearby hall to synchronize with the debate and as division time approached most of those attending repaired to Parliament Square and formed groups for prayer.

The parties were mixed up in extraordinary manner in the lobbies when the vote was taken. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and the Conservative leader, Stanley Baldwin, for once found themselves in the same lobby, voting for the bill.

The measure, if passed on its third reading, will cancel Blue Laws of 1780.

statute books. Sowers said, adding:

"In the large cities the Blue Laws are most rigidly enforced. Outside you see boys in the fields playing ball. In Philadelphia the police live up to the letter of the law."

Sowers said many people in the cities have no place to go on Sunday afternoons.

SARIG MAKES PLEA

Representative Sarig, of Berks, the Democratic floor leader, made a plea for adoption of the amendments, asserting:

"You can't keep the boys and girls in church all day on Sunday."

Sarig recommended the repeal of all laws that are not enforced. Sarig added:

"There is nothing in this amendment to compel people to attend a baseball game. It is far better to let young people go to baseball games than hang around alleys."

Representative Beyer, of Philadelphia, declared:

"There is no word of protest against men of means playing golf at clubs, but a small boy who merely bats a ball in the street is arrested."

The church has taken a misguided attitude on this subject, Beyer said. Operation of trains and autos is illegal, he asserted, but permitted.

CITES POLL HERE

Representative Steedle, of Allegheny, who last week criticized newspapers in connection with the city manager bill, today lauded the Sun-Telegraph poll of last year on the blue laws. He told the House that the poll showed a vote of 5 to 1 for repeal. He said:

"Pittsburgh suffers because it is an inland city. We have nothing to do on Sunday, we can't go to the seashore or Lake Erie.

"Magistrates who fine children who play baseball on Sunday are not interested in enforcing the blue laws, but merely for business purposes.

"We shouldn't have a government of repression, but one of direction."

Representative Musmanno, of Allegheny, opened his remarks by a comment on the lack of opposition to the amendment.

Commercialization of Sunday is a bugaboo, Musmanno said, raised by the proponents of the blue laws. He added:

"Those who vote against this amendment, I venture to say, ride automobiles.

"There is nothing more irreligious about going to a baseball game than buying gasoline on Sunday."

Representative Talbot, Delaware, said when he first came to the legislature in 1925 he felt the blue laws should be unchanged but added:

"This is the first time we have something tangible."

PERRY FOR CHANGE

Representative Braham, Butler, asked the House to defeat the amendment.

Another proponent of the amendment to speak was Representative Peeler, of Indiana.

Representative Spangler, of ...k, a former speaker, said the ...e Laws should be modernized.

The blind members of the House spoke on the question. Representative Loos, Lycoming, was against Sunday baseball, while Representative Dunn, Allegheny, favored it.

ROLL CALL ASKED

A roll call was asked and the vote followed.

After the roll call, Representative Williams, Tioga, reported the Schwartz bill from the committee of the whole "as committeed" and the House approved the report.

Representative Sowers then offered another amendment, the contents of which were not immediately indicated.

Sowers, in compliance with Speaker Goodnough's interpretation of the House rules, substituted a motion to amend the title of the bill.

A standing vote showed that the motion to reconsider the vote by which the House agreed to the title was passed by a vote of 91 to 87.

The title amendment read:

"Nor to prohibit baseball games on Sunday after 2 o'clock post meridian."

Sowers explained the amendment eliminates the clause "with or without payment" and permits Sunday baseball where no charge is made.

Sowers asked for a roll call which was taken.

The Sowers motion was defeated by a vote of 94 in favor and 98 against.

Sowers then moved that further consideration of the bill be deferred for the present and the measure was placed on the postponed second reading calendar.

DELAY UTILITY PROBE REPORT

HARRISBURG, April 21.—(AP.)—Chairman D. Glenn Moore, of the House committee investigating the Public Service Commission and the utilities, announced today that the committee's preliminary report would not be submitted to the House of Representatives today.

The chairman planned to have another executive meeting of the investigating committee late this afternoon at which time it was to be decided when the report would be given to the House and made public.

At yesterday's session, the committee decided to ask the Federal Trade Commission for data concerning Pennsylvania utilities.

J. & L. RECEIVES HUGE ORDER

An order for 35,000 tons of pipe was received today by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation from the Sinclair Oil Company of Texas. The pipe is to go into pipe line connections in East Texas.

While no official word was forthcoming from J. & L. due to absence of most of that company's officers in New Orleans, where they are attending to business relative to taking over a huge warehouse of the Luckens Steel Company, the order was confirmed here by the sales department.

Steel Worker Sues Over Lost 'Nerve'

ATLANTA, April 21.—(AP.)—A. E. Shipp, a structural steel worker, values his lost "nerve" at $75,000.

In a suit under way in the City Court against the Central of Georgia Railroad, Shipp is seeking that sum on the allegation that he has been unable to follow his trade since his automobile was struck by one of the railway's locomotives here. Before the accident, he set forth, he had no fear of walking along a single beam on the loftiest skyscraper, but since he is afraid to work 10 feet above the ground.

Wilkins 'Talks' to Wife In Nautilus Radio Test

NEW YORK, April 21.—(Universal.)—The radio facilities of the trans-Arctic submarine Nautilus have been given their first test and pronounced fit.

The tests, made yesterday, also officially opened station WRH of the American Radio News Corporation, a Hearst enterprise. Through WRH, located at Carlstadt, N. J., Sir Hubert Wilkins, aboard the Nautilus at Yonkers, N. Y., exchanged radio greetings with his wife, Lady Wilkins, in an uptown New York office.

At the conclusion of the exchange of messages Capt. Wilkins said:

"This clearly demonstrates the feasibility of the communication system devised and put into operation between the Nautilus and station WRH."

He especially praised W. G. H. Finch, chief engineer of the American Radio News Corporation, who designed and installed the station. The American Radio News Corporation will handle all the messages and news dispatches from the submarine while it is in the Arctic.

The messages thus received at station WRH will in turn be transmitted to hundreds of newspapers throughout the world. Sir Hubert himself took the keys to transmit his first radiogram from the Nautilus.

Other traffic between the Nautilus and station WRH was expertly sent by Chief Radioman Ray Meyers, of the Nautilus.

NEW MANAGER BILL MAY NOT REACH FLOOR

Measure Lacks Sponsor to Offer It in Legislature; Politicians Seek Revenge

HARRISBURG, April 21.—It was considered doubtful today if the city manager bill written for Pittsburgh exclusively would get into the Legislature at all. Those behind the measure are having difficulty finding a sponsor, since the Moore bill defeated last week took a terrific toll, politicians against it fighting an uphill battle to win. They await vengeance on its proponents.

Meanwhile, the first step toward adoption of an old age pension system for Pennsylvania was completed. Amid a burst of applause, the House set its approval on the bill by Senator Harris, Allegheny, providing for a constitutional amendment to permit old age pensions and soldiers' bonus. The measure had already been passed by the Senate and must now be voted upon by the next Legislature and, if approved then, submitted to a state-wide referendum.

MARRIED TEACHER BAN

Among new bills introduced is one by Senator Joseph C. Trainer, of Philadelphia, forbidding appointment of married women as principals or teachers in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia schools. Exception is made of a married woman who is sole support of a family.

The bill also restricts the board to employment of Pennsylvanians on its teaching staff. Persons from other states may be employed only when no Pennsylvanians are available.

Penalties as high as $5,000 are imposed on persons who "make, utter, circulate or transmit false or derogatory statements" affecting the solvency or financial standing of national banks or building and loan associations, in a bill introduced by Senator Buckman, of Bucks County.

JAIL CHAPLAINS

The Senate passed the bill of Senator William D. Mansfield, McKeesport, to authorize the Allegheny County Board of Prison Inspectors to appoint as many jail chaplains as may be needed. The chaplains' salaries are to be fixed by the county board.

The Pinchot administration bill to make state highways of 20,000 miles of township road was reported from Senate committee last night. It is to be given two readings and then will return to committee for changes in road sections which members of the two houses desire to be made in their counties.

The three administration bills creating a Fair Rate Board and abolishing the Public Service Commission today were reported for passage by the House Committee judiciary special.

MARRIED THE TRUMPETER!

FRANCES WILLIAMS . . . TOOK THE TRUMPETER, NOT PIANIST!

Miss Williams, blonde stage star who recently said in Pittsburgh when sued for alienation by his wife that she'd wait 10 years to marry Allan Jones, Beaver Falls cabby who went to Broadway and cut his mark as a pianist, changed her mind, didn't wait, married instead Lester Clark, trumpet player, secretly in Maryland.

MARINE SOUGHT AS STRANGLER

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 21.—(AP.)—Officers sought an unidentified Marine Corps private today for questioning in the death of Louise Teuber, 17, whose body was found hanging from a tree Sunday.

Police said a girl, whose name was withheld, had reported Miss Teuber was either engaged or married to the service man, stationed on a vessel in Los Angeles harbor.

Among the men questioned yesterday was a photographer for whom, police said, Miss Teuber had posed for "art" pictures. Miss Teuber's body was found by a picnic party. The former five and ten-cent store salesgirl had left notes to her father and sister saying she was going away. Investigators theorized that her slayer knew of this and made a clumsy attempt to make her death appear a suicide.

SUED FOR BALM, SINGER WEDS

The musical romance of Frances Williams, blonde blues singer and stage star, and Alan Jones, piano-playing cab driver from Beaver Falls, came to a finale today.

The singer, who, sued for $100,000 for alleged alienation of Jones' affections, recently said she would wait 10 years, if necessary, to wed him, changed her mind and married a trumpet player instead.

Miss Williams, now appearing in the musical comedy, "The New Yorkers," current Broadway hit, revealed today that she and Lester Clark, New York musician, were married Sunday by a justice of the peace in Kennedyville, Md. They returned in time for her evening performance.

Jones, once a cab driver, started playing in "The Pittsburgh Cabbies" several years ago. He went to New York and, two years ago, joined the California Collegians, featured orchestra in "Fifty Million Frenchmen," a musical comedy.

It was there that he met Miss Williams and in March, 1930, his wife, Mrs. Bertha Jones, now living in Beaver Falls, sued Miss Williams, appearing here in George White's "Scandals," for $100,000, charging alienation of affections.

Attorney Louis Little, representing Mrs. Jones, said Miss Williams' marriage would have no effect on the legal action and he would endeavor to have it brought to trial shortly.

Army Flier Killed In Philippine Crash

MANILA, P. I., April 21.—(INS.)—Lieut. Melvin M. Burnside, 29, Army Air Corps pilot, was killed today when his plane crashed at Fort Stotsenberg Army Post, Central Luzon.

ASSEMBLY HEARS REDS

'Hunger Marchers' Demand Job Insurance, Praise Soviet to House, Senate

HARRISBURG, April 21.—The "hunger marchers," several hundred strong, crowded the House chamber this morning to present their demands for unemployment relief before members of the Senate and House.

Carrying placards demanding a state appropriation of $42,000,000, the marchers from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Reading and other industrial centers of the state were given a hearing by the Legislature. Lieut. Gov. E. C. Shannon presided and asserted:

"We welcome you to the Capitol to hear what you have to say."

Speaker C. J. Goodnough told them:

JOBLESS INSURANCE

William Simons, of Philadelphia, secretary of the Trade Union Unity League, in a fiery speech, frequently interrupted by applause, voiced the demands for an unemployment insurance bill and an average wage to the unemployed of $15 a week, with $3 for each dependent. Simons charged the legislators merely do the bidding of "the bosses," and said the only way to abolish unemployment is to have the workers take over the factories.

The Negro mine workers of Western Pennsylvania are the chief sufferers, according to Ike Hawkins, of Pittsburgh, of the National Miners' Union, who declared:

"Unemployment is a major problem in Western Pennsylvania. It is your fault we are unemployed."

COMPANY STORES

The unemployment march on Washington, Pa., last Friday was described by Charles Boswell, a miner from Avella. He scored the "company store" system and added:

"There are thousands of miners in Western Pennsylvania out of work. We are willing to work, but we want fair wages."

Patrick Cush, of Pittsburgh, the last speaker, praised the Soviet system of government and concluded:

"We workers in that citidal of capitalism, Pittsburgh, are suffering."

State Needy Amply Cared for, King Says

HARRISBURG, April 21.—(AP.)—Clyde L. King, secretary of revenue and chairman of the Pennsylvania Unemployment Committee, said last night that there is no section of the state where the care of known needy is inadequate or not complete. He based his statement on reports received from the chairmen of the various county unemployment committees, and added that the current condition has prevailed since the countycommittees were created by Gov. Pinchot.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 21.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

Whenever any questions arise as to our relations with countries south of the Rio Grande, someone always brings forward the charge that our business enterprises in those regions are engaged in exploiting the native population. The inference intended is one of criticism of our commercial activities as entirely selfish on our part and degrading to the people who come in contact with them.

Mr. Coolidge

This charge has no general application. Our business men have often gone into regions that had made little progress for hundreds of years. They have given employment at fair wages, built roads, schools, hospitals and churches, opened mines, turned the jungle into productivity and made the country sanitary.

Our presence, our capital, our skill have given the inhabitants their main chance to rise in the scale of civilization. Our people have made investments in the government loans of these countries which have not been repaid. We have done much more for the people with whom we have come in contact than they have done for us. Up to the present time a strict balancing of accounts would probably show that we are the ones who have been exploited.

NICARAGUA SENDS FORCE TO BATTLE REBEL CHIEFTAIN

Alfonso Greeted by Cheering Throngs in London

Police Hold Back Admiring Crowd on Trip to Hotel; Wife in Exile Residence

LONDON, April 21.—(AP.) — Alfonso of Spain, traveling as the Duke of Toledo, reached London at 6:30 o'clock this evening, pressed through a crowd which almost bowled over the police lines at Victoria Station, and drove to the Claridge Hotel.

An enthusiastic crowd cheered him as he emerged from the station, but he denied himself to newspapermen and a member of his party explained that Alfonso was very tired.

He has come here on private business and reports in some quarters have said that he plans to negotiate a loan on some of his extensive stock and property holdings. He also intends to place his son, Juan, in an English naval school.

FONTAINEBLEAU, France, April 21.—(AP.)—Victoria of Spain and her entourage arrived here this afternoon to take up their residence in this historic town. She retired to her suite in the Hotel Savoy at once.

MADRID, April 21.—(INS.)—Gen. Mola, who, as chief of police of Madrid under the King Alfonso regime, incurred the intense hatred of the capital's populace for his methods of repressing student disorders, was arrested today by the Republican authorities.

He will be tried on a number of charges, including that of using unnecessary force in putting down student demonstrations, in which a number of persons were killed. Gen. Berenguer, who shared popular dislike with Mola, recently was dismissed from the army.

An investigation was ordered today of a complaint lodged by an unnamed person, charging that valuable trophies, documents and jewels had disappeared from the Aranjaez Royal Palace.

WALKER REPLY HITS FOES

NEW YORK, April 21.—(INS.)—Politics.

This, in a word, is Mayor James J. Walker's long-awaited reply to the charges of inefficiency, incompetence and negligence made against him by the City Affairs Committee, headed by the Rev. John Hayes Homes and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, who weeks ago formally demanded that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt remove the Mayor from office.

The Mayor's answer, a 15,000-word document, which he compiled personally, was being studied by the Governor at the executive mansion in Albany today. It is a detailed defense of the entire Walker administration and a compendium of its achievements. It emphatically and unreservedly denies all the charges.

Summing up, the Mayor wrote:

"I declare that I have adequately and consistently done my full duty as Mayor of the City of New York.

"I ask that these charges be dismissed."

Man Drinks Acid, Dies in McKeesport

Anton Koleska, 46, of Herminie, Westmoreland County, died last night in McKeesport Hospital eight hours after he swallowed sulphuric acid in his home, according to the coroner's report. Koleska swallowed the acid after being reprimanded by his wife for drinking, deputy coroners reported.

THE AREA THAT SUFFERED RENDING EXPLOSION, CONCUSSION TODAY WHEN BOMB USED IN GANG WARFARE WIPED OUT TWO HOUSES, DAMAGED MANY NEARBY IN CANONSBURG

swept through all floors of the building, forcing Nick Phiakas, owner of a coffee shop on the first floor, and 10 families residing in the apartment to the street. The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mamuel, adjoining the apartment building, was scorched by the flames.

Harris and Collins were found unconscious and suffering from their burns in an alleyway at the rear of the Molena building, was hours after the blast and fire.

They had assisted the four children to escape and upon their return to the house to bring out household fixtures were forced to flee to the street, their clothing ablaze.

REPRISAL SUSPECTED

Leon has been spending considerable time in Malena's place and police believe the blast was in reprisal for Malena's harboring of the Chicagoan. Leon has been missing since last night.

In the absence of Fire Chief W. H. Arnold, firemen estimated the damage at between $75,000 and $100,000. Police Chief Harry Addis and members of council of the town of Canonsburg were initiating an investigation early today.

The Carnegie blast destroyed the grocery store and residence of Jack Sylvester, at Arch and Chestnut streets, near the Rosslyn Farms station of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Flames which followed the blast ignited a two-story brick garage and residence in the rear and slightly damaged dwellings on opposite sides of Arch and Chestnut streets.

FAMILY AWAY

Sylvester is visiting in the West and his wife, Paulina, who has been conducting the business during her husband's absence, has not been living in the building at night. She and her four children were at the home of her sister, Mrs. Mamie Perry, at 513 West Main street, Carnegie, when the blast occurred.

Living over the brick garage in the rear is the family of John Clark, a Negro. Clark, alone at the time, jumped from a second floor window to the railroad tracks a short distance below. More than a score of Negroes living in the two other dwellings, which were slightly damaged, fled in night clothing. Fire Chief Orrian Baux estimated the damage at $25,000.

More than a score of windows were shattered in the district and the force of the explosion was felt more than a mile away. Police Lieut. Harry Keisling, who was in the other end of the borough, said that he plainly heard the explosion. Mrs. Sylvester told police she knew of no reason why her husband's property should be bombed.

YORK PRINCESS 5 YEARS OLD

WINDSOR, Eng., April 21.—(AP.)—Princess Elizabeth, elder child of the Duke and Duchess of York, today celebrated her fifth birthday, arising early and rushing into the oak room at the castle where there were all sorts of mysterious presents.

Most of the gifts were such as would educate as well as amuse. Among King George's gifts was a terrestrial globe which she eagerly examined, asking to have pointed out where Uncle David and Uncle George were. Her mother, the Duchess of York, indicated the route of the princes' return from South America.

Shooting at Moon Gets Score Arrested

SMYRNA, April 21.—(AP.)—There is such a thing as shooting at the moon. And it is so dangerous that there is a law forbidding it. Twenty shooters have been arrested. Somebody was hurt when acting on superstition that eclipses are due to a wolf trying to eat the moon. Lots of folks got out guns and tried to kill the wolf.

Youth Forbidden Auto Rides for Year

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 21.—(AP.)—Riding in automobiles either as a driver or as a passenger is forbidden to Paul Lester, 17, for one year.

The prohibition was handed down in Municipal Court after the youth was convicted of injuring a high school boy while motoring at 45 miles an hour.

KING OF SIAM HEADS FOR N. Y.

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—The long transcontinental journey broken by a brief rest in the Chicago terminal, King Prajadhipok and Queen Rambaibarni, of Siam, started on the last lap of their trip to New York at 10:20 a. m. today.

Seemingly refreshed by sleep, the King for the second time since his arrival on the American continent ventured from the seclusion of his private car and posed for cameramen, waving to the salutes of the crowd that gathered at the rear of the train.

His only visitor as the train was being remade in the railway yards was Gen. Nathan William MacChesney, Chicago consul for Siam. King Prajahhipok is to be treated for an eye affliction. He is recovering from bronchitis and malaria contracted during the journey from Bankok.

Slayer Granted Respite by Pinchot

HARRISBURG, April 21.—(AP.)—Governor Pinchot has issued a respite staying the execution of Wilfred Flood, of Luzerne county, from the week of April 27 to the week beginning May 25. Flood was convicted of killing Joseph Pollard, 18-year-old gasoline station attendant at Forty Fort on December 27, 1929.

Birthday of Rome Celebrated in Italy

ROME, April 21.—(AP.)—Italy today celebrated the birthday of Rome with inauguration of scores of public improvements and the beginning of the national census. Tradition holds that Rome was founded on April 21.

RUM RAIDED IN SMITHFIELD ST.

Four men were arrested and liquor and beer valued at $4,000 confiscated in an exclusive speakeasy at 627 Smithfield street shortly before noon today, police reported, after Arnold Windgate, 38, of Chicago, had been found robbed and severely beaten in a nearby alley.

A plainclothes raiding squad, headed by Acting Lieut. Hugh Lavery, found the club camouflaged as a doctor's office. The entrance, they said, was through a door marked "Consultation Room."

Windgate told police he had been robbed of $150 after being knocked unconscious in the club.

The men under arrest are Frank Keenan, alleged proprietor, who lives at 2409 Penn avenue; Paul Palaro, of 1300 Penn avenue; John Snozski, of 112 Twenty-fourth street, and James Angel, of Forbes street and Coltart square. All were being held on suspicious person charges.

U. S. Steel Railroad Head to Be Retired

NEW YORK, April 21.—(INS.)—A. F. Banks, president of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railroad, owned by the United States Steel Corporation, probably will be the first head of a subsidiary to retire under the company's revised pension plan, providing for compulsory retirement at the age of 70, adoped by stockholders here yesterday. Banks, who has been with the railroad 37 years, was scheduled to retire about May 1.

Find Pot of Gold, Believed Hannibal's

MARIBOR, Jugoslavia, April 21.—(AP.)—A pot of gold believed brought to Jugoslavia by Hannibal in the second Punic War campaign has been found near here. Workmen tearing down the building in which the Austrian Admiral Tegetthoff was born, found the pot, which was of earthenware and contained several hundred gold pieces of the utmost archaeological value, dating to the second century before Christ.

Dry Raids Protested To W. Va. Governor

BENWOOD, W. Va., April 21.—(AP.)—Citizens, gathered in a mass-meeting here last night, adopted a resolution protesting to Gov. W. G. Conley and the Marshall County Court, against the invasion of Benwood residences by constables from Moundsville, acting as prohibition raiders. The resolution charged inadequate warrants were being used.

HOOVER SURE OF SANDINO CAPTURE

Eight More Reported Dead Near Puerto Cabezas; Seek Neutral Zone in Honduras

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—President Hoover said today the Nicaraguan government had placed in the field a considerable force of national guardsmen in a drive to "clean up Sandino and his fellow bandits."

The President said the insurgent general had "placed himself outside the civilized pale by the cold blooded murder of Americans" and expressed confidence he would be "brought to justice."

Almost simultaneously with the issuance of the presidential statement, the Navy Department received from Rear Admiral Arthur St. Clair Smith, commander of the special service squadron now stationed in Nicaraguan waters, the names of eight additional persons killed in the outbreaks in the vicinity of Puerto Cabezas.

The President in his statement said:

"The Nicaraguan government has shown itself fully cognizant of its responsibilities. It is moving vigorously despite the difficulties created by the earthquake. While it may require some time to accomplish their purpose, due to the mountainous and jungle character of the country, I am confident Sandino will be brought to justice."

Meanwhile, the insurrection in Northern Honduras was described as subsiding all along the coast except in the region inland from Puerto Cortez, westernmost of the banana ports, in a report today from Minister Julius G. Lay at Tegucigalpa to the State Department.

Minister Lay said Vice Consul Thomas C. Wasson at Puerto Cortez, reported an attack on San Pedro Sula, 25 miles inland from the port, was imminent.

Wasson said the Americans at San Pedro Sula had asked him to go there and attempt to arrange an agreement between government commanders and the rebel chieftains to respect a neutral zone around that town.

DAVIS HINTS HE WILL RUN AGAIN

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Senator James J. Davis left here today, leaving behind him a gesture of defiance at any who would unseat him next election.

Tantamount to announcing that he would be a candidate for re-election, he said:

"An incumbent is always a candidate unless he announces otherwise."

Davis arrived in the city last night and was given a tribute in the Legislature, asked to take the speaker's chair and talk to an assembly that rose to greet and applaud him. He said he was on his way to speak in Reading and Wilkes-Barre.

Davis, when asked about his change of residence from Pittsburgh to the East, inferred that he would have at least one eastern address. To a question about his planned Carlisle, Pa., home, not far from Harrisburg, he said:

"My wife will decide where the children will live during the summer."

Davis is said to plan opening an office in Philadelphia, but friends said he would not change his voting address from Pittsburgh. He did not visit the Governor.

Wife of Wealthy Mill Owner Jailed

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—Mrs. Laura B. Price, wife of Edwin Price, wealthy woodenware manufacturer, has been in jail since Saturday, it was learned last night. She is under six months' sentence on a charge of conspiracy to have her jewelry and furs stolen to collect $17,745 insurance.

Brother Seeks Man Missing Since 1865

Search was started today for William Jones, who disappeared from his home in Saw Mill Run April 7, 1865. He would be, if living, 74 years old.

The search was instituted by his brother, John H. Jones, of Cinebar, Wash., a former state senator in the first Legislature of that state.

D.A.R. President's Speech Scored as Reactionary

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—A protest "against the spirit of reaction" she attributed to the keynote speech of Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was made today by Lucie Trent, who described herself as a descendant of the first governor of Virginia.

In a message made public, which Mrs. Hobart said she had not received and, if she did, probably would not bring before the congress, Miss Trent complained against the speech Mrs. Hobart made yesterday in opening the annual congress of the organization. The message said:

"Instead of assailing Communists, Socialists, athetists and others of minority beliefs, you should have reiterated the liberal principles of the founders of this government. The present leadership of your organization should get out and make way for progressives who have not forgotten what Jefferson, Paine and Franklin stood for.

"Otherwise a new society of descendants of the Revolutionists of 1776 should be formed, pledged to fight plutocracy, intolerance and bigotry."

The congress today had its first casualties of this session. Mrs. James Bliss Crankshaw, of Fort Wayne, Ind., one of the candidates for vice president general, tripped on a short flight of steps back stage in Constitution Hall and injured her arm and cut her face. She was taken to a hospital, as was Mrs. A. C. Hazard, of Altoona, Pa., who slipped on steps coming down from the balcony in the hall and cut her head.

Presbyterians Name 2nd Woman to Assembly

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP.)—Election of a second woman commissioner to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America, at Pittsburgh May 28 to June 3, was recorded today at the office of the General Assembly here.

She is Mrs. Helen L. Logsdon, of 1408 East Greenwood street, East San Gabriel, Cal., and will be among the commissioners representing the Presbytery of Los Angeles. The first woman recorded as elected was Mrs. B. J. Silliman, of Green River, Utah.

Not until May, 1930, were women eligible to serve as ruling elders in the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, when their election was made legal at the General Assembly in Cincinnati.

The General Assembly at Pittsburgh will experience the novelty of witnessing women voting for the first time in 143 years on a par with men in the annual national congress of the denomination. The General Assembly is the highest court in the Presbyterian Church.

Speed Uniontown Postoffice Plans

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Construction of Uniontown's proposed $265,000 postoffice building is expected to be under way by early fall. Plans for the building are now being drawn by the supervising architect's office of the Treasury. Representative Samuel A. Kendall has been advised. Completion of the plans within the near future with the letting of bids some time during the summer is contemplated, department officials said.

Ex-Wife Must Give Man Alimony, Rent

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—(AP.)—Superior Judge Guy Rush yesterday instructed Mrs. Hattie E. Shuler, 53, and wealthy, to pay $65 monthly alimony to Chester E. Shuler, 54, real estate broker, who testified he is penniless. Mrs. Shuler also must provide lodging in one of her apartment houses, rent free, for her ex-mate. They married in January, 1921, and separated in February, 1923.

School Bus Hero To See Hoover

DENVER, Col., April 21.—(AP.)—Bryan Untiedt, 13, hero of the Pleasant Hill school bus tragedy, will be in condition by Wednesday to start his trip East to visit President Hoover, his parents and the attending physician said.

The 15 youthful survivors of the blizzard which claimed the lives of five of their school companions and that of the school bus driver, returned home yesterday after a week's visit in Denver.

Gen. Butler Sought For Coast Police Job

SALEM, Ore., April 21.—(AP.)—Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, who once was borrowed by Philadelphia for a law enforcement drive, is in demand for another civilian job.

Gov. Julius L. Meier said last night he was negotiating with federal authorities to bring the Marine Corps officer to Oregon to organize a new state police department.

Today

starts eating her young ones, that's a sign of incorrect diet. Feed her cod liver, containing all the vitamines, plus iron, and she resumes her normal maternal duties.

A wonderful institution, started when a grandfather of the six Swift brothers in 1885 gave his son, their father, $25 and said:

"Start in business for yourself."

He bought a heifer, cut it up and started in the butcher business. That business begun by Gustavus Franklin Swift in the hands of his grandsons amounts now to 1,000 million dollars a year. They make a great deal less than 2 per cent on their turnover, but that's enough for six.

THIRD TO the University of Chicago, to hear about the new idea of education and see the youngest living president of a great university, Robert Maynard Hutchins.

He is 32 years old, graduated from Yale, taught in the Yale law school, became dean of the school, and now as head of the University of Chicago, encourages young men to go as fast as they can go but not more rapidly than they should go. You may graduate after two years or six years, no machine-made education. Education runs in the Hutchins family, as packing runs in the Swift family.

His father is president of Berea College in Kentucky, and a younger brother, 27 years old, is president of "Yale in China." Another brother is headmaster of an eastern preparatory school. Harold Swift, by the way, is chairman of the Chicago University board of trustees, and a graduate of the university.

THAT UNIVERSITY makes you realize how important to the human race are great accumulations of money gathered by individuals.

In 1892, John D. Rockefeller gave $600,000 to help start the University of Chicago. In 1910 he had given $35,000,000. He said that was enough. Chicago should do the rest. His foundation took the liberty of disagreeing with him and gave many more of his millions, including 10 millions to the work of Prof. Breasted, head of the Oriental department.

Among other things, Mr. Rockefeller, wise real estater, 25 years ago bought all one side of the Chicago Midway with a big park at either end. The buildings are going up on both sides of that midway.

PRESIDENT HUTCHINS teaches a freshman class in his own peculiarly intelligent way, beginning with Homer and ending with Freud, encourages the 14,000 young men and women to study winter and summer in his University, to think for themselves, decide for themselves, their decision including the kind of education that they want.

He encourages their intellectual appetites, does not stuff them.

It is a great university, a pity to print such inadequate reference to it. That will be improved later. Send your boys and girls there, if you want to make real AMERICANS out of them.

They will go to a university of earnest scientists, and able teachers, that have included all three American winners of Nobel prize for physics, Michelson, Compton and Millikan.

They will like the great Amos Alonzo Stagg, who graduated at Yale in 1888, and has been teaching athletics in the Chicago University for nearly 50 years. You might have seen him yesterday dashing around a corner, eight miles an hour, in his electric runabout, a wonderful man, physically as young as ever, and mentally younger than we.

International Bank Dividend Approved

BASLE, Switzerland, April 21.—(AP.)—Without mentioning the project of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, for a new financial organization to issue long-term loans, the board of directors of the Bank for International Settlements in regular monthly session yesterday cleared the way for a general meeting of the shareholders on May 19.

The directors approved the recommendation of President McGarrah, relating to the payment of a 6 per cent dividend.

Neilan Under Bond In Non-Support Case

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—(AP.)—Marshall Neilan, motion picture director, surrendered to Superior Judge Dudley Valentine in Domestic Relations Court on a bench warrant, and was released on $500 bond.

The warrant was issued last week when Neilan failed to appear and show cause why he was $9,500 in arrears in $50 weekly payments for the support of his son, Marshall Neilan, Jr., by his first marriage.

IN the District Court of the United States for Western District of Pennsylvania. In the matter of American Marble Company, Bankrupt, No. 16258 in bankruptcy.

ORDER OF COURT.

And now, to-wit, April 20th, 1931, the foregoing petition having been presented in open court, upon due consideration thereof and on motion of counsel for petitioner, it is ordered that a meeting of the creditors of the American Marble Company, bankrupt within named, be called and held at the office of Watson B. Adair, Esq., referee in bankruptcy in and for Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, on the 4th day of May, 1931, at 1 p. m. (eastern standard time), for the examination of the officers of the bankrupt company, for the preservation and conduct of its estate and for the consideration of terms of composition at which meeting the said referee shall preside. The said referee shall report to this court within four days after said meeting the claims of creditors allowed by him, the action of said creditors upon the offer of composition, his findings and conclusions upon the same, and any other proceeding had before him in said matter, and shall give notice to the creditors at said meeting that the terms of composition, if accepted by the requisite number of creditors, will be presented to the court for final confirmation on the 9th day of May, 1931, at 9 a. m. (eastern standard time).

It is further directed that notice of this order shall be given by the clerk mailing a copy of the same to each of said creditors and by publishing a copy thereof in the Sun-Telegraph and in the Pittsburgh Legal Journal, as provided by law.

TRAIN WRECKS STALLED AUTO

Hurled into the air when his machine was struck by a Pittsburgh and Lake Erie freight train at the Seventh street crossing, Glassport, this morning, John Vanyo, 38, of 1035 Lysle avenue, McKeesport, is in the McKeesport Hospital suffering contusions of the leg.

According to the Glassport police, Vanyo's car stalled on the westbound tracks. The machine was thrown 30 feet from the crossing, wrecked to the extent of $500, police said.

Chance for Negro Job Hunters Asked

A plea to give Negro workers an equal chance for employment has been made to employers by H. A. Lett, industrial secretary of the Urban League of Pittsburgh. The league is observing "Vocational Opportunity Week for Negroes." Lett pointed out that while only 8 per cent of the Pittsburgh district population is Negro, 38 per cent of the unemployed are of that race.

GIRL BETRAYS DEATH SUSPECT

Arrested by Avalon police after a former sweetheart revealed his whereabouts Clay Sims 28 reputed leader of a West Virginia bandit gang, was held today by authorities of that state along with three other suspects in the slaying of Johan Conrad 81 at Marietta, O., several months ago.

Conrad was slain during a robbery in which his life savings of $20,000 were taken. Sims arrested in Avalon is held in the county jail at Middlebourne, W. Va. according to Marietta authorities. Two others Waldo Tippins, 25, arrested in Paden City, W. Va. and Willie Stewart 21 are in jail at Marietta, O. A fourth suspect, Raymond Slider of Paden City, was said to be held in Sistersville, W. Va.

Officers said the four operated from Paden City at the time of the slaying, but later made their headquarters at Mogador, Summit County, O., and Kent, O. later visiting Avalon and Sewickley.

Dark Room Death Mystery Stirs Small Town

SUTTON'S BAY, Mich. April 21.—(INS.)—A death mystery today caused this little Michigan town to seethe with excitement.

Andy Bellmore, 16, was shot and killed in the darkened living room of his father's farmhouse. Five persons were present. The death gun cannot be found, the bullet is missing and a motive cannot be discovered.

Those present declared the youth committed suicide. Police said he was murdered and promised an arrest soon.

Man Found Dead In Highland Park

The body of Joseph Watters, 51, who once lived at Lincoln and Frankstown avenues, was found in a hollow in Highland Park, near Washington boulevard late yesterday. An autopsy at the county morgue revealed acute alcoholism as the cause. Morgue attaches said Watters had been dead for several days.

SOKOL DENIED NEW RUM TRIAL

The United States Supreme Court refused to act on the appeal of Jacob Sokol, of Pittsburgh, from his conviction in the Federal District Court on a charge of conspiring to violate the prohibition law in May, 1928, by dismissing his writ for a review. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Philadelphia, had affirmed his conviction and sentence of six months to jail by the District Court, imposed by Judge R. M. Gibson.

With two other defendants he had been found guilty in the District Court of conspiring to violate the Volstead act for a period between 1926 and 1928. The Circuit Court reversed the conviction of Isaac Stein, one of the defendants.

Fur Storage May Mean Many Things

It may mean storage, with other luckless furs, in a loft as hot as any attic, with no other protection than fumigation designed to ward off moths; it may mean storage in the spare room at an ice plant, with the dampness attendant thereto; or it may mean brine pipe refrigeration with its incident fumes and moisture.

At Horne's, it means Dry Cold Air—the most advanced type of storage—in an ultra-modern plant, less than three years old, located in our new Service Building directly across the river from the store, with every latest device for the safeguarding and scientific care of your furs.

With standard rates prevailing for fur storage, everybody should insist upon the latest and best form of storage.

Our vaults are open to public inspection. Furs may be left at the Service Building, North Side; at the store, or our trucks will call at your home for them. Telephone COurt 3000.

Winter overcoats, Oriental rugs, tapestries, and other articles are also accepted for storage at nominal rates.

Finer Wear-Weave Coats

Now $39.50

Coats which would usually rank as luxuries, because of their uncommonly smart fabrics and fine furs. . . . This is just one of those rare opportunities, and wise women who intend to travel this summer are taking advantage of it.

They are coats of the famous F & H service weaves, other fine domestic and imported tweeds, all of medium weight. The kind that can register such spirited colorings as orange, gold, and the brighter blues without appearing gaudy, and which are unutterably smart in black-and-white, navy-and-white, brown-and-white, and soft gray and tan tones.

Tomorrow—Sale of 7800

Men's Shirts and Shorts

45c Each

Generously cut, splendidly made—Horne-type merchandise all the way through—with the Horne label in each garment. And at a price that's sensationally low for garments of this quality!

The Shirts are Swiss-rib cottons, mercerized—light-weight and cool—a quality that will stand endless tubbings.

The Shorts are broadcloths and madrases, in plain colors, neat stripes, or bold, mannish stripes that will assert the wearer's color-liking in no uncertain terms. All materials are finely woven—and color-fast. In two styles—with side ties or with elastic insert in the waistband.

In the Spring Sale of Oriental Rugs

3x5-ft. Sarouks } $58

These are gloriously silky, richly colored rugs, of an exceptionally fine weave; and there is a good selection of beautiful and interesting designs in this group. Here indeed is an unusual value in fine rugs at a new low price.

9x12-ft. and Larger Indo-Sarouk Rugs

A wonderful lot of fine pieces—all individually chosen for beauty of design and color harmony. They are luxuriously thick and silky, with a ¾-inch deep pile in many instances. Woven from the finer grades of all-wool yarn, they are heavier than the ordinary Persian rug and wear splendidly. Blue and rose tones predominate, with other colors beautifully blended.

Size 9x12 ft.	$278
Sizes 9.10x14.6 ft. to 10x13.10 ft.	$395
Sizes 12x16 ft. to 11.3x19.3 ft. and 12x20.8 ft.	$595

Semi-Antique Mats, $3.95

A large group of beautiful small Orientals, semi-antiques, and pre-war Kilim mats, about 2.3x3.6-ft. size; lovely mellow colors, and soft, silky sheen.

STEELCRAFT!

With Two Pairs of Trousers

Walter Winchell recently stated that the lining of a coat in a two-trouser suit usually wears out before the second pair of trousers is used at all. "On Broadway," perhaps, but not at Penn and Stanwix!

The lining of a Steelcraft is celanese, a durable material with the lustre and smoothness of silk, that will wear as long as both trousers—and that's saying a lot!

Free Wheeling
SALON
Hotel Schenley Ballroom
April 20 to 25
Inclusive
Latest Models—Pierce-Arrow, Lincoln, Studebaker, Hupmobile.
You Are Invited. Open 10 a.m. to 11 p.m.

$10,000.00 in cash prizes

FREE Wheeling has captured the interest and enthusiasm of America. At a single stroke, this epochal achievement has given new thrills, new safety to motoring. It is the only really new development in automobile engineering in twenty years.

No advertisement could even begin to give you an adequate description of Free Wheeling. But you'll find it easy to write a Free Wheeling slogan once you have actually driven a Free Wheeling car.

Here is your chance to win one of 1072 cash prizes—merely for writing us your impressions of Free Wheeling, what it is and does.

PIERCE-ARROW LINCOLN STUDEBAKER HUPMOBILE

alone offer you Free Wheeling with positive gear control

EVERY time you take your foot off the throttle in a conventional car your motor fights your car. Your motor should pull the car, and not be pushed by it.

You'll find, when you go Free Wheeling, that your car glides smoothly ahead on its accumulated speed without engine drag—the instant you lift your foot from the throttle.

Momentum propels you, but your car is always in gear and under complete control. That is why Free Wheeling Pierce-Arrows, Lincolns, Studebakers and Hupmobiles consume 15% to 20% less gasoline and oil. They travel 10,000 speedometer miles for 8,000 engine miles.

And because of Free Wheeling, chassis wear is cut down—repair costs are reduced.

You drive in the conventional way. But Free Wheeling with positive gear control gives you silent gear shifting at all speeds—freedom from clutch-pushing—proved gasoline and oil saving—incomparably restful, zestful motoring—and the added safety attested by public traffic officials from coast to coast.

This advertisement is more than an announcement of a $10,000.00 Slogan Contest.

To thousands who may not care to contend for these cash prizes, it is an invitation to discover the new thrills that motoring now holds, thanks to Free Wheeling.

No hearsay description of Free Wheeling should satisfy you even if you are only thinking about a new car. Free Wheeling owns the future.

Think ahead before you buy. Ask yourself: How new is any "new car" without Free Wheeling? How much will it re-sell for a year or two from now?

We know you will like Free Wheeling, but don't take our word for it—go today to a Pierce-Arrow, Studebaker or Hupmobile dealer and find out for yourself.

Rules of the Contest

Go to any Pierce-Arrow, Studebaker or Hupmobile dealer. These dealers will give you the official contest entry card and arrange an appointment for you to go Free Wheeling. Lincoln dealers are not participating in this contest.

A phrase or slogan of 5 to 25 words may win you as high as $1,000.00 in cash. Send in as many slogans as you wish; there is no limit. It is not necessary to have had a ride in a Free Wheeler in order to compete.

Anybody over 18 is eligible to compete except employees of Free Wheeling Patents Corporation or of Pierce-Arrow, Lincoln, Studebaker or Hupmobile organizations.

In case of a tie for any prize, each tying contestant will receive that prize in full.

the bureau of engineering, at yesterday's session of the public quiz. He said Reed's testimony leaves room for doubt whether the contractor removed the full amount of spoil from the Boulevard of the Allies improvement for which the city paid.

Colvin indicated that he plans to study city records in the year in which the largest increases in final estimates were made and then check them with the O'Herron records for the same year.

President John S. Herron, of City Council, has asked Assistant City Solicitor Thomas Benner for an opinion on the legal power of City Council to subpena the O'Herron records. This study was begun yesterday following receipt of a letter from the district attorney demanding that Council subpena the records for examination, following disclosures during the councilmanic investigation.

CONFERS WITH LANG

Attorney Colvin conferred with Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, today, relative to the proposed audit of the O'Herron company books. Colvin said:

"Director Lang is co-operating and if there has been any fraud he is as anxious to uncover it as we are. When anyone burns his books, that is a serious matter."

The investigation in the Department of Public Works has been adjourned until Thursday at 10 a. m. At that time the department expects to complete its tabulation of more than 700 jobs, showing the ways in which money was saved for the city.

Attorney Colvin said that the comparison of samples of food stuffs obtained at Mayview and the L. H. Parke Company, at Philadelphia, with merchandise obtained from other wholesalers would probably not be made today. Colvin said that other pressing matters in connection with the dual investigations were engaging his attention now.

3 Children Saved As Home Burns

SHARON, Pa., April 21.—Three children were carried from their beds by their parents when fire broke out in the home of George Whitmore, Brookfield, O., Township. The house was destroyed at a loss of $10,000. The fire was the third serious one in that section within five weeks. Lack of water hampered Sharon firemen who were called.

Carnegie Church To Present Play

Young people of St. Luke's Catholic Church, Carnegie, will present "For Sentimental Reasons," in the auditorium of the Catholic Central High School, Fifth avenue, Thursday night. The performance will be for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital building fund.

MISS FRENCH WEDS LORD

LONDON, April 21.—(AP.)—Miss Valerie French, granddaughter of Field Marshal the Earl of Ypres, was married today at St. Margaret's Church in Westminster to the young Lord Brougham and Vaux.

She wore a white satin gown heavily embroidered with pearls, a tulle veil embroidered with seed pearls, a pearl juliet cap and a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of lilies. Eleven bridesmaids wore frocks of white tucked chiffon and hats of fine white straw.

The Archbishop of Canterbury issued a special license for this wedding. Both Miss French and the bridegroom are 21. Lord Brougham and Vaux inherited nearly a million dollars.

Miss French visited the United States in the summer of 1929 when Henry Bradley Martin, then her fiance, was injured in an automobile accident in Colorado. Their engagement later was canceled.

Ingersoll, Retired U. S. Admiral, Dies

LA PORTE, Ind., April 21.—(AP.)—Rear Admiral Royal Rodney Ingersoll, U. S. N., retired, died today at his home here after a brief illness caused by uraemic poisoning. He was 83.

Rear Admiral Ingersoll had served in the Navy during the Civil War, the Spanish—American War and the World War.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

AMISH BENEFIT BY BUS LINE

The Amish, a religious sect which until five years ago practiced all members who used either a telephone or an automobile were named as the principal beneficiaries of a bus line in Lawrence County which asked approval of its charter before the Public Service Commission today.

Counsel for William W. Smeal, of New Castle, the line's operator, told the commission examiner that the buses were the only means Amish farmers of Enon Valley and Bessemer have of getting their produce to market in New Castle. Witnesses from Enon Valley testified that the younger Amish are riding the buses, despite the disapproval of their elders.

Smeal purchased the bus line from John Quinn several months ago and his petition today was a request that his right to operate be approved.

OBITUARY

Nixon Funeral

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for Dr. Plummer O. Nixon, 42, a dentist of Salina, Pa., who died Sunday in the Eye and Ear Hospital. Why lift 12,000 needless pounds a week?

You do it every ironing day—when you do an average ironing with a six pound hand iron. And your arm travels 6½ miles! No wonder ironing wears you out.

But what a difference an electric ironing machine would make! No more backaches—no more lifting—no more endless pushing of a hand iron over acres of flat work. It would take you only two hours to do an eight hour ironing. And you'd sit in a comfortable chair while you did it.

We'll help you get that electric ironer. It's not much of a job—and it's a lot of fun. Just open a savings account with Farmers Deposit National Bank—deposit a few dollars every week—and when we add our interest—every six months at 4% per annum—you'll have enough money to buy your ironer in no time. WELL MYSTERY DEATH PROBED

BUCYRUS, O., April 21.—(AP.)—Investigation of the death of Miss Lucille Drew, 24, whose body was found in the bottom of an abandoned well, was proceeding today with Sheriff C. Fred Vollmer workink on a theory that she had been slain.

The body was dragged from the water of a well on the property of Frank Bair, a neighbor, by deputy sheriffs after a search started Saturday noon when she disappeared.

Only a slight amount of water had entered the girl's lungs, the sheriff said. He added that officials had been unable to find any marks upon the body to indicate that she had been assaulted.

Sheriff Vollmer said he and Coroner J. E. Mannhardt had ordered an examination in an attempt to determine if the girl had been given poison before being placed in the wall.

City Offers Attractions For Hospitality Days

A partial list of the many features which Pittsburgh has arranged for the entertainment of out-of-town visitors on Hospitality Days, Friday and Saturday, follows:

CUT RATES IN TRANSPORTATION

Reduction in rates to and from Pittsburgh beyond the 25-cent zones will be made by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, Harmony Short Line and the Blue Ridge Bus Company, and all-day passes on street car lines will be sold at 25 cents in first zones, and 40 cents in second.

BARGAINS IN SHOPPING

Department stores, men's and women's establishments will offer special inducements to visitors.

AMUSEMENTS

Special offerings will be made by theaters as follows:

Nixon—"What's Up," musical comedy by Pitt Cap and Gown Club.

Pitt—"Death Takes a Holiday," by George Sharp Players.

Penn—"Front Page," Ben Hecht's newspaper play, and Wesley Eddy in "Novelties."

Stanley—Peter Higgins, Pittsburgh's own guest, and Richard Barthelmess in "The Finger Points."

FOR THE SPORT LOVERS

Boxing—Jimmy Thomas, of Pittsburgh, vs. Willie Davies, of Charleroi, flyweights, Moose Temple Friday night.

Volleyball—Eighth annual Pennsylvania Y. M. C. A. championship, Downtown Y. M. C. A., Friday night.

Swimming—Exhibition in Pittsburgh Natatorium pool, Friday and Saturday mornings.

CONVENTIONS AND MEETINGS

Convention of Young People's Christian Union of the Allegheny Presbytery in Sixth United Presbyterian Church, Chateau and North Franklin streets, Saturday and Sunday.

Open Forum on stream pollution by Civic Club of Allegheny County, William Penn Hotel, 3:30 p. m. Saturday.

OPEN HOUSE

Radio stations—Through arrangements made by the Sun-Telegraph visitors may obtain by mail or by calling at the Sun-Telegraph offices cards for admission to radio stations KDKA, WCAE, WJAS and KQV.

Civic Club of Allegheny County—Clubrooms in William Penn Hotel open to visitors each day.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS

2 BOARD AUTO, ROB DRIVER

Two bandits leaped onto the running board of an automobile driven by Anthony Onastico, of 116 South Eighteenth street, in the 3500 block, Fifth avenue, and forced him to drive to Schenley Heights where they robbed him of $2 and the automobile last night. Onastico notified police at Oakland Station.

Clothing and jewelry valued at $4,000 stolen from the home of Mrs. W. D. Johnson, at 6349 Jackson street, according to Lieuts. Albert Good and Frank Shine, who investigated the robbery last night. The entire house was ransacked by the burglars who gained entrance by forcing a rear cellar door.

N. Y. Heiress Elopes With Movie Veteran

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 21.—(AP.)—Elopement of Armand Kaliz, veteran stage and screen actor, and Madeline Hatch Weiner, formerly of New York, to Mexico Sunday, has been revealed by the couple. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. M. A. Hatch Weiner, wealthy New York widow.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

"QUICK—THE DOCTOR!"

PLANE FORCED DOWN, MAN SAFE

Forced down on a hilltop near Clairton when his plane ran out of gas, Landis R. Byler, sales manager for the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, escaped injury last night.

Byler, a licensed transport flier, was returning to Pittsburgh from the National Aircraft Show at Detroit. Damage to the plane was slight.

way that the response will be greater than had been expected by those sponsoring it.

CHANCE TO MEET STARS

Through arrangements made by the Sun-Telegraph, visitors will have an opportunity to observe artists in action and to meet screen and stage stars. With the use of special courtesy cards, issued by the Sun-Telegraph, visitors will be able to visit radio stations KDKA, WCAE, WJAS and KQV. Cards will be issued from the Downtown office of the Sun-Telegraph at Fifth avenue and Market street, or by writing to the radio editor.

Additional stores and other business houses are falling into line with the movement. Special values will be offered by stores to the visitors, the best of amusement provided, and rates cut on bus and trolley lines which will enable visitors to reach the city and return to their homes at a greatly reduced transportation cost.

CIVIC CLUB TALKS

Ten-minute addresses on bills relating to stream pollution now in the Legislature will feature a forum of the Civic Club of Allegheny County Friday at 3:30 p. m. Stream pollution has been chosen for this time as a subject which visitors to Pittsburgh will want to include in their program. Considerable sentiment is evident on the question of permitting local communities to take legal action against polluters of waterways, this power now being placed entirely within the control of the commonwealth.

RATE REDUCTIONS

One thing of interest to those reaching the city by automobile is the reduction of parking rates offered by garages in the center of the city. Hotels will reduce rates, couples being accomodated at the rate of one person.

Sightseeing trips will be made to parks, art centers, schools, the manufacturing districts, and historical points. Views of the city will be provided from Mt. Washington and the top of the 37-story Grant Building, one of the largest structures in the city.

DOCTORS APPROVE TASTY FOODS

Often Recommend the Use of Sugar to Flavor Essential Foods

Doctors realize that essential foods composing the balanced diet are more eagerly eaten when they are made tasty by thoughtful cooking and seasoning.

As a matter of fact, doctors often suggest the use of sugar in seasoning vegetables such as spinach, peas and tomatoes. They are also in favor of sprinkling sugar on cereals or adding it to fruits that are too tart or lacking in flavor.

In vegetable cookery, a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a popular rule. Some cooks mix equal parts of salt and sugar together and keep it within reach. This combination can also be used to season meat stews or pot-roasts—also vegetable soups.

These suggestions regarding sugar apply to children's diet as well as adults'. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

GUARD ESTATES HERE FROM FIRE

With the forest fire situation in the state termed as "most critical," guard was maintained by firemen early today about the summer home of County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and the girls' farm of the Young People's Association from advancing brush fires in Moon Township. The Oak Grove trestle of the Pittsburgh Railways Company over Saw Mill Run boulevard, weakened when a brush fire ignited supporting timbers late yesterday, was being repaired by workmen.

Nearly 500 acres were burned over by the Moon Township fire yesterday and early today, despite efforts of State Fire Warden Edward Costello and volunteer firemen from Glenfield, Glen Willard, Fair Oaks and Coraopolis. Woods on the estate of Maj. Robert M. Ewing, the McGovern farm and the O. E. Roebling farm were devastated by the flames. Tractors were used to plow up several fields as barriers against advancing fires.

Service on the Washington and Charleroi lines was held up by the trestle fire, while railway buses were used to transport passengers around the danger point. Rails were twisted and timber supports weakened by the fire.

Terming the state forest fire situation "most critical," Secretary Lewis E. Staley, of the Bureau of Forests and Waters, last night issued a general warning, and declared a request to Gov. Pinchot to issue a proclamation prohibiting the use of fire in woods of the state would be issued.

FREE WHEELING DEMONSTRATED

An automobile speeding at 60 miles an hour was stopped within approximately 18 feet during a demonstration at the racing oval in Schenley Park. The automobile—the White Ghost—which has been cutting capers throughout the Pittsburgh district, is equipped with "free-wheeling" mechanism.

Ben R. Marshall, assistant superintendent of police, is authority for the ease in which the automobile can be stopped. With Fire Chief Richard L. Smith, Marshall was given a demonstration of the safety features of the new motoring development.

Marshall indorsed the safety factors of the new device. He said:

"Due to the quick pick-up and the ease in which the car may be stopped, automobiles equipped with free-wheeling can avoid numerous accidents to pedestrians and vehicular traffic. I was particularly impressed with the ease in which the machine can be stopped. It should reduce accidents to children running in front of automobiles to a minimum."

Springdale Siren Blown First Time

Just as soon as the new $165 fire whistle was installed in Springdale Borough yesterday afternoon, it was blown for a brush fire in the Orrville district of the borough.

How Weak, Frail, Thin People Gain Needed Weight and Strength

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets Increase Your Weight 5 Pounds in 30 Days or Your Druggist is Authorized to Return Your Money.

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamine food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Thin, rundown, anemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for it.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets. Any druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only 60 cents for 60 tablets — and don't forget that they are wonder workers for feeble old folks.

Get McCoy's, the original and genuine, and beware of imitations.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Society Sees Cap, Gown Premiere

Never has the University of Pittsburgh Cap and Gown Club had a gayer, more brilliantly costumed audience than last night, when it presented its 1931 musical comedy for the first time, "What's Up." The Allegheny County Civic Club sponsored the premiere.

The boxes and the entire first floor were filled with many socially prominent families represented. Among those entertaining box parties were the junior William Larimer Mellons, who occupied the box taken by Mr. Mellon's mother. The young Mrs. Mellon wore a vivid gown of rhododendron red crepe, fashioned with a sweeping bertha of the same material and moulded to the figure. Betty McKay, one of their guests, wore a baygreen satin gown with a peplum effect in front, and Mary Mellon McClung chose an exquisite gown of be-ruffled white chiffon, figured in rose.

Gay Box Parties

Eugenia Nash was there with Peggy Berger, gowned in green satin and brocade. Elizabeth Jenkins chose a brown chiffon gown with a white chiffon and satin bodice and a seafoam green velvet jacket. Her mother, Mrs. T. Clifton Jenkins, was in beige lace with a long cape of ermine.

Arriving with Mrs. William Zang, in blue, and her daughter, Neil, in black satin, were Georgia Pearson and Mary Brouder.

Miss Marie Dermitt looked regal in a fitted gown of garnet red velvet, and Mrs. George Pomeroy Bassett chose flowered crepe.

Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, in black velvet and white lapin, arrived with her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Payton, in black, and Mrs. John MacGregor, who wore a shell pink velvet wrap.

The chairman of boxes for the evening, Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., wore a black costume with a wrap of black and gold. Mrs. George Singer Ebbert was in black lace and Mrs. Herbert A. May in purple crepe.

Smart Gowns

Mrs. A. R. Martin, of Greensburg, was in rose and gold. I also saw Mrs. Frank Wheeler arriving with Mrs. Harry Deuel and Miss Ainslee Bennett. Louise Bickford chose a gown of black lace.

The general chairman of the premiere, Mrs. H. Allen Machesney, chose stargold satin and rhinestones, and her charming daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. Allen Machesney, Jr., was in black lace.

Others I noticed were Mrs. Francis Sellers Guthrie, who occupied a box; Mrs. George S. Baton, Mrs. A. H. Burchfield and Kathleen Guthrie in roserust crepe.

Harriet Wainwright chose a frock of pale blue chiffon, and Mrs. Louis R. Schmertz, Jr., wore a deep purple velvet wrap, and Mary Black chose printed chiffon. Mrs. Elizabeth Adams Pickering arrived with her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Blair.

Last night at 7:30 o'clock in the Sixth United Presbyterian Church was the scene of the wedding of Elizabeth Goehring, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry M. Goehring, of Schenley Farms, and William Manchester Green, son of the Albert Edwin Greens, of Detroit. The Rev. Dr. A. R. Robinson was the officiant. The church was decked with ferns and pink rambler roses and pink hydrangeas, lighted by cathedral candles in Italian candelabra.

Attend Bride

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin and rosepoint lace, having a cowl neckline and long, close-fitting sleeves. Her veil of tulle, finished with a cap of tulle having a band under the chin, fell in soft folds over the court train of her gown. She carried a sheaf of calla lillies.

Young green leaf crepe made with a tight bodice and ruffled fitted hipline and full skirt formed the gown of the matron of honor, Mrs. John S. Ridinger, and opaline yellow crepe fashioned the gowns of the bridesmaids, who included Mrs. Richard P. Snyder, of Pittsburgh; Virginia Dryden, of Grosse Point, Mich.; Hannah B. Huyette, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., and Juliet Nekervis, of Merchantville, N. J.

They all carried dresden bouquets of delphinium, snapdragons, roses and sweet peas and wore shoulder length eggshell gloves. Mrs. Goehring wore lanterngloo yellow lace fashioned with a cape, and the bridegroom's mother chose seafoam green lace for her gown. Both wore shoulder sprays of orchids.

Evening Ceremony

Serving his brother as best man was Richard A. Green, of Detroit, and the ushers included Bedford B. Hamilton, Edmond A. Allen and John S. Lemke, all of Detroit, and John S. Ridinger, of Pittsburgh.

There was a reception for 200 guests in the Pittsburgh Country Club later. The ballroom, where the guests were received, was banked with pink rambler roses and hydrangeas, palms and ferns. The bridal table, laid for 30 guests, was decked with pastel spring flowers and matching tapers.

The Greens will be at home June 1 in Detroit after an eastern wedding trip.

And now another betrothal is made known, creating another furore of excitement in news of spring romances.

Announce Betrothal

The William A. Atkinses, of Indianapolis, Ind., have made known the betrothal of their daughter, Eunice Parish DuPuy and Henry Newell Beers, son of the Lucius Hart Beerses, of East Sixty-second street, New York. Eunice is the daughter of the late Col. Charles M. DuPuy, of Pittsburgh, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, of Morewood avenue, and the late Mr. DuPuy. She is the guest of her grandmother at present. She attended Miss Porter's School, Farmington, Conn., and made her bow three years ago. Of course, she is a Junior Leaguer.

Her fiance attended the Taft School and is a graduate of Princeton, class of 1927. He is a member of the Princeton Club of New York, and of Squadron A. He is associated with the Suffolk Airways, Inc., at present. No wedding date has been named.

Mrs. Florence W. Fairman is the new president of the Dickens Fellowship. She was elected at the dinner meeting in the Fort Pitt Hotel, as were these other officers: Vice president, L. C. Edgar; secretary, Mrs. J. G. Hays; treasurer, C. D. Clarey, and one director, Mrs. D. G. Fowler. Mrs. Hays was chosen as delegate to the North American conference to be held in Montreal in June, and plans for the Tiny Tim picnic on June 12 in Highland Park were made.

The dinner was marked by especially lovely decorations arranged by Mrs. Harry Dixon and her committee. The program consisted of a talk by Miss Eddith Bane on her trip around the world, which she illustrated with beautifully colored slides made from her own pictures.

WIDER 5TH. AVE. PLAN FOUGHT

Widening of Fifth avenue, between Robinson and Clyde streets, to a six-car traffic lane, would prove a menace to pedestrians at intersections, M. A. Graham Mitchell, of 4721 Fifth avenue, declared in a communication to City Council.

A public hearing on the tentative plan was suggested in the letter.

Cost of the proposed improvement would be entirely out of proportion to the benefits that might accrue, he declared.

The widening is proposed in a survey made by the City Planning Commission and presented to Council.

Pittsburgh Girls On Southern Cruise

NEW YORK, April 21.—Among a large list of voyagers sailing last evening in the Anchor liner California, for a cruise in the Gulf Stream, were a number of Pittsburghers. They were the Misses J. Estelle South, of 115 Meriden street; Helen Yagel, of 222 McKinley avenue; Anne Eagen, Agnes O'Rourke, Mary McDewitt, Katherine Quinn, Mary McHenry, Anna M. Campbell, Bernadette Stevens and Frances Counley.

In the course of their six-and-a-half-day cruise, one day will be passed in Bermuda.

Notre Dame Building Fund Given $300,000

CHICAGO, April 21.—(INS.)—Plans for a new engineering building at Notre Dame University were being pushed today following the gift of $300,000 for that purpose announced at the Universal Notre Dame night at the Drake Hotel last night.

John F. Cushing, a member of the class of 1906, was the donor. A dozen tributes were paid to the memory of Knute Rockne. Wires came from all parts of the country praising his life.

Wilkinsburg Women View Antiques

The Wilkinsburg Woman's Club brought its program season to a close yesterday with one of the most interesting afternoons of the year. There were three distinctly worth while talks under the leadership of Mrs. W. C. Anderson, who always brings originality to whatever she does. One paper was by Miss Martha Black on old Beulah Church, mother of many other churches, including the East Liberty Presbyterian. Miss Black's greatgrandfather, James Graham, was the first regular pastor of Beulah, which celebrated its centennial in 1884.

Mrs. Howard S. Jackson recalled old Wilkinsburg days in her paper, which was written in the form of a fireside reverie and partly in verse. She harked back to the days when the village nestled at the foot of the hill and was entered by a toll gate. Mrs. Jackson's family moved to Wilkinsburg in 1885 to a place that had been sold by a Pittsburgh businessman, who considered the distance too great to be traveled each day. Mrs. Jackson reminisced delightfully of the first gas lights, the first telephone, which had been tried out at a bazar, of the first auto and of many well-known characters of old Wilkinsburg.

In her charming and informative talk on "Local Historical Landmarks," Mrs. A. S. Hunter began at the Point and traveled east along Penn avenue to Wilkinsburg. She, too, brought recollections of Wilkinsburg's past celebrities.

During the tea hour the capacity audience viewed the exceptionally fine display of heirlooms, which the members had loaned. Mrs. Henry Chalfant Miller exhibited a sampler which had been done in 1817 by Isabella C. Weakley, for whom the Isabella furnaces were named. Mrs. Howard K. Jones had a full-length lace cape which had belonged to her mother, Mrs. O. G. Leichliter, another past president, had a collection including books, china, pictures, tiny dolls and even a deed to land written in 1808. A picture of five generations was included in Mrs. W. C. Hawley's collection and in it was also the autograph album of her grandmother, Susan Brownell Hitchcock, who left Hamilton, N. Y., in 1836 to go with a colony and found Knox College in Galesburg, Ill.

LATEST CREATIONS IN SPRING MILLINERY ARE FLATTERING

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, April 21.—We are being framed this season, but nobody seems to care. Why should they, when the framing is caused by the delightful hats with graceful brims that bring new enchantment to the features and are softly becoming to even the severest countenance. It most certainly is a matter for rejoicing that we have decided to let our hats do something else besides being merely smart. A hat should be becoming, even flattering, and unless it is, it has failed in its purpose. A beautiful and becoming hat can make the simplest costume, but the most elaborate outfit is flat unless it is topped off by a perfect hat. It is to be hoped that the habit of dashing into a shop and grabbing the first tight little felt skull cap, glorified with the name of hat, has gone forever. It must have been a phase of sartorial insanity, and this becomes apparent when one compares the hats of a few years ago with the models current this year of grace.

THE BEAUTY expressed in this season's crop of millinery is well expressed by the two models sketched here. The first is a Patou creation of black celophane woven in an uneven, basket effect and turned back off the forehead. The sides and back of the brim are edged with crisp white pique and there is a knot of pique at the lower edge of the crown in back. A deep fold softens the right side of the brim just behind the ear.

TALLIENT MAKES the other model and it is of fine, transparent horsehair. The soft wide brim has a scalloped border rolled tightly up in front. The ribbon trimming is of black velvet. A single end at one side and two at the other nestle in the deep folds of the most becoming brim.

Record Breakers Are Back

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

The season of record breaking is back again. The sun is shining, the buds are popping and the birds are twittering.

And when the birds twitter that's our music cue.

First of all the flagpole squatters will march past some important buildings and then go aloft for the summer. This has become an illustrious American custom. The population of America is now about three inhabitants to a roof.

Then the tree sitters will select their poison oaks and proceed to pound out new statistics for the record books.

You ain't much of a tree percher until you have been off terra firma for about six months. The height of a woods native's ambish is to live in a weeping willow so long that a nearsighted owl lays an egg in his lap.

Having achieved this fame, you can spend the rest of your life autographing other people's checks.

The marathon dancers are tuning up their orchestras and will soon be crawling to the sound of the throbbing cymbals. It's a great sport. But, like smacking yourself on the head with a bag of eggs, there is no future in it.

Flying the Atlantic, swimming the English Channel or brushing a new aviation ceiling mean nothing compared with raising a family in an oak tree and teaching 'em to like acorns.

Rolling a peanut up Pike's Peak was great sustained publicity until the newspapers got tired of running pictures of so many rollers.

It's got so now that if you roll a goober up a mountainside with your beezer the news reel boys take a photograph of the peanut.

The rocking chair champions did very well last year due to the low price of wheat and corn. They lasted through June, July and August and then went in for hammock swinging during the harvest weeks.

Most of this record smashing epidemic was due to Ripley's cartoons. One of his believe-it-or-nots showed a man who had lived in a telephone booth for 19 years and never got an answer.

That made everybody ambitious to add the world's sum total of knowledge and science by perpetrating some noble deed that would sparkle like the rhinestone in the end of a comedian's putty nose. But it has become complicated and dangerous because Grandma is going to break all records by living down the well, uncle is on the chimney and grandpop has taken up bachelor quarters on the lightning rod.

Real Estate

Two downtown architects, Carlton Strong and Alfred D. Reid, have been commissioned to prepare sketches for a proposed office building to be erected at Fifth and Oakland avenues by the estate of John C. Reilly.

PLAN 10 STORIES

The building, according to tentative plans, will be from 8 to 10 stories high with store rooms on the first floor fronting on Fifth avenue. Oakland avenue and Bouquet street. Upper floors will be devoted to modern offices. Parking facilities for tenants are also being planned. The building is to be designed in keeping with the many new buildings being erected in that district.

Students enrolled in the construction departments of Carnegie Institute of Technology will be entertained Thursday by members of the Pittsburgh Building Exchange at a luncheon in the Red Room of the Keystone Athletic Club. William Dambach, chairman of Tech Schools Committee, will preside.

SELL BRICK HOUSE

A six-room brick home in Dixon avenue, Mt. Lebanon, has been sold by Theodore D. Angelico to T. E. Shortell through the office of John A. Brownlee, Dormont and Mt. Lebanon realtor. The lot is 50x120 feet.

Elmer Claypool has conveyed to John Foyster an English type home with garage on lot 50x140 feet in Newburn drive. Brownlee also consummated this sale.

A brick home with garage on lot measuring 30x145 feet in Norwich avenue, Brookline, has been sold by the same realtor for Hagel Menelley to A. L. Scheider. The consideration was private.

A large English-type home of eight rooms and three baths with a two-car garage in Woodhaven drive, Mt. Lebanon, has been purchased by N. A. Wilson from Carl Cappel. Thomas W. Stevenson, Mt. Lebanon realtor, who closed the deal, reports that the price paid was $19,500. The lot is 70x210 feet.

BRADY BUYS HOME

J. Roland Brady, executive secretary of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, has purchased from Elmer Johnson a six-room all-brick home in Birch avenue, Mt. Lebanon, through the offices of Stevenson-Williams, South Hills realtors. The lot measures 50x120 feet.

The same brokers have sold for George Renton to Benjamin P. Propas a six-room brick home of English design in Orchard drive, Mt. Lebanon, for $13,500. The lot is 50x220 feet.

BUILDING PERMITS

Applications for building permits follow:

Twenty-third Ward—Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania, brick building, 1001-09 East Ohio street, $5,000.

City Gets Petition For Storm Sewer

Eight property owners on Spring Garden avenue have petitioned City Council to extend a storm sewer through that thoroughfare to prevent damage to cellars of homes in time of rains.

The present sewer is inadequate, they said. Council referred the request to committee.

Vets to Present Annual 'Frolic'

The American Legion, Observatory Post 81, will present their annual show, "Legion Frolix," on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights of this week at Perry High School. The cast will be composed of members of Post 81.

Nobody Loves a Skinny Woman

Gain pounds of weight in few weeks with new IRONIZED YEAST—a special combination of dried brewer's yeast plus iron—or pay nothing

Thousands are amazed at quick benefits of new Ironized Yeast. They gained pounds of good firm flesh in few weeks. Tired, weak, nervous people became peppy and strong. Blemished complexions changed to clear rosy smoothness. Constipation, indigestion disappeared. Why does Ironized Yeast work so smooth?

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—special weight-building dried brewer's Yeast and blood-enriching, strengthening iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. Double-tested for strength, purity and potency. Used by doctors and big hospitals.

To this concentrated dried brewer's Yeast is added three kinds of easily assimilated iron to quickly make rich, red blood and tone up nerves and muscles. By this special process Ironized Yeast is made more effective than yeast or iron taken separately. Has no starches, flours or gas-forming fillers.

If you are underweight, nervous, tired—if you suffer with constipation, indigestion, and your complexion is muddy or blemished, start Ironized Yeast today. Pleasant little tablets—no nasty taste, never upset stomach or cause gas or bloating. Never spoil, safe for all.

Go to any drug store today, get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast, and take the little tablets as directed. If not delighted with quick results, your money promptly refunded by manufacturer.

BAUME BENGUE (pronounced Ben-Gay) contains special ingredients that bring quick relief to the sharp, stinging pain of neuritis. Applied freely where the pain is most severe, it relieves congestion by stimulating a flow of fresh blood, while its pain-relieving properties soothe the irritated nerves.

CORN MISERY ENDED—THIS SAFE WAY

When corns are stabbing your nerves with pain, there is always a temptation to try some harsh rapid-fire "cure" or risk infection from paring.

Don't run this chance. You don't need to. For 31 years millions have proved that there is a safe treatment for corns, as mild and gentle as it is sure in its results. These happy owners of easy feet go to the drugstore and ask for Blue-jay the minute they discover a corn.

The famous Blue-jay corn plaster is designed, first, to cushion and relieve the pressure that causes the pain. Then, while you go comfortably about your work or play, the mild Blue-jay medication is softening and releasing the corn.

Blue-jay is easy-on, easy to wear, bath-proof. Made by Bauer & Black, foremost surgical dressing manufacturers. Get a box today—all druggists', 25c.

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

Almost as unpopular as being dog-catcher in a small town is the task we face occasionally of recommending an opera presentation on the air . . . but we may be forgiven tonight, perhaps, because it is to be the first time that a microphone has been permitted on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York . . . the opus, Igor Stravinsky's "Oedipus Rex" (King Oedipus) . . . the conductor, Leopold Stokowski . . . the station, KDKA . . . the hour, 9 o'clock . . . two parabolic reflector type "mikes" which resemble a searchlight are to be used . . . Margaret Matzenauer returns as "Jocasta" and Paul Althouse assumes the title role of "Oedipus" . . . the plot concerns "Oedipus" who, according to Greek mythology, killed his regal father by mistake, thus fulfilling an oracle . . . the opera depicts "Oedipus" passing through many strange vicissitudes in life as a result of the tragedy.

Matzenauer

WE WOULD ADVISE

Paul Whiteman in a colorful interpretation of rumba music, KDKA at 8 . . . the vivid ballet, "Waltz of the Hours," by Delibes, WJAS at 9:30 . . . and WCAE at 9:30, Carson Robison and Frank Luther in "Hill-Billy Songs" . . . the Boswell Sisters, KDKA at 10:45 . . . George Holmes, Washington correspondent of the International News Service, WJAS at 11.

"Barnacle Bill the Sailor" is tailor made for Frank Crumit, WCAE at 8.

Columbia is really "up in the air" about this imaginary attack by 700 planes over New York City on Saturday afternoon, May 23. Gen. Paley has assigned 11 announcers and 24 technicians to see that not a whirr of a propeller is missed. Much of the description is to be from Army pursuit planes.

STUDIO LIGHTS

KQV has applied for 1,000 watts on 1,380 kilocycles . . . the present power is 500 watts . . .

G. Frank Slocum has been appointed manager of KQV in the absence of Paul J. Miller who has been ordered to Cambridge Springs for a complete rest . . .

Edward K. Jewett, NBC announcer, and Miss Grace Fisher, staff violinist, have gone and done it . . . Frank Singiser, also an announcer, was best man . . .

Two things you shouldn't miss on WJAS tomorrow . . . Helen Keller, blind and deaf, speaking from Washington at 11:30 a. m. and dramatization of "A Tale of Two Cities" in the American School of the Air at 2:30 p. m. . . .

Kenneth Roberts, of New York, and Edward Cullen, of Buffalo, have been added to the CBS staff of announcers—now 12 . . .

Fifteen people do nothing but make special arrangements for B. A. Rolfe's 50 radio musicians . . .

Ho! ho! On WABC next Wednesday at 6, Martin J. Porter, of the New York Journal, will discuss "Why Radio Editors Exist" . . . we're interested . . .

George Jessel is to be Rudy Vallee's guest Thursday on WCAE . . .

In three years, Jolly Bill and Jane (KDKA) have received 2,785,000 fan letters . . .

Lottice Howell, star of "My Maryland," is headed toward NBC" . . .

KDKA's theater party last night was swell . . . the best we've heard . . . Peter Higgins, despite his million dollar contract, is the same pleasant gentleman he was back in WJAS days when he and Brian McDonald entertained together . . . and a coincident, Brian introduced Peter over the air last eve . . . Rin Tin Tin offered us his paw . . . an old pal, Rin . . . And the Hill-Billies and the two girls who did a nonsensical act must be seen to be appreciated . . . credit to Dave Broudy for splendid music and sound effects . . . and double credit to Ed Harvey for production.

QUESTION A DAY:

We have had an argument regarding Amos 'n' Andy and by unanimous approval of all 17 people in our office we decided to abide by your answer. How long have the impersonators of Amos 'n' Andy been on the air? Some say two years, others three. — Oliver Building—Life Insurance Company.

Answer—Correll and Gosden first appeared on the air as "Sam 'n' Henry," WGN, in January, 1926. Amos 'n' Andy made their debut "in person" in March, 1928, over WMAQ, and by electrical transcription over 63 stations including KQV. They became a network feature in August, 1929.

Visit the Studios

An opportunity to visit the studios of Pittsburgh broadcasting stations has been made possible by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Courtesy cards entitling the holders to inspect the studios on "Hospitality Days," Friday and Saturday, may be obtained by writing the Radio Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, or calling at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph downtown office. The cards will permit visitation of KDKA, WCAE, WJAS, KQV and the world's most powerful broadcasting plant at Saxonburg, Pa. When writing for courtesy cards, please specify the station or stations you would like to visit.

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, April 21.—For every ordinary or commonplace name in radio there are 10 whose names by their strangeness exert a strong appeal. Can it be the influence of the numerologists at the studios?

Much of their microphone lure would be missing were the following to be known by ordinary names rather than by the names of Jessica Dragonette, Astrid Fjelde, Ludwig Laurier, Sven von Hallberg, Cesare Sodero, Neel Enslen, Bill Munday, Basil Ruysdael, Rosario Bourdon, Edwin Franko Goldman, Dolores Cassinelli, not plain Olga Albani but Countess Olga Albani, Yasha Bunchuk.

With male quartets becoming more numerous on the radio cargoes of Kipling will continue to ride the air. No microphonic day is complete without "Mandalay." Those old quartet favorites, "In the Evening by the Moonlight" and "Down Mobile," seldom penetrate the national eardrums.

Were all the songs of Jerome Kern assembled for one broadcast they would consume all of your day and most of Dr. Ziegfeld's night. With the exception of "Ol' Man River," now regarded as a modern classic, the most haunting of Kern's melodies to these ears are the "Siren Song" from "Leave It to Jane," and "Who" from "Sally."

The zippiest of the new dance tunes is, in our opinion, "I've Got Five Dollars," from the pen of Richard Rodgers.

They say that Dazzy Vance, the darling of Brooklyn, could be, the broadcasters willing, one of the most entertaining figures at the microphone. The broadcasters ought to be willing, if only because baseball deserves something more on the radio than the announcements of scores and play-by-play account of a game.

Radio's press agents still point to singers who began their careers with a traveling chorus in Siberia. They are not so ready to point to those singers who might be sentenced to a traveling chorus in Siberia.

Piano teachers evidently did not relish the propaganda of the radio titans directed to microphonic instruction in piano-playing. They raised such a protest at what seemed a menace to their livelihood that the titans called a special meeting at which they told the teachers that the piano instruction by radio was to be supplementary to personal instruction in the home.

The same argument, you will recall, is used in the Damrosch music appreciation propaganda, and no feelings are hurt. Teachers do not intend to surrender their rights and privileges unless they are assured their own work deserves first consideration. They will utilize radio at such times as it does not interfere with their routine, and the routine has become so rigid, it is said, that radio education has been given less and less attention.

The broadcasters are sanguine about their piano lessons, believe they will revive old-time interest in piano playing. I wonder if they really will. I wonder if there is an enthusiastic demand for radio instruction in piano. It scarcely seems posible. It scarcely seems possible that a parent who sincerely wished to develop a talent for the keyboard in his child would be willing to depend upon any other instruction than the old-fashioned kind given by first-class teachers in the privacy of the home.

Yet, we read of plans for further elaboration of radio piano lessons. And it would not surprise us—we are now gazing in the crystal ball—if the broadcasters were soon to interest their audiences in sheet music. The sale of sheet music is badly in need of microphone stimulation.

A Radio Is No Better Than Its Poorest Tube
Enjoy your radio this summer. Put it in shape to do its best. This is "RE-TUBE WEEK." Get a new set of tubes from your radio dealer... TODAY!

For better than "VERY GOOD" REFRIGERATION
See the .. NORGE before you buy!
$147.50 at the Factory
Legs, $5.00 Extra

Day after day, season after season, year after year, in extremes of summer heat or any other time, the Norge Electric Refrigerator goes right on refrigerating and quickly freezing ice cubes.

Convenience, unfaltering performance and fine appearance make Norge the outstanding refrigerator of today. Its low price soon returns to its users through savings in foods and low cost operation.

You want refrigeration that is more than good, even better than "very good" ...so see the Norge before you buy.

Manufactured by Norge Corporation of Detroit, a Division of Borg-Warner, originators of free wheeling.

All inside corners of the Norge are rounded for easy cleaning.

The Norge Waterveir, of crystal glass, keeps a gallon of quickly chilled drinking water or beverage on tap without the necessity of getting ice cubes every time a cold drink is wanted.

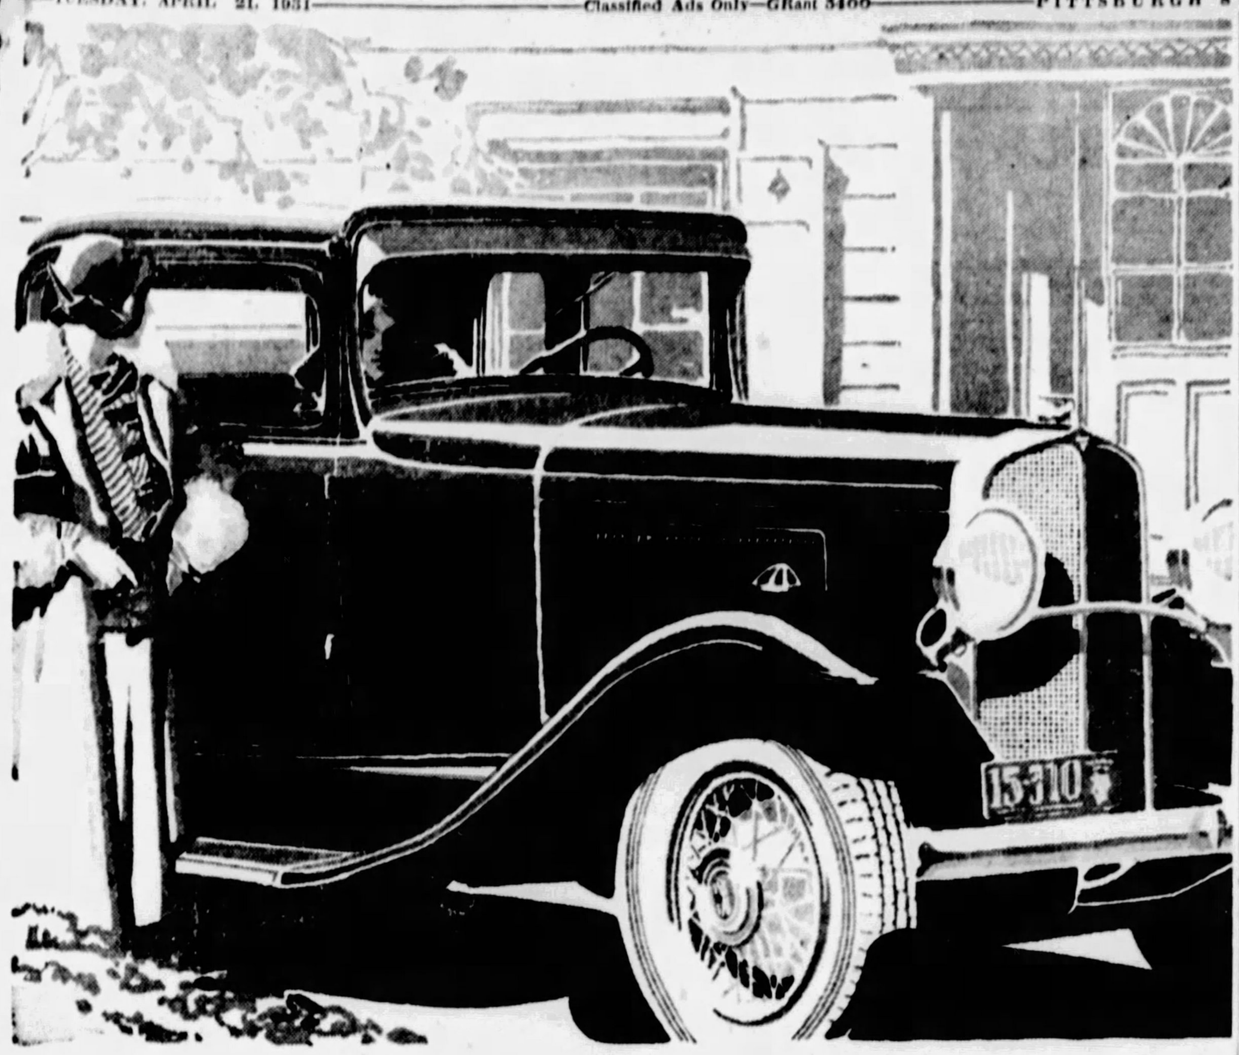
EVERY AMERICAN CAR MADE TODAY CONTAINS MATERIAL MADE BY BORG-WARNER CORPORATION



The new PONTIAC

is a car of unusual grace and beauty .. economical . . . powerful . . . selling at the low price of $759* DELIVERED EQUIPPED

Owners of the new Pontiac are mostly people who have learned from experience how to test performance and judge quality. Theirs is no blind choice. They select Pontiac because it enables them to enjoy fine-car advantages at extremely moderate cost. . . Let your own knowledge check these values which Pontiac offers:

NEW 60-HORSEPOWER MOTOR— An engine far above old ideas of power possible at this price. Its dependability and long life are important qualities. With all its smooth, flexible power, Pontiac's engine is decidedly economical to operate.

FISHER BODY CRAFTSMANSHIP— That inimitable beauty of design and styling, outside and inside, which contributes so much to motoring pleasure—particularly when you have guests. Seats are upholstered in fine, durable whipcord or mohair. Cushions are form-fitting. There is plenty of room for the comfort of all in the car.

CHASSIS RUBBER-CUSHIONED AT MORE THAN 40 POINTS—A fine-car feature adding to riding ease. Road shocks are absorbed by rubber insulation between axles and springs, motor and frame—at more than 40 points altogether. Rubber-cushioned shackles, an important part of this insulation system, not only promote comfort and stability on the road, but eliminate lubrication at 12 points.

INSULATED CONSTRUCTION— A notable advance in snugness of body structure and insulation which shuts out heat, cold, dampness and excessive noise. Building the cowl and windshield pillars as a single piece prevents leaks and rattles.

LARGE, POSITIVE BRAKES— Brakes that evenly grip all wheels with a stopping power that gives every member of the family new confidence in driving—downtown or on the highway.

FIVE WIRE WHEELS as standard equipment—also Lovejoy shock absorbers, heavy single-bar bumpers, inbuilt radiator screen, fender indicator lamps—and a score of other improvements not so readily described but readily appreciated in driving.

If the new Pontiac is anywhere near the motor car price you have in mind, test its actual value for yourself. A demonstration will be arranged at your convenience—entirely free of obligation, of course.

* This is the price of the 2-door Sedan or Coupe delivered to you in Pittsburgh and equipped ready for use.

Equipment includes front and rear bumpers, shock absorbers, 5 wire wheels, and extra tire, tube and tire lock. Other models priced as follows: Sport Coupe, $799. 4-door Sedan or Convertible Coupe, $829. Custom Sedan, $869.

REVIEWS OF NEW THEATER ATTRACTIONS ON STAGE AND SCREEN

'Twas Ethel Waters Night In Black Rhapsody At the Alvin

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Seldom has any prima donna received such an ovation as Ethel Waters got at the Alvin Theater last night, and seldom has any prima donna deserved it so thoroughly. As soon as she started her scene at the washtub, wringing real suds from real clothes, and hoping there won't be any clothes to wash in heaven, she had her audience in the hollow of her hand. And the audience was glad of it.

George Seibel

Comparisons are odorous, said Mrs. Malaprop, and the comparison with Ruth Etting is very malopropos. Ethel Waters is all of Ruth Etting with bits of Al Jolson and Ruth Draper thrown in. She is one of the most delightful artists on the stage—whether she is singing, or telling her woes in wisecracks, or going through pantomime that is worthy of a Grimaldi.

If she were a Parisienne or a Spaniard, from Moscow or Milan, she would be hailed as a supreme artist. Since she is from Harlem by way of Pennsylvania, she is a supreme artist no less. She is the best and brightest feature of the "Rhapsody in Black," brought here by Lew Leslie. And the rest of the rhapsody is first-class in its vocal numbers and very high in its dancing episodes.

REALLY A CONCERT

It is a concert rather than a revue. There is none of the frivolity and filth that make up the average revue, disguised under a lot of tinsel and covered by a lot of horseplay.

First there is Cecil Mack's Choir. They sing spirituals that are new and fresh and full of the naive humor of the real darky. The choir has two girls singing the leads who ought to be named in the program, for one has a remarkable contralto voice and the other has a bewitching comedy spirit. There are numbers like a mock sermon and the final parody of "Porgy" sung to the St. Louis Blues, which are masterpieces of humor or drama, and the singers put their whole souls into them.

And, would you believe it, these ebony and maroon troubadours sing Yiddish with a fervor that would admit them to the choir of Solomon's Temple? Those two leading girls—whose names will be on the program next time—swung from the "Eili, Eili" to the "Shemai Israel" as if they had been trained by Cantor Rosenblatt.

And then Valaida sat down at the piano and sang a Russian number as if she had been born with a golden balalaika in her hands.

JAZZ WITH A DIFFERENCE

Besides the choir there was a Jazz Orchestra, labeled with the name of Pike Davis but conducted by the rhapsodic Valaida, which is different from most jass orchestras. Ordinarily the musicians (apologies to Beethoven) think they must wiggle, squirm, bob up and down, and otherwise act as if in a clinic of St. Vitus. This Pike Davis orchestra contents itself with producing music. And they produce music—syncopated, but not assassinated.

But there is an appeal to the eye through Valaida, who wields the conductor's baton. She leaves us uncertain whether she conducts the orchestra or whether the orchestra conducts her as she assumes all sorts of geometrical designs, mostly isosceles triangles and whirling vortices, but there is the most perfect rhythm.

Valaida is also a dancer who can do the sensuous or the savage rhythms with equal grace. She is assisted by Al Moore, who would be in the Nijinsky or Mordkin class if he were only from the Volga or the Dnieper.

They are all worth seeing and hearing—all these choir singers jazz bandits, these dancers and pantomimics, and especially that delightful artist Ethel Waters. Their performance is a high-class concert rather than a tawdry hash of burlesque and vaudeville called a revue.

OL' MAN MURDER GOES GLOBE-TROTTING IN WARNER

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Remember the gag: What has four feet, looks like a cat and barks like a dog?—and the answer is cat, the dog-barking part being put in just a make it difficult. Well, the mystery melodrama, "Charlie Chan Carries On," now in the Warner, is something like that. It begins with a man being murdered by mistake just to make its mystery more confusing and to add an extra murder for the benefit of movie fans.

The story concerns a party of world travelers, one of whom goes in for murder in extravagant style. But the Oriental mind of Earl Derr Biggers' sleuth, Charlie Chan gets its man at the finale. The story action opens in London and ends on a steamship nearing San Francisco.

NOW WE TELL YOU

Much of the old hokum, that has been associated with mystery melodrama since its puppy days, is here. The tourist party at first numbers the foreboding 15. A person looks at something or other and flops into a swoon. A gentleman with a limp in his walk and a look of cold disinterest in his eyes is present. And there is the fellow in the beginning of the film who gets suspicion centered on himself and then gets bumped off, causing the sleuths to look for new clues and the gentleman who was with us to say: "I told you so." And he had!

Warner Oland does a good acting job as the Oriental detective. But he spends so much time spilling wisecracks with proverbial twists that you wonder he has any time left for sleuthing. Ah well, the man who feeds the chicken should get the egg!

WHAT PRICE FRESH AIR

Other acting honors go to C. Henry Gordon, as John Ross, and Peter Gawthorne, as a Scotland Yard inspector. Other players include Marguerite Churchill, John Garrick and Jason Robards.

The picture is crowded with open windows. No matter whether on land or sea, or in what part of the world, there is always an open window inviting the assassin to call upon his victim. And it is sure a tough price some of these people pay for their fresh air.

Well, this has gone on long enough, so here it is, in the cause of brevity: "Charlie Chan Carries On" is a murderous travelogue—a Cooke Tour, a la Hollywood.

BEE CUNNINGHAM IN ACADEMY SHOW

There is a new burlesque show at the Academy this week. Bee Cunningham, and Jessie Reece, Billy Hagan, Margie Martel and Ruth Bradley are seen in featured roles, with Bob Conn, Bob Vail, Charles Schultz, Jack Kelly and Ernie Holder contributing their own specialties. An added feature is "Sheikee," dancer, in a new act.

Alma Gluck's first husband is soloing it around the Bulbelt, ogling the ensemble pretties . . . The World-Telly has offered Ralph Pulitzer an advisory editorship . . . They may drop the name Telegram . . . The David Allens are on the verge . . . Most of the taxis are wired for radio, but a new ordinance prohibits installation "because programs would distract the driver's attention."

"B. G." is the "smart" abbreviation among backgammon fans. . . . B. Grady wears turned down socks even with full dress! . . . Yvonne Darle has a 19 yr. old son . . . The late Arnold Bennett and the late Mrs. Paul Herzog swapped letters for many years that would make a best-seller . . . What Philly newspaper publisher just fired 20 of the staff vets and on the same day contributed 15 Gs to the Salvation Army? . . . Vivienne Segal, the prima donna, who was blonde only the other week-end, isn't any more . . . There is an interesting feud between Isabel Patterson, the Hurld-Trib's tome critic, and Harry Salpeter, formerly Harry Hansen's ass't . . . The "68th Floor Holding Corp" has offices on the 67th floor of the Chrysler Bldg.

"Melo" attracted 24 Rolls-Royces to the premiere . . . Farrar-Rineheart will do Selma Robinson's "City Child" book in Oct. . . . Faustin Wirkus, a marine, who was called the "White King of Haiti," was glorified by Seabrook in his book, "Magic Island" . . . Seabrook told how lonely the marine was, the only white among all those blacks . . . As a result, Wirkus has received thousands of pash notes from women offering to be his bride, companionate or otherwise . . . When you hear a ganguy say "the collat" he means "the collateral" for jewelry . . . J. La Rue, last seen in the Guild's "Midnight," and Jane Mackenzie, a Cleveland heiress, seen in "Farewell to Arms," will be sealed . . . It's a boy at the M. Englanders . . . The new Lexington Ave. trolleys resemble no-deck Vth Ave. buses.

Crane Wilbur's next squaw will be Lenita Lane . . . The Empire State Bldg. will be awarded the Gold Medal of The Architectural League on Fridee . . . The committee of 14 is quietly investigating a night club star reported to have an illicit side-line . . . The J. Leblang estate won't be half of what they think he will leave . . . The only bachelor daily columnist in town will wed Gladys Davis, ex-Ziggie-folly within 8 wks . . . Al E. Smith was called in for counsel on the Sun-Post merger last wk . . . Barbara Hutton will be taken to Yurrup on Satdee by her pappy so she will "forget" Philip Plant.

George Sharp will present in the Pitt next week nine acts of drammer, divided into three sittings, for two watching the play and the other for attending inner-man filling stations. That could be none other than Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude." For the first time, Mr. Sharp says, this play also will be done at matinees—Thursday and Saturday—beginning at 11 a. m., with time out for the knife and fork drill at 1 p. m. It's a cinch to be an actor.

Plenty of actresses who think they are pursuing an artistic career are merely being pursued by stage villains.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

You know the old one that every Englishman who spends a week in America writes a book about it. Well, Edgar Wallace, London playwright, looked at Chicago for three days, then wrote a play about it, "On the Spot," spotted for the Alvin next week. Crane Wilbur is in it, and Anna May Wong, Chinese girl from the movies, and other members of the New York cast. That town paid to see it for six months.

College Honors Girl From Bellevue

Mary Elizabeth Junkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hays M. Junkin, 18 Grant avenue, Bellevue, has been elected treasurer of the Y. W. C. A. of Lake Erie College, Painesville, O., where she is a junior, her parents were informed today.

CAN'T PLAY CARDS; FILM SCENE HALTS

Joan Crawford does not play bridge. Neither does Marjorie Rambeau, Hobart Bosworth or Emma Dunn. The fact caused a serious and ludicrous situation in the filming of the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy, "Girls Together."

Director Nick Grinde was all in readiness to shoot a bridge game scene going on the assumption that practically all actors and actresses know the game. Cameras were set when it was discovered that not only did the four players have no knowledge of bridge, but none whatever of any card game.

Grinde was at a loss. He does not play cards. His assistant director could shed no light on the game. In fact, no one on the set knew one card from another until Neil Hamilton arrived. Grinde had expected the short scene to be completed in a hurry. It took as much rehearsing as a scene of 10 times the length to teach the non-bridge playing foursome enough about the game to give a semblance of reality.

Grinde says that he has never heard of a group of actors and actresses before in the long history of the business in which at least a few knew the popular pastime. He claims it is another record of some kind or other for his company of famous players.

Officers Elected By Dormont Rotary

New officers of the Dormont Rotary Club, to take office July 1, were announced at yesterday's meeting of the organization held in the Dormont Methodist Church, Potomac avenue. They are Robert Cunningham, president; J. Leigh Shields and Fred Becker, vice presidents; Harold Snyder, secretary; Louis McIntosh, treasurer, and Joseph Rubenstein, sergeant-at-arms.

Guns Bark!

Anna May Wong will be on the Alvin stage next week in Chicago underworld atmosphere in "On the Spot!"

SPENCER TRACY GETS ROLE IN AIR COMEDY

Spencer Tracy will have the leading role in the aviation comedy which will be the next picture made by Howard Hughes, Tracy having been borrowed from Fox for the purpose.

The film has been tentatively titled "Ground Hogs," and production will be started early next month under direction of Edward Sedgwick.

The story is based upon an original by Sedgwick, with continuity and dialogue by Robert Benchley, Ebba Havez and Carrol and Garrett Graham. Tracy is the only player cast to date.

DEATH CONTINUES ITS HOLIDAY IN THE PITT

"Death Takes a Holiday," which has been establishing a record at the box office of the Pitt, is being held over in that theater for another week. Paul McGrath and Anne Forrest have the leading roles and other members of George Sharp's troupe are in their support. Critics and public alike compare the stock presentation favorable with the road show production, which had Phillip Merrivale in the role of Death. That is the part Mr. McGrath plays on the Pitt stage.

CENSORS CUT FILM SO HARRIS GETS NEW ONE

"The Spy," a melodrama featuring Kay Johnson, Neil Hamilton and John Halliday, opens in the Harris today, replacing the Charlie Murray-George Sidney comedy, "Caught Cheating." Warner officials here were compelled to take out "Caught Cheating" after the censor board had made 66 cuts in the films.

Fitzmaurice Again Will Direct Colman

George Fitzmaurice again will direct Ronald Colman in his next picture, "The Unholy Garden," which is the latest output of Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur. Fitzmaurice, it will be recalled, directed four Colman pictures, "The Devil to Pay," "Raffles," "The Dark Angel" and "The Night of Love."

'What's Up' Is Presented By Cap and Gowners In the Nixon

By J. FRED LISSFELT

The Nixon Theater held a brilliant audience last night, the Civic Club of Pittsburgh and its friends sponsoring "What's Up," Pitt's annual musical show. The Cap and Gown Club has put on many a show, but none more colorful and tuneful than this potpourri of bare backs, airplaning, golf and high-grade salesmanship.

There is the American heiress and her eternally youthful mother and more charming sisters; an English lord with the very best intentions though he gets woefully confused with Hollywood and the real intentions of an insurance policy and the double-crossing salesman; a movie producer with rapid-fire efficiency and his up-to-date crew; bellboys, dancers, choruses, grotesque and awkward mask-eraders, in all a melee of music and fun, and very often of surprising grace.

J. Fred Lissfelt

The music is by Gus. A. Schnabel and Dr. Benjamin Levant; it is all very tuneful and mostly catchy, and the lyrics have many an apt line. A ballet of machines was one of the masterpieces of the show both in costume and pantomime; the undersea picture at Catalina was well handled though the lighting was more effective than the dancing.

The solo and pairs of tap dancers must take special compliments for it is seldom one watches such nimble feet and swaying bodies. As specialty dancers foremost were Jack Allen and David Cornman, the latter's "Tex" being the ultra in nonchalance. Edward C. Bonner's makeup was again, as last year, one of the high spots of the show, a most attractive young lady. John Harpster and Jack Allen, a little less true in their impersonations, and therefore all the funnier, put across many a good line.

The scenery was above the average college performance, and to the credit of William Marlitt, the play moved with a real click that kept the audience in a very good humor.

BRADY ACCUSER WINS DIVORCE

DETROIT, April 21.—(AP.)—Mrs. Bernice McClellan, who named Alice Brady, stage and motion picture actress, as co-respondent, was granted a divorce yesterday from Donald C. McClellan, former actor, by Circuit Judge Arthur Webster. McClellan did not appear to contest the suit.

Mrs. McClellan testified she called her husband by telephone while he was in Nassau, N. Y., and that while she was talking to him, heard a woman's voice which she said she recognized as that of Miss Brady. She also testified to seeing Miss Brady near her husband's dressing room in a New York theater.

At the time the suit was filed, Miss Brady denied having other than a professional interest in McClellan. The divorce was granted on grounds of desertion.

SELF SERVICE GARAGE IN USE

A new auto parking garage, operating on the general principle of a self-operated elevator, has been perfected by engineers of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. H. D. James, consulting engineer of the firm, announced today, and one of them is already in operation at the company's East Pittsburgh plant.

After the car is driven into its stall the door is locked and can be opened only when the owner inserts his own key in an electrical control, the number of which corresponds to the number of his car's stall. It can also be operated by pushbutton or coin slot control in larger or public garages, James said.

It is possible with the new device, James said, to park 24 cars in the space usually required for two.

This is accomplished by employing an endless revolving chain which hoists the 24 cars in two lines, always keeping the stalls in which they are parked on an even level, as cars on a ferris wheel.

Policeman Caught By Mouse Trap In Pocket

Patrolman Edward Flinn's mouse trap was all set for the mice in his home today.

Patrolman Flinn decided it was the best place for it after his experience with the trap during roll call at Carrick Police Station last night, according to Sergt. Joseph Kohnke. While the roll was being called, Flinn left out a loud scream. His fellow officers, startled, looked around and found that one of Flinn's fingers were caught in the trap which he was carrying in his pocket. Flinn purchased the trap the day before, but forgot to leave it home.

CLEANUP DRIVE OPENS SUNDAY

The fifth annual "Clean Up-Paint Up-Plant Up" campaign of the Chamber of Commerce will open Sunday and close May 9. At a meeting of representatives of business, industry, social and educational institutions in the chamber yesterday final plans were made.

Assurance of support was given by Fire Chief Richard L. Smith, J. C. Dalzell, employment secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Dr. R. M. Sherrard, representing Pittsburgh public schools; Prof. F. E. Fickinger, of Langley High School; Francis P. Anton, of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny County Catholic schools; Sidney A. Teller, Irene Kaufmann Settlement; Charles Donley, chairman, and Donald J. Howard, secretary of the chamber's clean-up committee.

5 HURT AS CAR HITS TRACTOR

Miss Jeanne Kallach, of 740 Orchard street, one of five persons injured late yesterday when a Sewickley street car sideswiped a tractor in West Carson street, near South Main street, was reported improving today in St. Joseph's Hospital.

The other victims, treated at South Side Hospital and taken to their homes, were: W. C. Bletzinger, of 1216 First avenue, Coraopolis; Sylvia Shener, of 710 Island avenue, McKees Rocks; Rose Hous, of Pittock, and Michael Hilka, of 207 Second avenue, Neville Island.

John Lalor, of 315 Winterbell street, operator of the tractor, escaped injury. Traffic in West Carson street, between the Point Bridge and South Main street, was halted for 30 minutes.

ADVISES DELAY IN TROLLEY PAY

Acceptance of the Pittsburgh Railways Company's offer to pay its last 1930 quarterly assessment of more than $70,000 for license fees and street repaving costs at some future time when the traction company shows a profit in operation is suggested to City Council in an opinion today from Thomas M. Benner, assistant city solicitor.

Benner believes that in the absence of any suggestion of fraud on the railways company's part in preparing its certificates of a deficit and because of the city's contract with the company and the Traction Conference Board, the only thing to do under the circumstances would be to arrange for some other means of financing the company's share of street improvements until the financial condition is restored.

In case Council is not satisfied with the opinion or the company's action, it can ask for a board of arbitration, to determine the future status.

HUFF NO BASIS FOR DIVORCE

When a wife, piqued because she has been holding poor hands, quits the card table, it is bad-mannered, but not an indignity in a legal sense, Judge Elder W. Marshall decreed in Common Pleas Court, refusing a divorce to Frederick W. Barton, Millerton street, North Side.

His charges against his wife, Mrs. Margaret G. Barton, 3544 Fleming avenue, were "picayunish," and even if true would furnish no ground for a divorce, Judge Marshall held.

The Bartons were married in November, 1923, and parted July 3. [illegible] alleged she became [illegible] and ill-tempered [illegible] weeks after their mar- [illegible]

[illegible] Beattie, 1451 Barnsdale street, owner of a soap business in McKeesport, asked a divorce from Mrs. Eleanor Rosalie Beattie, of Wheeling, W. Va., in Common Pleas Court, alleging cruelty and indignities.

HELD IN FATAL FUMIGATION

Dick Clowes, of the Perfect Exterminator Service, whose fumigation of the Ramey Apartments at 12 East North avenue was followed by the death of two tenants, was recommended held for the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter today by a coroner's jury.

Nettie Gordon, owner of the apartment, testified that Clowes had told her it would not be necessary for tenants to leave the building during fumigation. Coroner W. J. McGregor termed Clowes' handling of the deadly poison as "gross ignorance."

The jury also recommended that Council pass an ordinance requiring the licensing and regulation of persons using dangerous gases as insecticides.

Marie Mohney, 40, and Julia White, 32, died from the gas fumes in their apartments and three other tenants were overcome.

Slaying Confession False; Gets Life

DETROIT, April 21.—(INS.)—George Myers, 48, former Ohio State Penitentiary inmate and confessed "ax slayer" of eight persons, today had been sentenced to serve a life term in Michigan State Prison after his conviction as a habitual criminal. Meyers caused excitement when he said he murdered eight persons with an ax in the village of Villisca, Iowa, 19 years ago. Police since have branded his confession as false.

SHORT LINE END LAID TO NEGLECT

SIDEWALKS —of— PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

The more we read of store holdups the more we are convinced the bandits should be organized. Time and again a little grocery store on a quiet street is held up. A couple of bandits will drop in one Saturday night and the next Saturday night a couple of other bandits stroll around.

William Pfarr

This is poor business because after one holdup the store manager usually will see to it that he doesn't have much cash on hand. We are convinced that repetition is caused simply because the second arrivals have not heard of the first holdup.

Thus, if the bandits had their own organization and offices in a convenient downtown building, they could keep files of all holdups. If we, for example, wanted to hold up the Mellon National Bank (You'll have to admit that's a high-class example), we'd call up the office and say to the filing clerk, "Will you please see how long it's been since the Mellon Bank was held up?" Or better still, ask the clerk for a list of those places which have not been held up in six months or more.

Each bandit could pay annual dues and in no time at all we'd have a sinking fund that would sink a battle ship. For president of the Society for the Promotion of Organized Banditry: Pfarr—don't you think so, Supt. Walsh?

Coroner McGregor is back from the crime school at Northwestern University with a report on a big, stately collie dog. Dr. McGregor, with Dr. McMeans, James L. Davidson, James E. Carroll and City Detective William McCready were motoring through a suburb of Chicago when this big collie moved from the curb to the middle of the street, stopped and pointed his nose directly at the McGregor auto, which promptly came to a halt.

While the dog held up traffic, three children crossed the street safely. The collie then bowed his approval to the coroner, wagged his tail and moved out of the way. Not true? The coroner will produce his witnesses.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

WASHINGTON, April 21.

Show you what habit will do. Been flying every day till we could come to a capital of some republic then would stay all night. Well, was flying to New York from Florida on the splendid new East Coast air line, a great route over beautiful country, from Jacksonville with stops at Savannah, Charleston, Florence, Raleigh (when Uncle Josephus Daniels met me) and Richmond. Saw many old friends all along. Well when I got to this town I saw a dome so I figured it must be a capitol so I got off, just through force of habit, and sure enough it was a capitol but you wouldn't think it from the ones I visited. Last night was the quietest night I have spent. Managua with its earthquake has got it on this.

TOWN HALL BOND BIDS RETURNED

Legal Battle Over Oakland Site Forces Action by County Commissioners

County Commissioners today returned unopened bids for the purchase of $7,000,000 county bonds, including $1,500,000 to buy land in the Schenley Farms district for the proposed $6,000,000 town hall.

The Commissioners decided yesterday to defer action on the town hall site until pending court cases determine their legal rights to acquire the land. At today's meeting the Commissioners authorized the readvertising of the remaining $5,500,000, the proceeds of which are intended to finance road and bridge construction.

The third attack since last Saturday against the Commissioners' proposed purchase of the town hall site was made yesterday by Attorney B. J. Jarrett in behalf of a taxpayer, Lawrence P. Baker.

Former Mayor W. A. Magee submitted almost identical objections in an appeal yesterday to the Dauphin County Courts to set aside approval by the state secretary of internal affairs of the town hall bonds.

O. K. Eaton, representing property owners in the Schenley Farms district, applied to the Allegheny County Courts last Saturday to restrain the Commissioners from executing the contract for the purchase of the land, alleging the Commissioners neglected to advertise the proposed transaction as required by law for all expenditures over $300.

STUDENTS QUIT AIRY ABODE

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 21.—Waynesburg College's two "bad boys" who took up abode in the town park bandstand rather than tell on the chum who had doused a tree surgeon with water while he was operating on the campus landscape in the vicinity of Hanna Hall, were back in the dormitory today.

"Who threw that water?"

President Paul Stewart recalled the youths—Percy Mayer and Charles Watson, both of Dormont—from their public roost yesterday. The park bandstand had been their abode for four days, following the school head's mandate to tell who threw the water or leave the dormitory.

Five youths were in the dormitory last Tuesday afternoon, when someone tossed a bucket of water out of a window. Two tree surgery experts, one in a tree and the other standing in the entrance to the dormitory, received a thorough drenching.

President Stewart heard the rumpus, and investigating, found the five students—Gilbert Dolloway, Joseph Geissinger, "Swede" Anderson, Mayer and Watson.

Two Restaurants Cited for Padlocks

Preliminary injunctions against two restaurants charged with violating the liquor laws were handed down by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker today. The proprietors were named as John H. Coffey, 4616 Bauna boulevard, and Herman Zimmerman, 431 Water street.

'Tiger,' Lloyd George Defied by Foch Over Command of Armies

In yesterday's instalment Marshal Foch discussed further the paramount problem of America's participation in the operations that were planned on the Western front in 1918. How many U. S. troops could be put into action in France was the vital question. Gen. Pershing assured Foch that 100 American divisions would be in France by July, 1919, but renewed his insistence that they were to fight as an American army. Foch also told of the proposal to send American troops to Siberia. In today's instalment he tells of his plans for what was to become the Second Battle of the Marne and how he refused to be superseded by the Versailles War Council.

By MARSHAL FERDINAND FOCH

Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Armies During the Closing Phases of the World War.

CHAPTER XXIV.

By the middle of July, 1918, it would be seen that the time was fast approaching when the opposing forces would be sensibly equal. If the enemy did not attack, the hour had come for us to take the offensive; if he did attack, to accompany our part with a powerful counter-stroke.

In order to give still more force to this counter-blow, on July 9 I instructed Gen. Petain to combine the offensive of the 10th Army with another one to be carried out at the same time between the Marne and Rheims.

It was to be directed against the eastern flank of the "pocket" and executed by the French 5th Army, under the command of Gen. Berthelot.

Finally, on July 13, I summarized these designs in a letter to the French commander-in-chief, who was tabulating distribution of his forces for the coming battle.

The first operation—blocking the enemy's advance—required forces which, for the most part, were forthcoming, but which it was still possible to increase.

In regard to the second—the counter-attack—which "apart from its own inherent advantages would constitute an extremely efficacious method of defense" it was essential to devote to it, without delay and to the fullest extent possible, all the requisite forces.

On the afternoon of July 14 I proceeded once more to Gen. Petain's headquarters, where it was definitely decided that the French counter-offensive would be launched as a reply to the German attack in Champagne. The latter showed signs of being very near at hand.

The studies in preparation for this counter-attack had been go-

BUSINESS WAR ON 'RACKETS' OPENS HERE

Pittsburgh Linked With 52 Other Cities in Drive to Halt Rich Outlaw Harvest

A move to protect commercial interests and the general public from hundreds of "rackets" now exacting more than $8,000,000 yearly in Allegheny County, was made by the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, when it was announced that the Better Business Bureau of Pittsburgh, Inc., would fight fraudulent financial schemes here. Organization of the bureau was completed through efforts of the chamber.

Mr. Dennison

G. H. Dennison, for more than three years head of the Pittsburgh Clearing Bureau, is manager of the bureau.

Granting of the charter of the Better Business Bureau of Pittsburgh, Inc., in Common Pleas Court by Judge Sylvester Snee Saturday, links Pittsburgh with 52 other large American cities which support similar bodies.

Racketeers working under the cloak of charity get more than a million yearly and seven other millions are divided between promoters of fake jewelry auctions, bogus fire and bankrupt sales and fake stock and investment schemes, it is asserted.

Two Bankruptcy Petitions Filed

George W. Sigel, trading as the Sigel Motor Company, Altoona, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in United States District Court. He listed liabilities of approximately $210,000 and approximate assets of $50,000. Peter Hoffman, fish dealer here, in a voluntry bankruptcy petition listed liabilities of $3,190.13 with assets of $165.

HOW TO GET RICH

Buy Land, Stick to It

Everything of real importance is BORN OF AN IDEA. The interesting gentleman on the right had an idea that made it possible for his daughter, Ella Wendel, to leave $100,000,000 when she died recently.

Columbus had an idea and he discovered America.

Edison, working as a telegrapher for small pay, had an idea that two messages could go over the same wire; they did, and he succeeded.

Henry Ford had an idea that the quickest way to make money is to make the best thing you can and sell it at the cheapest possible price. Look at him now and his bank account.

The gentleman whose picture is printed here died long ago and is not much to look at. His head is flat in the back, wide in front; his face, not beautiful. But in that front brain, up near the top of his forehead, there developed one dominating idea.

Ideas are born in the front brain, energy to put them through is found in the back brain.

That is why a successful American often has the back of his head sticking out far beyond his coat collar.

John Gottlieb Wendel's idea, constantly impressed upon his children, was this:

There is only so much of New York. The population will become bigger, but there will still be ONLY SO MUCH OF NEW YORK.

PEOPLE GIVE TO LAND ITS VALUE. INCREASING POPULATION GIVES INCREASING VALUE.

Old Wendel boiled it all down into these words:

BUY, NEVER SELL, NEW YORK LAND.

He bought and didn't sell. His descendants kept and didn't sell. The last was buried recently, leaving $100,000,000 behind her.

She did not do all that she might have done, perhaps, but she did go through life free from financial worries. Many millions of Americans today could tell you what financial worry is, the lack of employment and of income.

Read the real estate advertisements, classified and others. Study the city as you go through it. Make up your mind which way population and business are growing.

Get a good piece of land, take care of it, and it will take care of you.

Turn over the pages to the classified want advertisements. Many things are there, real estate, employment, opportunity. Study the classified advertisements.

He made six words grow into $100,000,000.

ROAD DECAY HELD PERIL TO RIDERS

Ties Rotted and Unballasted, Rusty Spans Viewed; Last Car Runs Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow is the last day of service over the Pittsburgh, Mars, Butler Railway. When midnight comes the last car will have passed over the famous Short Line, serving a district inhabited by many thousands of persons.

The danger of operating cars over the present road and rails and the expense of rehabilitating them were the principle grounds upon which Judge F. P. Schoonmaker granted the plea for abandonment in United States District Court yesterday. Maurice R. Scharff, recently appointed receiver, pleaded that it would cost $300,000 to give safe and proper service over the Butler Short line once more.

DISREPAIR EVIDENT

Inspection of the Short Line shows, even to the layman, an extreme state of disrepair. The entire route, from Pittsburgh to Butler, is practically unballasted.

The ties are in shreds and splinters with dry rot. The usual creosoted railroad ties have not been used. Untreated, the wood shows gaps into which one's fist can be stuck. Only on the curves and in a few spots on bridges are there new, firm ties.

In many instances, rot has set in so severely that the spikes holding down the rails can be lifted from the wood without the help of a tool.

MANY BRIDGES ON LINE

Approximately 30 rusty, corroded bridges, large and small, link the road along its route. The casual inspector stands, in some cases, 60 feet above the valley floor and shivers as the cars pass, shaking and swaying over the scaling trestles, held by badly worn, crumbling rails with no solid foundation.

It is apparent that upkeep of the road has been neglected for years. Attorney John Graham, of Butler, who opposed the abandonment yesterday, says there has been a definite two-year plan of the company's to "murder the road," to force traffic to use buses.

Scharff told the court that he could not obtain liability insurance because of the condition of the road.

1910 WHARF BOND ISSUE RULED UNAVAILABLE

TIME ELAPSED HELD BAR TO USE OF CASH

Parking Supervision to Pass To Works Bureau Soon; Receipts Show Increase

An unused bond issue of $100,000, series of 1910, is "dead" and cannot be used now for wharf improvements as planned by City Council, Thomas M. Benner, assistant City Solicitor, said today in an opinion on the matter.

Benner said in part:

"This bond issue was authorized during the year of 1910, or approximately 21 years ago, I am of the opinion that the bonds, not having been issued, cannot now be issued, as the time since their authorization that has elapsed is an unreasonable one. There is no statute of limitations. The question is what, under the circumstances, would be an unreasonable delay. Twenty-one years certainly seems too long, and, I, therefore, advise you the authorization by the people is dead."

SHIFT IN OPERATION

Supervision of parking at the Allegheny and Monongahela River wharves will be taken over soon by the Department of Public Works from the Public Safety Department in an effort to cut down expenses and increase revenue, a resolution to be acted upon by Council today reads.

Action to change departments in supervision of parking resulted after a public hearing last week. Members of the Building Owners and Managers' Association charged inefficient operation responsible for the small revenue.

When the association's original complaint was made, it was pointed out, receipts started to increase. In less than six weeks receipts at the Monongahela wharf tripled.

IMPROVEMENT URGED

That the Better Traffic Committee should go ahead with its plans for the improvement of city wharves by utilizing unemployed labor available, was the decision by a special wharves improvement sub-committee at its meeting yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. John M. Rice presided.

U. N. Arthurs and C. Hill, of the City Planning Commission, and George M. Lehman, of the Department of Public Works, and City Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre presented plans advocated by various groups in the past several years dealing with the wharves.

JOB INSURANCE HELD UNSOUND BY KAUFMANN

Pittsburgh Plan Leader Urges Redistribution of Gold in U. S. Possession

This country needs a redistribution of the four-elevenths of the world's gold, now in its possession, declared Edgar J. Kaufmann, one of the originators of the Pittsburgh Plan, at a meeting in the B'Nai Israel Synagogue last night under the auspices of the Men's Club of the synagogue. Speaking of unemployment insurance, he said:

"I believe unemployment insurance unsound. It is unhealthy and uneconomic because it is paying men to be out of work. It brings them to believe that the country owes them something; if the people of the nation think this, then our country is finished."

He declared that the security of the home is of basic importance during the present crisis, and that putting men back to work will create that security.

Citing that America is the richest country in the world, having four-elevenths of the world's gold, the greatest wheat reserve now that the country has ever known, and the largest savings bank accounts in the history of the nation, he declared that what the normal man craves is work—that gold means nothing. He said:

"Acute mental suffering is inflicted on the man who wants work and cannot get it. The physical suffering caused by the crisis is not as great as the mental. We can always feed and clothe men. Nobody can starve in America."

Discussing the Pittsburgh Plan for the stabilization of employment, he declared that enough public work is available in the city and municipalities to keep thousands of men at work until the end of September if the necessary funds were available.

HIT-RUN AUTO FELLS WOMAN

Struck by a hit-run motorist while walking along Evergreen road early today, Miss Freda Menold, 36, of Evergreen road, was reported to be in a critical condition in the Presbyterian Hospital.

Motorists who found her along the roadside removed her to the hospital where it was said her skull was fractured, her chest crushed and that she had suffered internal injuries.

After questioning Miss Menold, police arrested Edward J. Hoffman, 48, of 4227 Evergreen road, on a suspicious person charge. They state that Hoffman owned the machine which struck the woman, and that it was being driven by a friend of his.

Albert Smith, 54, of 804 Spring Garden avenue, was cut and bruised this morning when struck by an automobile while crossing Federal street at Stockton avenue. He was removed to the Allegheny General Hospital. Police arrested Mary Evans, 34, of Aliquippa, a school teacher, as driver of the car.

When his automobile turned over four times in Washington boulevard late yesterday, Ralph Donaldson, 56, of 2515 Carey way, suffered a possible fracture of the neck and ribs. He crawled out of the car and made his way home, police said.

Admits Car Theft; Taken After Theft

Elmer Washington, Negro, 15, of Reed street, was held for investigation in Morals Court today after admitting he had stolen an auto. Police testified they captured him after firing three shots at his car. He collided with an ice truck and crashed the car against the steps of a synagogue in Seal street.

GIRL VANISHES, SUSPECT HELD

William Hurt, 20, of North Lincoln avenue, North Side, transient photographer, who moves from neighborhood to neighborhood with a pony, was held for investigation today in Morals Court in the disappearance of Mathilda Weimer, 17, of 1017 Wolfendale street.

Mathilda's father, John Weimer, testified that Hurt was the last person seen with Mathilda when she disappeared Friday night. He said Mathilda had told him Hurt had offered her a job.

Hurt admitted Mathilda walked a few blocks with him Friday night but had left him when she met another young man.

Weimer said his daughter ran away four years ago and later returned.

Man Fined After Police Raid House

When Eugene Bradus, 32, Negro, left a house at 1404 Whitcomb street early today with his arms filled with empty whisky bottles, he was arrested and the place raided, Capt. John Schnurr testified in Center Avenue Police Court this morning.

Exhibition of Rare Rugs Designed to Spur Needlepoint Workers

By PENELOPE REDD

The exhibition of needlepoint rugs assembled by John H. Beck, which are now on view in the seventh floor galleries at Dauler-Close, are designed to stir the ambitions of workers in needlepoint.

A type of rug exceedingly rare in these parts is the flat-surfaced carpet worked on a meshed canvas in the tent stitch which modern workers also use for all their designs subject to strenuous use.

Most of these rugs have come from England. One finds Jacobean designs with gold thread worked into the silk and other motifs such as a bold variation of the palmetto design in vivid colors.

Penelope Redd

Other rugs worked in fine tent stitch come from Russia and show remarkable skill in juxtaposing color in charming floral patterns.

Looking at these fabrics which seem more like wall hangings in wool, one cannot fancy them surviving the perils of modern hospitality.

Bolder in design are the Bessarabian rugs which are woven like tapestries. Unlike their Near-Eastern neighbors these Balkan rugs frequently have exuberant naturalistic design.

The Polish wool rugs suggest a Persian rug in a grandiose style with their excessively vigorous floral patterns.

The collection includes fine Aubousson and Savonnerie rugs in formal designs and colors with the patina of several centuries delicately emphasing their subdued elegance.

The exhibition will continue through the next fortnight.

22 ALIENS HERE DEPORTED

Twenty-two aliens will leave Pittsburgh tonight for Ellis Island, from where they will be deported to their native countries. Most of them are being returned because they entered the United States illegally.

Among the 22, are eight Arabs, who came to the United States as sailors on French and Italian ships and deserted at New York, then came to Ambridge, Aliquippa and Weirton, W. Va., where they were arrested. Two of the deportees are women.

Horse, 50 Chickens Die in Barn Fire

A horse and 50 chickens were burned to death when fire destroyed a large barn on the farm of Walter Linhart on the Sandy Hill road, near Bakerstown, early today. Firemen from Bakerstown fought the blaze. The cause of the fire is not determined and the loss was not estimated. The flames also spread to a small shed on the adjoining farm of Louis Haas, but did little damage.

FIRED because he was always tired

IN EVERY WALK of life you meet the "Drowsy Bills" . . . men and women who are losing out because they are always tired. They try hard enough . . . but most often the poisons from constipation sap energy and strength—and bring illness, defeat and old age prematurely.

What a pity, when eating a delicious cereal could prevent it all! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation! Two tablespoons daily—at every meal, in severe cases.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings relief in a natural, healthful way, by sweeping the intestines of all poisonous wastes. Eaten regularly, it helps keep the system healthfully clean.

Isn't this far better than taking pills and drugs that are often habit-forming and may become ineffective?

ALL-BRAN also adds iron to the blood. It is a delicious cereal with milk or cream. Use it in cooking too. Recipes on the package. At your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BRIDGE REPAIR BIDS URGED

Permission to ask bids on bridge repairs totaling $27,500, has been requested of City Council by Public Works Director Edward G. Lang. Council's committee on finance was to act today.

The money, according to Lang, will be provided from a fund of $40,000 set aside for bridge work for 1931.

Spans to be renovated are Bloomfield, Heth's Run, Plank street, South Main street, Independent street, South Twenty-second street, South Graham street, Forbes street and Schenley Park.

Seeks Police Aid To Find Lost Hearse

Pittsburgh police were looking for a hearse today. William Kearn, a New Jersey undertaker, purchased the new hearse in Detroit last week and engaged James L. Wolf to drive it to New Jersey for him. Kearn and his wife were in another machine and got separated from Wolf last night near Ambridge and, after coming to Pittsburgh, requested that police search for Wolf to inform him where the Kearns are stopping.

HUNT SUSPECTS IN 2 MURDERS

Homicide detectives today were reported on the trail of a suspect in the murder of Basil Zullu, 50, of Reiter street, one of the two murder victims in the East End over the week-end.

The motive in the slaying of Patsy Otlanto, 55, of 6 Bennett way, an employe of the City Department of Public Works, was lacking, sleuths said. Otlanto died yesterday in Pittsburgh Hospital from a bullet wound in the abdomen inflicted by an unidentified man who called him to the door of his home.

Detectives began a search for a man seen running from the scene of the Zullu murder—in front of an alleged Larimer avenue speakeasy—after the questioning of seven men yesterday.

HYMIE WITNESS ARRESTED

Louis Frishman, 27, proprietor of a haberdashery at 1337 Fifth avenue, was at liberty on $5,000 bond today pending a hearing before Alderman Thomas D. Jones Friday afternoon on a charge of perjury growing out of testimony he was alleged to have offered February 18 at the habeas corpus proceedings of "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, convicted slayer of William E. Potter, ex-Cleveland councilman.

Frishman, arrested by Lieut. Frank Ferris and Detectives Frank Morgan, Thomas Mulvehill and Frank Dodson at his store yesterday, was released on bail a short time later.

Bernard Schachter, said to be employed in Frishman's haberdashery and who was alleged to have testified with Frishman that Martin had paid a bill in the store on the night of February 3, when Potter was slain, was to be arrested also, according to Lieut. Ferris.

St. Louis Physician Believed Kidnaped

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—(INS.)—St. Louis police and St. Louis County authorities today were conducting an extensive search for Dr. Isaac D. Kelly, Jr., prominent and wealthy St. Louis physician, who, according to his wife, failed to return from a sick call last night.

Police expressed the opinion today that Dr. Kelly had been waylaid and kidnaped.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Should a Wife Insist on Being a Mother?

He doesn't want to be a father.

Has he any vote in the matter?

Mrs. E. V. P. thinks not.

"Who is any man," says she, "to set himself against the great purpose of woman's being—God's purpose?"

Believes It Duty

Well, personally, we meekly suggest that since the poor guy has to pay the bills, he might at least be allowed a couple of words in the debate . . . But not according to Mrs. E. V. P., for she believes it's the wife's duty to "bear a child that will carry on from generation to generation," and dad has nothing to say about it.

What do you think . . . as a man? . . . as a woman? Should Nanette insist on having her baby whether papa wants it or not . . . or has a vote?

And is having a child the only real justification for living?

"Dear Sally:

"I've read the letter from Nanette, who wants a baby, but whose husband is not enthusiastic about her having one, to say the least.

"Of course she must have her baby. The only point worth discussion is how best to win the co-operation of her husband . . .

"Who is any man to set himself against the great purpose of a woman's being? God's purpose for her in fact? If you will obey the universal law that we mate to perpetuate the race.

Highest Ideal

"True a marriage may produce other fruit . . . a good business carried on together, for example. But not its best fruit. In fact, that is pretty small pickings, compared to a human soul.

"It is very plain from this woman's letter that her highest ideal is to bear a child which shall carry on from generation to generation in the normal order that all creation indicates is normal.

"Will it be easy? No. Tell her it will be hard. It will bend her back and take the skin off her fingers. But at 50 she will have lived. She will have had her part in the racial progress which is one of the fundamental satisfactions of life.

"If her husband is any sort of a man this little new life to be succored will develop all the manhood in him.

"And what better bond can they weld between them? For it is against the law that a man and a woman shall live only in each other. They should lose themselves in some third entity.

"It is too bad that her husband doesn't see it that way. But she is not the first woman to show the way to mere man. Tell her to go ahead, Sally.

Couldn't See Ahead

"It is foolish to worry about the money. No one can ever see the end from the beginning. Yes, I have plenty—now. But when I bore my three children, I couldn't see an inch ahead. The care comes with the child. And did you ever see a child that wasn't taken care of, one way or another?

"E. V. P."

Did I ever see a child that wasn't somehow taken care of?

Yes, lady, I have. Scores of them. Sad-eyed, scrawny-bodied, wizened little gnomes, stunted in body and soul, because poverty had cheated them out of the good, wholesome food and the good, warm clothes that were needed to make healthy men and women of them. Children of people who hadn't worried about where the money was coming from to feed them.

Has a woman the right to realize "the great purpose of her life" at such a price to the children she bears?

And if she believes she does . . . has her husband a right to object?

Think it over, Stranger, and then tell us, straight from the shoulder, what you think.

I would designate as parlor enemy number one, those perfectly charming persons whose sugar-coated conversation covers the bitterness of their remarks.

None can be so delightful and at the same time so deadly.

Everything they say sounds so nice, but underlying all the compliments is always a caustic cut.

They come to praise and pan in the same breath.

The out-and-out knocker is more kind, because you do not take her seriously.

But these deadlier dames whose disarming diplomacy make their unfair remarks sound as fair as the rest, must be listened to as cleverly as they are clever in conversation.

For be certain that the burrs they sling in a session about others will likewise be aimed at you elsewhere.

Madge Promises to Carry Through Savarin's Plans Regarding Legacies

There was such poignant tender appeal in Robert Savarin's voice that I think a person possessing a much harder heart than mine could not have resisted it. I capitulated at once and laid my hand upon his thin one.

"I will accept this trust for Lillian, and administer it faithfully." I promised with a feeling that I was making a vow before a church altar.

He turned his hand and clasped mine tightly.

"I knew you would not fail me," he said, and gathering the papers for Lillian together, held them in his hands for a long second looking down at them.

"To safeguard your future, dear heart," I heard him whisper and then he thrust the papers back into the envelope, and handed it to me with a gesture toward the other papers which he had planned for me. In obedience to it, I put them back into their own envelope and wrapped them both in the brown paper which Mrs. Cosgrove had used.

"If you don't want to take them back with you today, if they will be—embarrassing—to explain in any way, my sister will tell you how they can be taken care of. I haven't the breath," he finished softly, and looking closely at him, I saw that he was well-nigh exhausted by even this short interview.

"I'll consult her about them," I said, rising.

He put out both hands to me again, and putting the papers down I grasped them tenderly.

"I shall not see you in this life again. As to the other, who knows? Of one thing I am certain. Somewhere, sometime, Lillian will be mine again. Tell her—no, she does not know that you are here, so tell her nothing. Words are useless anyway, she knows, my darling, she knows. But I want you to know this. I shall not die until this holiday season is over. I will not permit it to shadow this Christmas time for her. And if ever she knows of this visit tell her that she gave me perfect happiness, perfect peace. I go blessing her and loving her. Goodbye."

His hands relaxed in mine and I laid them back upon the bed, and looked fearfully at him. But he had not swooned. His eyes were turned again to Lillian's portrait and his lips were moving soundlessly. I tiptoed from the room, but I could have made as much noise as I pleased. He knew nothing of my going. Comforted by the blessed lie Lillian had told him, he was hugging to his heart the belief that she was his and no other man's in her spirit.

Mrs. Cosgrove was waiting for me in the sitting room, and I held out the envelopes to her.

"Robert said that you would advise me concerning these," I told her. "I have promised him everything he asked, but I am afraid to carry these to New York with me."

"There is no need for you to do so," she said. "Is your bag big enough for the check books?"

"Yes," I said, but with a qualm as I thought of the possibility of someone's noticing those check books upon Kingston banks.

"I suggested to Robert," she said, "that we mark the check book, bank book and securities for you, with an 'M' in the corner. Then you will always be able to keep them separate. The accounts are in different banks as you will notice, and of course you will be able to check from either account at any time you need to do so. As for the securities and the savings bank books would you like me to rent a safety deposit box in your name, in one of the Kingston banks, and send the keys to you? I could put them in a small envelope inside a regular letter to you, and no one would be the wiser."

"I have just one amendment to that," I told her smiling. "Please rent a box in our joint names. Then either one of us can open it. In case anything happened to me, you would have to tell my husband about this, you know, so that it could be straightened out legally."

"Let's not talk about any possibility so horrible," she said with a little shiver. "But I see your point, and I'll go down today and rent the box. Better still, you can go with me. Mr. Train will take us down, and it won't take but a few minutes to stop at the bank. I can come back on the bus. But"—doubtfully, "you will miss dinner with us."

"I couldn't have stayed anyway," I told her truthfully. "I want to take the first possible train back. You won't need me at the bank."

"Have you thought," she asked quietly, "that it will be a good thing—silence possible unfavorable comment, I mean, if you and I are seen together at the bank, and if we rent this box jointly?"

I flushed painfully at this first reminder of the comment which might be made upon this apparently princely gift to me from the famous artist and hurriedly assented to her proposal.

"I told Robert I would do whatever you thought best," I said, and she walked to the door, saying over her shoulder:

"I'll tell Mr. Train to get ready. I only have to put my wraps on, and you're ready, so we can start in five minutes."

It was just that when Mr. Train's car, with that efficient gentleman at the wheel, rolled out of the Cosgrove yard, and less than an hour later we were at the bank. The box rental took but a few minutes, and then I bade Mrs. Cosgrove goodbye, and Mr. Train took me across the ferry to Rhinecliff, where I caught a fast New York Central train for the city, with the comfortable assurance that I would be back so early there would be no chance of comment upon my absence.

A Help in Emergency

Sometimes some of us older housewives have trouble with our knees and would do a great deal rather than get down and wipe up our woodwork that particular week. When you feel like that, wring out a flannel cloth in lukewarm water and tie it over the end of your broom. Go over the floors with this damp cloth and you will be pleased how efficiently it will work besides saving those rheumatic knees.

Dr. Copeland

This disease is common in Indo-China, China, India and the Philippines. It is also found in Northern Africa and Egypt. Some cases are seen in Southern Europe.

The infection has been one of the medical problems of the southern part of the United States. Frequently it is brought to the Northern States by "carriers" of the disease. And, often, long after the acute ailment is forgotten, the sufferer continues to be a carrier. Carriers are always dangerous because they can transmit the disease to others.

Infection may take place through food or water. It may be that flies can convey the infection, but this theory has not been definitely proved.

Infection may be present for a month, without making known its true nature. There may be headache, weakness, slight abdominal pains and occasional attacks of diarrhoea. If met in the tropics these signs arouse suspicion but their importance is often overlooked in temperate or cold climates.

Immediate medical attention is required where there are pain and severe diarrhoea.

In the United States, the cases seen are those in which there is no marked illness, but a constant state of poor health. There may be short periods of improvement, followed by attacks of diarrhoea. The slightest error in diet is usually followed by an increase in the symptoms.

Recovery is hastened by rest in bed. This is important even in very mild cases. The diet is determined by the severity of the symptoms. In the acute attacks the diet should be liquid, consisting of milk, whey, and broths.

These cases can only recover and actually be completely cured by being given adequate medical attention. Persons who are chronic sufferers from this disease do themselves an injustice and menace the public if they are not given proper medical care. They are the ones who become carriers of the disease and serve to infect others.

Answers to Health Queries

J. A. Q.—What do you advise for swollen and red eyelids?

Household Hints

Use a soft paint brush for dusting house plants.

A small brush is serviceable—and easier to manage—in cleaning potatoes, beets, turnips, celery, etc.

Mother-of-pearl articles should be cleaned with whitening and cold water, as soap will discolor them.

Marking linen is made more simple by first starching and ironing it until a very smooth surface has been obtained. First make the initials on the linen in pencil, then trace over with the marking ink.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The First Duty Is to the Intended Bride

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married shortly, and I do wish that you would help me clear up some of my plans.

When there is a maid of honor and also a matron of honor and two bridesmaids, are all the dresses made alike, or is it permissible for the maid of honor to have a different style? My matron of honor is the bridegroom's sister, and of course I do not want to have her slighted. My maid of honor is having quite a time in deciding what kind of dress she would like. I have picked out several patterns, but she has it in mind that she would rather buy her dress. If there were to be only the maid of honor and the two bridesmaids, I think that it would be perfectly all right for her to have a different style, but as long as I am having both a matron of honor and a maid of honor, I am in doubt.

BRIDE-TO-BE.

I do wish that all girls who are chosen as attendants at weddings would realize that their first duty is complete co-operation with the plans of the bride-to-be. That is, as a matter of fact, their only duty . . . to be co-operative and to be as charming as possible on the great day.

You should decide definitely what you wish to have your maid of honor wear, for this must be harmonious with the rest of the plans for your wedding, and you should definitely tell this maid-of-honor-to-be that this is what you wish her to wear. She should not be considering what she wishes to wear; it is what you wish her to wear that is important. Usually, the maid of honor and the matron of honor are dressed in dresses of the same style, but sometimes of different colors. The chances are that, if this girl buys her dress, it would not be at all harmonious with the other costumes in your wedding party.

All Gifts Are for the Bride-to-Be

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When sending gifts to a bride-to-be, is it addressed to the bride only or to both the bride and groom? E. M.

The gift is addressed to the bride-to-be only . . . all wedding gifts belong to her. It is sent to her home.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

A new coiffure, sponsored by a Paris coiffure designer, has a heavy waved bang over the forehead and a waved bang at the rear that flutters like a valance over the ears and the nape of the neck. Each wave line completes a circle, and the circles grow smaller as they approach the peak of the tete. It is for the gamin type, the sassy gal.

Europeans have a standard opinion of American girls. They aver that Uncle Sam's daughters are the best-dressed in the world, that they have lovely slender shapes, dainty ankles and pretty feet. But—and the but always follows along—American girls all look alike. Cut off the same beauty bolt. The French woman isn't so pretty—she is inclined to be hippy and chunky—but she is daring in her dress. She has dash and chic and goes in for originality. Now, that's settled!

The woman who awakens every morning with eyes dull and head heavy had better take her cosmetic money and spend it for internal aids, since constipation is a common cause of early morning depression. She can take psylla seeds. Let four teaspoonfuls stand in cupful of boiling water for half an hour, then down them. Three times a day after meals.

Due to the campaign for beauty that has been going on with much trumpeting and grand results for the last 15 years, guessing a woman's age is ticklish business. Women of 35 are still girls. Women of 50, plenty of them, pass for 35. The preservation of youth, its spirit and appearance, is of the utmost importance. No sense denying it. It makes women happy to stay fresh and pretty. We're all for bigger and better beauty efforts. So is every femme.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, April 22

A fairly auspicious state of affairs may be looked for on this day, judging by the favorable position of Sol in relation to Jupiter—the planet of accomplishment and fruition as well as ambition. It is a good time to push in the direction of expansion and growth. But purely personal activities or affiliations may prove a waning force or incite extravagance, indulgence or carelessness in social, domestic or business obligations.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a successful and progressive year in the line of business or general activities, with advancement and increase of funds, but there may be a tendency to squander these accumulation in undue social indulgences or excessive pursuit of pleasure. Vexations and anxieties may grow out of these proclivities uncurbed.

A child born on this day should be talented and accomplished in social as well as business parts, and should attain good position through its merits and ambitions. But it may have inclination to extravagance and indulgence in the pursuit of pleasure.

WHEN a child is fretful and irritable, seems distressed and uncomfortable, can't play, can't sleep, it is a pretty sure sign that something is wrong. Right here is where Castoria fits into a child's scheme—the very purpose for which it was formulated years ago! A few drops and the condition which caused the trouble is righted; comfort quickly brings restful sleep.

Nothing can take the place of Castoria for children; it's perfectly harmless, yet always effective. For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an every-day aid. Its gentle action will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. In more liberal doses it will effectively help to regulate sluggish bowels in an older child.

All druggists have Castoria; it's genuine if you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature and this name-plate:

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

NEW YORK, April 21.

IF THERE WAS no such thing as a horse race, Mr. and Mrs. X would be a very happy couple. Unfortunately, however, the ponies have continued to run during the 15 years that Mr. and Mrs. X have been joined together as one. And the argument has gone on for those 15 years. Maybe even a little longer, come to think of it, because there were one or two minor battles during their engagement.

Not that Mrs. X dislikes the ponies. Far from it. She gets just as big a kick as the next damsel when the bangtails race down the stretch. But she is content with a $2 bet and never goes beyond that limit. Her husband, on the other hand, must wager every cent he has or he thinks the day wasted. Accordingly, you can well imagine that the X's have never been able to put very much aside for a butler and a Rolls-Royce.

Shortly before the racing season opened at the Jamaica race track, a few days ago, Mr. X closed a little deal that netted him $500 beyond his regular salary. His wife begged him to give her the money to put in the bank. But the husband had different ideas.

"Look, honey," he cried, "I have an idea that this money is going to be lucky for me. Tell you what I'm going to do. I'm going to give you half of it to put away. But we'll take the other $250 to the Jamaica track with us and I'll do a little betting.

"Who knows how much we'll clean up, honey? Who knows but that this is the beginning of a hundred grand? I've been unlucky on the track for so many years. The luck has to change some time."

Mrs. X didn't feel that it was wise to argue at the moment. After all, $250 was $250. If she objected to his plan right then and there, she knew that he would lose the entire $500. So she kept quiet until her half was in the bank. Then she began.

"Why must you bet so much money in order to get a thrill?" she questioned. "Why can I have just as much fun betting $2 as you—?"

Her husband stopped her.

"Okay, baby," he interrupted, "I feel too good to start on that all over again. We made our agreement and we're going to stick to it. On the way to the Jamaica track tomorrow you talk, talk your head off. Right now I'm asking you to go to bed. I'm spending the next couple of hours in doping the horses."

With a pencil, some paper and several horse race sheets before him, Mr. X sat down to figure. His wife saw that the argument was over for the evening and, after crying for 10 or 15 minutes in order to annoy her husband, she went to sleep. About five hours later, with his horses carefully marked off and chosen, Mr. X also retired.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the following afternoon found the couple at the track. Mrs. X had continued her preaching, but Mr. X had merely smiled happily. He had $50 in his pocket—and his horses figured completely. What more could anyone ask? So he parked his wife in the grandstand and told her he'd see her after the first race.

"Wait a minute," she said. "Bet this $2 for me on Beau Jolie."

Mr. X was startled. That was the horse he had picked. He asked her how she happened to choose that particular nag.

"Oh," replied his spouse, "I just picked him."

Her husband was worried—and very superstitious. She knew nothing about horses and had picked the very pony he had figured on. Besides, to bet on the same horse as his wife would undoubtedly put a curse on the pony. So he bet $50 on another horse and placed his wife's $2 on his original choice. Beau Jolie won—at 6 to 1.

In the second race the exact thing happened once again. His wife asked him to put $2 on Indian Scout, the favorite, and the horse he had picked. Again he asked her where she got the information and again she insisted she had "just picked him out." He placed $50 on another horse and Indian Scout walked in a winner.

Mr. X was on the verge of hysterics. But for his wife's $2 bets he would have been a huge winner. And when he asked her whom she liked in the third and she named Clearance, Mr. X had all he could do to keep from choking her.

For Clearance was his long shot special for the day. It was running at odds of 30 to 1. Mr. X gritted his teeth, bet $2 on that horse for his wife and placed the rest of his bankroll on the favorite. More than that, he also bet the money his wife had won in the first two races.

Clearance won the race. Mr. X was broke. No use hanging around the track any longer. He grabbed his wife by the arm and told her they were going home. He was so angry that he barely restrained himself from shaking her. His three first choices had won—and he hadn't bet on them because of his wife's piker bets. He would have been ahead many thousands of dollars. It was the break he had been waiting for.

"I don't see what you're so angry about," cried his wife suddenly. "And I also want to know when I get my share of your winnings?"

Mr. X swallowed hastily.

"My what?" he croaked.

"You hear me," shouted his spouse. "And you needn't stand there and tell me you didn't win this time. I know better. When I got up this morning I copied off the names of the horses you had picked last night. That's how I happened to give you the same names.

"You must have won a lot of money today. And I want to know when I get my share?" . . .

Mr. and Mrs. X's friends will be sorry to learn that, after 15 years, Mr. X consulted his lawyer yesterday about a divorce . . .

LAUER SPEAKS AT DORMONT

The Rev. Carl L. Lauer, director of restoration at the Rockview Penitentiary, Bellefonte, will be the speaker at the Dormont Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner tonight in the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church. He addressed the Dormont Rotary Club yesterday.

Lauer, who, until last August, was pastor of the Bethany Lutheran Church of Dormont, told of the work done by prisoners, including the cultivation of 2,000 of the 7,000 acres surrounding the prison.

Lauer said many of the men take extension course studies from State College professors. Trade courses also are held for those who desire to become skilled laborers.

PIRATES SURPASS ROBINS, ATHLETICS

THE CRACKING OF Heinie Meine's support at a critical stage of yesterday's game in Cincinnati cost the Pirates the contest that would have enabled them to return home with a balance on the right side of the book for the opening of the local season at Forbes Field tomorrow afternoon. As it was they had only three victories to show against four defeats when they dropped anchor in the home port this morning after the first trip of the year.

Heinie Meine

Not as good a showing as Pittsburgh fans had hoped for, it must be admitted, nor one to make the Bucs look like championship prospects at the end of the first week of the campaign, but at the same time it was better than that of such accepted pennant possibilities as the A's and the Robins, and better also than that of the Tigers, all of which clubs were rated as superior to Pittsburgh at the start. So considering all the handicaps the record is by no means discreditable, nor as poor as it might have been. The club deserves a warm welcome and all the encouragement that can be handed out to it when it makes its first home appearance tomorrow.

WHILE BILL M'KECHNIE'S Braves contributed the surprise numbers during the first week of the National League race by winning five out of seven games from the Robins and Giants, the A's have been demonstrating from another angle in the American League the uncertainty of spring form in baseball. None of the prophets pictured the world champions falling four times in the first six games, nor dreamed that George Earnshaw and Bob Grove would lose three of their first four tilts.

At that, in toppling the Macks three times in a row after losing the opener to them, the Senators were only repeating part of what they did to the same club last year. In 1930, the Johnsons lost to the A's in their first meeting, and then beat them seven times in succession. Yet at the finish they had only a 12-to-10 margin on the champs, the only series lost by the A's during the year.

USUALLY THE EARLY part of a season is marred by numerous postponements, but thus far the 1931 campaign has been cracking all records. The calling-off of the Brown-White Sox game in St. Louis yesterday was only the second cancellation of the year in the two leagues.

Up to today, 49 out of 51 games were run off in the two loops according to schedule—26 out of 27 in the National, and 23 out of 24 in the American. The favorable weather and steady play ought to have the effect of bringing the clubs to top form earlier than usual.

THAT BOXING HAS taken a firm hold in Hawaii is shown by the fact that six leather slingers are traveling all the way from Honolulu, a distance of 5,000 miles, to compete in the national amateur championship tournament to be held in New York on April 27, 28, 29 and 30. The cost of the round trip and the living expenses of the half dozen boxers in the meantime will run to $4,000 or more. The team includes two native Hawaiians, one Hawaiian Filipino, one Japanese and two American Army soldiers. Except for $750 allotted by the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U., the expense money was raised by holding monthly elimination tournaments. Boxing was not legalized in the islands until August, 1929, but hundreds of youngsters have taken to it enthusiastically.

Clarence DeMar

IT WASN'T A case of youth being served when the age marvel, Clarence DeMar, went down to defeat and finished fifth in the thirty-fifth running of the annual Boston marathon race yesterday, inasmuch as the winner, Jimmy Henigan, is himself 39 and has competed in the big event 11 times.

Like the Sullivan-Corbett fight and other big upsets, the result left fandom talking more about a loser than the winner. Though he will be 43 on June 7 and had been running in the Boston grind since 1910, DeMar had been generally favored to win the big race for the eighth time. Few stars in any branch of sports have continued to hold such a form rating at his age.

EVEN IN THE face of his defeat yesterday, there is a general unwillingness to believe that DeMar is done, though that would be the immediate verdict in the case of any other athlete of his years under similar circumstances.

Clarence has been beaten before, but when it was suggested that he might be slipping his answer was to come right back and resume winning in more impressive style than ever. It is by no means certain that he won't do it again. Unseasonable heat may have affected him more than the others yesterday.

IN FACT, DEMAR still has so much confidence in his own continued powers of endurance that he has no thought of giving up. He wants to run in the Olympic marathon at Los Angeles next year and may turn professional after that. Asked if he would ever consent to turn pro, the veteran replied: "Sure. Why not? But I'd want some real money to do so. I never saw a chance to make any yet. Joey Ray was a dandy runner and turned pro, but he never made much out of it." DeMar's reply was considered significant by sports leaders, as hitherto he had insisted that he would always remain an amateur.

THE CHANCE CONFRONTING Earl Sande to be the first jockey ever to win the Kentucky Derby four times will be put off for a year at least if not passed up altogether, as the famous saddle star has announced he will not ride in the 1931 running of the classic on May 16.

Sande says his recent illness made it impossible for him to get in condition to ride in a race that is less than three weeks off. He has ridden in nearly every Derby since 1923, when he scored his first victory while guiding Zev. He won again in 1925 on Flying Ebony and for the third time last year on Gallant Fox.

PENN STATE will have an unsual floor leader next winter in the person of Fred Brand, Jr., of Sewickley, who has just been chosen captain of the Lion basketball team for the season to come. Brand combines the totally unrelated sports of basketball and golf, being a star in each.

The Lions have had many versatile stars as basketball captains in past years, but none of them was of much account as a golfer, to say nothing of reaching stardom in that game.

Fred Brand, Jr.

SOL SALTZMAN, retiring captain, is a baseball and soccer player, and also got into one or two football games for State during the last three years. Neil Stahley, last year's captain, was a football and lacrosse star and played some baseball. Mike Hamas, who was the 1927 leader, was a varsity baseball man. Ken Loeffler, well-known to Pittsburghers, was another baseball regular, as was Pip Koehler. Frank Wolf, captain in 1920, was a football and baseball player and also a track man. Dutch Hermann, present coach and one-time captain, was a football star, too. Long as the list is, one fails to find a golfer of note among the former captains. Brand led the basketball team in scoring last year as a sophomore, and again in the season just closed as a junior. He won the all-college gold tournament as a freshman and repeated the following year, but dropped this title last fall in an upset match with a freshman luminary.

FORMER COACH NEW ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 21.—(AP)—Jess Harper, for whom Knute Rockne played football and later assisted, will return to Notre Dame May 1 to again become director of athletics.

Announcement of Harper's acceptance was made by the Very Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of the university, following a telephone conversation from Ashland, Kan., yesterday.

Harper, who became athletic director and coach of all major sports at Notre Dame in 1913, will not engage in active coaching, but will handle the administrative affairs of the athletic department. Under him, Heartley (Hunk) Anderson, senior coach and Jack Chevigny, junior coach, will direct football; George Keogan will continue as coach of basketball and baseball, with Dr. John P. Nicholson coaching track.

STARTED RISE

Notre Dame's ascent to major football importance began under Harper in 1913 and continued at his direction with Rockne as his assistant from 1914 to 1918, when he resigned to assume charge of his father's ranch at Sitka, Kan. Rockne was considered too young for the job, but Harper prevailed upon Notre Dame officials to give his assistant a chance.

Harper was graduated from the University of Chicago, where he was a star under Amos Alonzo Stagg, Sr., in 1904. When Rockne became his assistant at Notre Dame, they evolved the famous shift from formation taught Harper by Stagg. Harper's football teams made great records. During his five years they won 33 games, lost five and tied one.

1913 TEAM UNBEATEN

His 1913 eleven, with Rockne catching Gus Dorais' forward passes, was undefeated, winning seven contests. The 1914 team lost only to Yale and Army, while the 1915 squad won six games and lost one, the latter to Nebraska by a touchdown. In 1916, eight victories were marked up, with Army spoiling a perfect season. Nebraska defeated Notre Dame by one point in 1917, Harper's last team.

As basketball coach his teams won 57 games and lost 17. In 1916 Notre Dame won 10 straight.

Harper, who has continued in the ranching business, had indicated he would not accept the post, but decided to return after being urged by Father O'Donnell and Notre Dame alumni.

Harper Best In Baseball, Stagg Says

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—Jesse Harper, who will return to Notre Dame again to become athletic director, was a better baseball player than football man at the University of Chicago, Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg recalls.

Stagg said Harper was good enough in baseball to win his letter four times as a catcher and outfielder and captain of the Maroon team in 1905.

He weighed only 155 pounds, however, a great handicap in the days of "five yards in three downs," and had to strive against such backs as the late Walter Eckersall, Hugo Bezdek, De Tray, Walker and Hutchinson, for a job.

TOMORROW: THE MAN WHO HOLDS THE NON-STOP COLD SHOWER RECORD.

Slattery Victor Over Tom Heeney

BUFFALO, April 21.—(AP.)—Jimmy Slattery, of Buffalo, won a six-round decision over Tom Heeney, of New Zealand, here last night. Slattery weighed 167½ to Heeney's 207.

Heeney dazed Slattery with two righthand punches in the first round, but after that Jimmy speared him with a left, crossing his right inside Heeney's slow moving arms to raise a deep cut on his nose and one over his left eye. The Buffalo fighter handled Heeney easily in the clinches, piled up points with every round and won in a gallop, without receiving a mark of battle.

Lyons, Chisox Star, Back Next Week

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—Ted Lyons' shoulder ailment is not serious, Dr. Philip Kreusher, White Sox physician, has decided and the Sox ace hurler will be back in action next week.

Lyons won 22 games for a seventh place club last year, but the catch in his shoulder, diagnosed as a slight ligament strain, has kept him from working more than a few innings, let alone win a game this season.

POLO GAME SATURDAY

The 308th Cavalry riders will meet the 107th Field Artillery trio in an exhibition polo game at the Hunt Armory, Emerson street, Saturday night. The teams finished first and second, respectively, in the local league's title race.

Ambridge Captures Triangular Meet

AMBRIDGE, April 21. — Ambridge High School's track and field team won its second victory of the season here yesterday, defeating Rochester and Freedom in a triangular meet. Ambridge scored 84 1-3 points; Rochester 33 2-3, and Freedom 15.

Brooks, of Ambridge, won the pole vault, broad jump and high and took third in the 100-yard dash.

There was a slight list to the Pirate brig as it anchored on the waters of the home port this morning.

Pittsburgh's baseball argosy was tossed about in troublesome waves since it left more than two months ago, but the prospects of five days in dry dock together with home-cooking for the skipper and crew gave the Buccaneers a cheerful outlook on the future.

The Buccos pulled in this morning from Cincinnati, where yesterday they were pasted by the Reds in the final game of the series, 7 to 5.

Manager Ens assembled his Pirates at Forbes Field at 11 o'clock. The pilot ran the Oaklanders through a snappy workout that continued for almost two hours. The players then were excused, many of the married folks using the afternoon for house-hunting.

STARS ON BENCH

At the present time three of the aces of the team are laid up with the case of at least one being extremely serious. Pitcher Steve Swetonic is supposed to be out of the reckoning for more than another month while Ervin Brame, one of the best hurlers in the league, and Second Baseman George Grantham are unfit for play.

But Skipper Ens saw a gleam of light in the horizon as he reached the home of his team. The opening day atmosphere is a cheerful one and if even the dangerous Cubs must be met in four successive days, with a hard schedule beckoning, the boss of the brig refused to be downhearted.

The gladsome home opener is set for tomorrow afternoon. The inaugural is sure to be fraught with excitement for the guests of the big occasion are none other than the colorful Cubs of Chicago.

Hack Wilson will be there telling John Heydler's best umpires what he thinks of their family trees when they call that third strike. And the Rajah will be

ROBINS, REDS BREAK INTO VICTORY COLUMN

City, W. P. I. A. L. Nines Face Heavy Program; Track Card Announced

BAMBINO STARS AS YANKEES BEAT A'S

Associated Press.

The National League, it seems, is to have an eight-club race after all. Brooklyn and Cincinnati, after taking it on their respective chins with alarming regularity since opening day, finally have broken into the winners' circle.

Brooklyn fandom, possibly the most rabid in either major league, feels certain the Robins have gotten a lot of bad baseball out of their system early and are ready now to romp right on to the flag. Cincinnati enthusiasts have harbored no pennant hopes to speak of, but they are happy to see Col. Howley's charges get a start, even if from the bottom.

ROBINS SINK PHILS

Both clubs chose yesterday to come out of their five-day trance. Brooklyn's batting power, pretty dormant these several days, came to life and blasted a 10-to-5 victory over four Philadelphia pitchers. Every Robin joined in the fun, with Lombardi, big rookie catcher, leading the way with a pair of doubles and a single. Joe Shaute kept 11 hits strung out.

Nick Cullop, former American Association homerun king, led the Reds into the light. His circuit drive off Meine with two on beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 5. Red Lucas held the Pirates to eight hits.

Meantime, the St. Louis Cardinals took over the undisputed leadership by downing the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 2, Burleigh Grimes besting Bob Smith and Guy Bush in a mound duel. Jim Bottomley's homer in the sixth provided the "difference."

The New York Giants and Boston Braves battled their way into a tie for second place by dividing their Patriots' Day doubleheader. Rookie John Berly pitched McGraw's clan to a 4-to-3 win in the morning, aided by Freddie Lindstrom's home run, but the Braves came back with a 1-to-0 verdict later in the day. Seibold finally got the nod over Carl Hubbell when the southpaw filled the bases in the ninth and Spohrer lifted a long fly, scoring Richbourg.

BABE SOCKS PAIR

Babe Ruth enjoyed one of his most spacious days as the Yankees squared accounts with the Athletics. His two wallops into the stands, each time with Lyn Lary on base, accounted for all but one run in their 5-to-4 victory over Earnshaw. Gomez and Wells pitched brilliant relief ball after the champs had fallen on Johnson hard in the early innings.

The Boston Red Sox abruptly halted Washington's four-game winning streak, 13 to 3. While Russell kept eight Senator hits scattered, his mates piled into four opposing hurlers for 18, driving Crowder out in the seventh.

Although hit hard, Willis Hudlin was tight in the pinches and Cleveland stayed in the thick of things with a 9-to-3 decision over Detroit. Every Indian contributed to a 14-hit assault on Waite Hoyt and Hogsett. Rain stopped the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns in the latter city.

SPORT SHORTS

TOPEKA, Kan. — (AP.) — Permanent transfer of the Tulsa, Okla., club of the Western League to Topeka has been announced by Dale Gear, president of the circuit, who said failure of Tulsa to provide a playing field resulted in the change.

PHILADELPHIA. — (AP.) — The annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen will be held on the Schuylkill River here July 24 and 25, Harry Penn Burke, president of the association, has announced.

NEW YORK — (AP.) — Ralph Greenleaf of New York, trounced Marcel Camp, of Detroit, 125 to 4, in three innings in the opening match of an all-star pocket billiard tournament here last night.

DETROIT — (AP.) — Wisconsin bowlers captured first in two of the four events of the national Elks' bowling tournament, which ended here yesterday. The Bickett team, of Watertown, Wis., took high honors in the five-men event, with a combined pinfall of 3166. Frank Maerzke, of the Watertown squad, was high in the all-events standings, with 1922.

CHICAGO — (AP.) — Outfielder Al Moore, whose release to the Columbus American Association club was announced last night by the St. Louis Cardinals, today was balking over the transfer. Moore, drafted from Buffalo of the International League, said he would like to buy his release from the Cardinals. He believes he can sell his services to some major league team, but if he is forced to go back to the minors he would prefer to return to Buffalo.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

Nick Altrock

WASHINGTON, April 21.—I don't know where these baseball crowds come from, but they show up every afternoon. They have been jamming Wrigley's ground in Chicago so there isn't even room to park your gum, and already Ruppert wishes he built his Yankee Stadium out of rubber instead of steel. Even the turnstiles in Cincinnati got a hot box.

This may be a year of depression, but it looks like the boys were selling apples all winter so they could buy bleacher seats in the spring. You can't even start a bread line these days because the customers are lining up at the ticket windows.

Either folks aren't so bad off as the poorhouse statistics make them or they are breaking open more babies' banks.

Baltimore Caddies Go on Strike

BALTIMORE April 21.—(AP.)—Baltimore Country Club golfers played Roland Park course today with midirons and putters, which they carried themselves as caddies refused to work.

The trouble arose, clubmen said, because the youths were not permitted in all cases to choose the players whom they desired to serve.

Kaplan, Battalino Win in Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn., April 21.—(AP.)—Louis (Kid) Kaplan, 134¾, Hartford, won a 10-round decision over Ralph Lenny, 133¾, Union City, N. J., here last night.

Bat Battalino, 129½, Hartford, featherweight champion of the world, won the decision over Andy Martin, 127½, Boston, in another 10-rounder.

PROS PROTEST DATES FOR OPEN GOLF

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The United States Rubber Company was host last night to the Tri-State Professional Golfers' Association in the Cardinal room of the William Penn Hotel, Ivan K. Brisbane being in charge d'affairs.

The speaker of the evening was Edward C. Conlin, of Providence, R. I., who delivered an educational talk on golf salesmanship, manufacturing and golf ball sales figures which showed the great progress of the game in the United States in the last few years.

Educational talking motion pictures on the manufacture of golf balls from the tree to the finished product, and one entitled "Pros, Players and Profits," showing how the golf pro can boost his business were shown on a special screen. About 50 district professionals attended.

Decidedly unfavorable was the comment of some of the pros gathered last night with regard to the dates of the National Open tournament, booked for Toledo July 2, 3 and 4. The local pros are opposed to the tourney being wound up on a holiday, as the July 4 date is one of the best of the season from a monetary standpoint.

Few of the district pros plan to compete in the tourney this year, as they cannot afford to be away from their clubs on the dates set, and some of them may not even compete in the local qualifying test at Oakmont June 8.

Tee to Green

The pro job at the Sharon Country Club is still open.

Members of the Tri-State P. G. A. were silent a moment last night in honor of the memory of Mrs. Nelson Zimmerman, wife of the Wildwood Country Club professional, who was overtaken by death Sunday.

The father of Walter Andrews, professional at the Beaver Valley Country Club, who served as his assistant last year, is in the movies out in California, and won't be back this season.

The annual meeting of the Tri-State Professional Golfers' Association will be held in the Keystone Athletic Club, beginning at 6 o'clock, next Monday night, according to Dave McKay, of the Pittsburgh Field Club, secretary of the body.

It is anticipated that Fred Brand, Sr., pro at the Allegheny Country Club, will be re-elected president of the Tri-State P. G. A. next week. Likewise Dave McKay is expected to hold his chair.

Funeral services were held today for Mrs. Margaret M. Zimmerman, wife of Nelson Zimmerman, pro at the Wildwood Country Club. Mrs. Zimmerman died last Sunday.

The executive board of the Women's Golf Association will meet tomorrow at the home of Mrs. W. H. Duff for the purpose of ratifying the 1931 tournament schedule.

BE EXAMINED NOW

I HAVE HELPED OTHERS. WHY NOT YOU?

IF YOU ARE AILING DON'T GIVE UP.

If you are ailing, whether it is your Stomach—Heart—Liver, or some disorder you do not understand, you should have a thorough examination to find out the cause of your trouble. Most troubles can be benefited—even many cases now incurable might have been benefited if properly treated in time—not neglected because thought lightly of when first noticed. So if you are not sure of your health DON'T DELAY, BUT HAVE AN EXAMINATION MADE TODAY.

IF YOU WANT TO BE ACTIVE—STRONG—ENERGETIC—SUCESSFUL—HAPPY

Then take care of your health. Health is not a matter of luck—but a matter of care. It makes you fit for the emergency—the world gives its prizes to the physically fit. If you are ailing you should realize the high cost of being careless about your health. The right doctor will help and guide you and put back in your body the vital elements the poisons of your system have been trying to destroy.

OLIVER MEETS CARRICK IN BIG GAME

A busy afternoon confronts the scholastic baseball teams of the district, City League grade school and W. P. I. A. L. tussles being on the card. Two games are booked for Section I of the City League and three in Section II, with six listed in each section of the grade school division.

In Section I, of the City League, Allderdice meets Schenley and Connelley takes on Peabody. In Section II, where Oliver and South Hills are tied for the lead, Carrick meets Oliver; South Hills tackles Langley and Vocational meets Allegheny.

OLIVER-CARRICK CLASH

The Oliver-Carrick game in Section II promises real action. Both teams are in the running for the sectional title, and while Carrick has been defeated, the team has shown power enough to warrant it being considered as a formidable contender.

Three sections of the W. P. I. A. L., will swing into the action. McKees Rocks takes on Carnegie in Section I; Findley plays Mt. Pleasant in Section II and Edgewood engages Wilkinsburg in Section IV. A game originally was listed for Section III, between Aliquippa and Monaca, but Aliquippa has dropped out of league competition.

In a non-league fracas today, Shady Side Academy and Kiski clash at Shady Side. Yesterday, Crafton defeated Dormont in a W. P. I. A. L. tussle, 6 to 3.

TRACK CARD SET

The opening meets of the City League track and field campaign will be staged April 30, with South meeting Connelley and Allegheny taking on Oliver. The intersectional meet will be staged at Schenley Oval May 14 and the annual championship affair on June 4. The schedule follows:

SENIOR

April 30—South at Connelley, Allegheny at Oliver.
May 8—Fifth Avenue at South.
May 14—Intersectional meet, Schenley Oval.
June 4—Annual championships.

JUNIOR

April 30—Baxter at Westinghouse, Peabody at Library, Gladstone at Allderdice, Herron Hill at Fifth Avenue, Overbrook at Carrick, Knoxville at Langley.
May 7—Liberty vs. Baxter, Herron Hill vs. South, South Hills vs. Knoxville, Overbrook vs. Langley, Perry vs. Latimer.
May 28—Allderdice vs. Baxter, Peabody vs. Gladstone, Liberty vs. Westinghouse, Herron Hill vs. Connelley, Knoxville vs. Carrick, Overbrook vs. South Hills, Latimer vs. Allegheny.
May 20—Section II novice meet at Schenley High Field.
May 21—Section I novice meet at Westinghouse Field.
May 21—Section III novice meet at Langley Field.
May 21—Section IV novice meet at Oliver Field.

BUS ALBRIGHT RALLIES AFTER OPERATION

The condition of John (Bus) Albright, of Uniontown, Pa., Pitt varsity basketball center, who underwent an operation for the removal of his appendix yesterday afternoon and who underwent a blood transfusion when his condition became critical last night, was reported as improved today.

Bus Albright

The Panther star was rushed to the St. Francis Hospital about noon yesterday when he was stricken with acute appendicitis. Dr. D. P. Greenlee advised and performed an immediate operation.

Members of Albright's family hurried here from Uniontown when his condition became critical last night. An interne at the hospital gave his blood for the transfusion.

Members of the Pitt star's family remained at his bedside today. His father said that Bus appeared to be growing stronger each hour, and that his recovery now was virtually assured.

RAZOR AD-VENTURES by don herold

I WAS preaching the new Gem Micromatic Razor to a friend of mine today.

"Sure, I know," he said "I've used a Gem since 1912. Great razor!"

"Whoa! Wait! You ain't seen nothing yet! There's as much improvement in the new Gem Micromatic over the old Gem as there was in the old Gem over the old-fashioned long-blade cut-your-throat razor."

Then I told him about the new patents — the new one-piece construction, the new easy handle-twist with which you automatically clamp the blade into precise shaving position or raise the razor "roof" for cleaning. I told him about the new face-fitting bevel, the new provision for perfect under-nose shaving—and the new micro-perfect surgical steel Micromatic Blades.

And he was convinced that the new Gem is a NEW Gem, and started for a store, scratching himself for a dollar.

RENKEY LEADS IN ALL-EVENTS COMPETITION

ALLEY OWNERS' MEET ENDS TOMORROW

Leaders holding forth at present in the first annual tournament of the Greater Pittsburgh Bowling Alley Owners' Association's duckpin tournament which has been under way on the Haus alleys, North Side, since last Monday, stand very good chances of finishing out in front.

The tournament comes to a close tomorrow night, when the last batch of singles, doubles and five-men teams will take to the alleys. There will be no bowling tonight, the alleys being reserved for league competition.

Edmund Renkey, of Homewood, who set a world record for singles with a 700 score last week, crashed into another lead last night as he totaled a 841 while rolling with the Turtle Creek five-men team, copping the all-events lead with a mark of 1787 for nine games. J. Blume was the previous leader and still holds second place. The Turtle Creek team had a total of 2132.

There were no changes among the first 10 in the singles of the first five among the teams as a result of last night's competition. In the doubles, however, the combination of Ley and Melville joined a three-way tie for eighth place by rolling a 1061 score. Picalik and Hufnetti and Trozza and Mier also boast 1061 scores.

FULLERTON SCORES 567

In the singles Fullerton took eleventh place with a mark of 567, shooting Harper into twelfth position with 564. Renkey's 700 is admitted to be practically untouchable in the singles.

Although the Brookline team rolled a 2404 score in the team event, the quintet failed to gain a place among the first five it being necessary to roll 2412 or better to gain such a position.

Last night's scores:

HELEN HICKS WINS MEDAL

HOT SPRINGS, Va., April 21.—(AP.)—The medal in the qualifying round of the Old Dominion women's golf championship tournament was won here by Miss Helen Hicks, of Hewlett, L. I., with a brilliant round of 39-39—78 yesterday.

Her score equaled the course record recently established by Miss Diana Fishwick, British amateur champion. Three three-putt greens prevented the long-hitting golfer from setting a new mark for the course. Miss Hicks got well over 200 yards on her tee shots, and was deadly with her second woods and irons.

Mrs. Opal S. Hill, of Kansas City, western woman's champion, pressed Miss Hicks closely for the medal, going out in 42 and returning brilliantly in 38 for an 80 and second low score.

He rolled consecutive scores of 245, 199 and 256 for his high mark in the singles and last night took the all-events lead.

VETERAN WINS BOSTON GRIND

BOSTON, April 21.—(AP.)—After failing 10 times, James P. Henigan, little 39-year-old Medford runner, yesterday won the thirty-fifth running of the Boston Athletic Association marathon from the best field that famous classic has attracted in many years.

Smiling Jimmy, father of five children, ran and walked the 26-odd miles from Hopkington to Boston in 2:46:45 2-5, the slowest winning time since Henri Nashua won the B. A. A.'s thirteenth race, a 25-mile affair. Henigan broke the tape two minutes ahead of Fred J. Ward, of the Millrose A. A., New York, who made a gallant finishing drive, coming up from fifth to second place during the last five miles.

David Fagerlund, Koski's Finnish-American A. C. teammate, placed fourth and Clarence De Mar, the 42-year-old Keene, N. H., teacher and seven times winner, came home in fifth place. De Mar, the popular favorite, could not explain his failure.

"It was not the heat," he said. "I liked that. I can't explain. Nothing seemed to click for me and I had no fight. Why, I was running better than ever before just a week ago."

Henigan was the only runner in the pack of 187 who did not complain about the temperature, which ranged from 77 to 82 in the shade along the sun-baked course.

The first 10 finishers and their times:

GRID GAME POSTPONED

The spring practice football game between Braddock High School and Homestead High, scheduled at Braddock, has been postponed until next Monday, when it will be played at Homestead. The change was made due to the death of Coach Mariam, Negro star of the Braddock team, Sunday.

DUGAS, PIRATE PLAYER, KNOCKED OUT DURING WORKOUT AT FORBES FIELD TODAY

wide and Umpire Reardon ruled he had not touched second. There was a big scramble with one run going over and others moving up. The official scorer, who charged Regan with a misplay he did not make on the previous day, decided he should be twice penalized here and Bill was charged with two miscues. One error to Traynor and one to Regan would have been the fairer way in the opinion of many onlookers. Roettger moved in with a single a moment later and the score was tied. Cullop came along in the next frame and put the game away with his homer.

LAWLESS BEATS TOUGH GUY SUSKY

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Boxing science triumphed over sheer toughness and harder punching as Bucky Lawless, of Syracuse, turned in his first really earned victory in three starts here, in the 10-round main bout in the Motor Square Garden ring last night, at the expense of the highly-touted Pete Susky, erstwhile hard coal miner, of Scranton, Pa.

Bucky previously had received decisions over Buck McTiernan and Paul Pirrone in the same ring, and they were off-color, but last night he turned in the best fight of his several showings here to swarm all over his foe and win all but the fourth, fifth and seventh rounds, in which Susky outpunched him. He put the finishing touches on his decisive triumph by battering Susky, a larger edition of the well and favorably known Iron Man Steve Smith, from rope to rope in the closing round, Pete winding up weak and dizzy at the final bell.

IRON MAN OUTSMARTED

It was simply a case of a rugged puncher being outslicked from the start by a cagy veteran who knows his way around in any man's arena, and Bucky made many friends with his clean and pleasing exhibition. Susky, on the other hand, never quit trying, and was not disgraced in defeat. Barring a chance knockout, Lawless ought to beat him any night in the week, and you can't blame a fellow for finishing second under those circumstances.

The only knockdown last night came in the first round, and it was of the partial order, with Lawless, speeding around the ring and spearing Susky, running into a short right that knocked him off balance and down on his back while the timekeeper banged off a one-second count with his gavel. Lawless' left eye was slightly cut underneath in the eighth round, but the injury did not handicap him.

Jack Tracy, local Negro, 158½, bested Honey Boy Shimar, 158, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., stablemate of Lawless, in a hard-fought eight-round semi-final, a see-saw battle which saw Shimar get off to a big start in the first two rounds and then fade after being dropped for a count of nine with a right to the jaw in the third round. Tracy also won the fourth and fifth rounds, lost the next two and came back to sew up the victory in the eighth. He almost put out Shimar with another right peg to the chin that sent him reeling into the ropes near the end of the fifth round.

DECISION REVERSED

Georgie Chambers, of the East End, 152½, defeated Billy Flanagan, of Braddock, 159, in the second bout, a close and messy affair in which the decision at first was announced for Flanagan. When the crowd hooted, Judge Frank Ferris checked back on his slip and noticed he had voted for Flanagan whereas he had intended to vote for Chambers. He changed it to Chambers, which disagreed with the vote of Jock Simco, the other judge, who had agreed with him in his original decision for Flanagan, and that put it up to Referee Al Grayber, whose slip named Chambers as the winner.

Jimmy Reilly, of McKeesport, 132½, got off to a big lead over the veteran U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, 133, in the first four rounds of the six-round opener and then tired and lost the last two frames and the judges disagreed and the crowd booed Referee Jack Henderson's just vote for Reilly, with Judge Ferris voting for a draw and Judge Simco for Carpentier.

Harry Klaas was the announcer and A. C. Couch and Norman Borland acted as timers. It was announced that King Levinsky and Emmett Rocco will meet in the main bout next Monday night. The house was the smallest of the season at the Garden.

Between Rounds

Bob Moody and Joe Williams box the semi-final to the Frank Novak-Joe Doktors bout at Canton, O., next Monday night.

There is talk of Jack Dempsey operating Floyd Fitzsimmons' outdoor bowl in Detroit this summer.

Jim Maloney and Ernie Schaaf, keen Boston rivals, are to meet at Braves' Field this summer.

Talk about your Johnny Datto-Jackie Rodgers postponements! Columbus has had a Jack Hoster-Charley Dunlap bout postponed seven times and now the indoor season is over there and it is doubtful if the bout is big enough to be put on as an outdoor feature.

Ben Jeby, conqueror of Len Harvey, boxes Johnny Pilo in New York, Friday night, and has been matched with Vince Dundee for Madison Square Garden there, May 27, with the winner of the latter bout likely boxing Mickey Walker for the world middleweight title later.

Frankie Wine and K. O. Christner box at Akron tomorrow night.

Ross Fields boxes Dick Mitchell in the main five-round preliminary to the Bushy Graham-Johnny Datto battle in Cleveland tomorrow night. The other five-rounders: Joe Zemon vs. Jimmy Oakland, Dick Landig vs. Joe Burik, Frankie Graham (brother of Bushy) vs. Steve Nugent and Mickey Farr vs. Jack McGann.

Dominick Petrone, formerly of New York, is working out daily here and is primed for a battle with any of the leading featherweights. In fact, he is champing at the bit over the fact that the local promoters so far have not shown much inclination to give a boxer of his record and ability much of a tumble. He's quite a showman, and, with good talent none too plentiful around here, it would seem he would rate a good shot or two.

Richie Martell and Mickey Diamond box the eight-round main bout of a show in Philadelphia Thursday night.

The Hazlwood Fire Department is sponsoring an amateur boxing show for the benefit of the unemployed at Barker's Hall, Hazlwood, at 8:30 o'clock tonight. Sparky Ewalt and Eddie Sago, heavyweights, will meet in the feature bout.

VANCE'S MOTHER DEAD

Foch Defies 'Tiger,' Lloyd George

ing on for several weeks. The business would require four days, more especially for assembling and placing in position the various reinforcement coming from different parts of the front.

If the sectors from which they were withdrawn were attacked during this period, these troops might be seriously missed. There was, therefore, a risk, perhaps a grave one, which must be run during the four days when all useful action was out of the question.

Nevertheless, in order to hasten the march of events, I gave instructions for the preparations to be commenced on July 14, and as, on this date, the German attack in Champagne appeared to be quite imminent, it was settled, in the course of an interview at Provins with Gen. Petain, that the counter-attack, the preparations for which would be completed on the 18th, should be launched as a reply to the enemy's offensive when it took place.

While our preparations were proceeding, there occurred, in the course of a meeting of the Supreme War Council held at Versailles on July 4, one of those displays of uneasiness which soldiers invested with wide authority excite in the breasts of certain politicians.

Late that day, just as the afternoon session was about to close, Mr. Lloyd George presented a resolution, drafted in English, which was inserted in the minutes of the session and which M. Clemenceau, president of the Council of the Ministers, declared that he accepted in the name of the French government.

By the terms of this resolution, the Versailles Committee made its reappearance on the scene, and the military representatives, who formed their right of control, if not of initiative, over the plans for the operations of the Allied Armies. The result was to deprive the commander of these armies of all independence in establishing these plans and of all freedom in their execution.

As soon as the document could be translated and I could study its import, the gravity of which appeared to have escaped the notice of the members of the Council, I went to Paris to see M. Clemenceau. I told him that I could not accept it, or continue to command the Allied Armies if it were maintained in its existing form.

We returned together to Versailles to find Mr. Lloyd George, who was getting ready to dine with the representatives of the Dominions. In spite of the inconveniences resulting for that reunion, a discussion was immediately embarked upon with the British Prime Minister.

A new draft was made by the terms of which I retained entire latitude in the matter of establishing plans of operations, being responsible for them to heads of governments only; the military representatives, on their side, were under the obligation of coming to an agreement beforehand with me respecting any proposals they might wish to submit as to the conduct of the war.

During this time, the enemy had been pursuing his preparations and had greatly advanced them. On July 14, a raid carried out by the French 4th Corps brought in 27 prisoners. Interrogated at once, they disclosed that the German attack anticipated by the Allies would be launched that same night of July 14-15, and that the artillery preparation would begin 10 minutes after midnight.

Before the German guns opened our counter-preparation and counter-battery fire was started up along the whole front of the Central Group of Armies. The enemy was forestalled in opening fire and surprised by the number of our batteries, the majority of which were unmasked for the first time.

Nevertheless, he proceeded with the execution of his plan. At the hour fixed, his artillery opened, and between 4:15 and 5:30 p. m., the German infantry moved to the assault along the whole front of 56 miles between Chateau-Thierry and Massiges, with the exception of the Rheims salient, East of Rheims, thanks to Gen. Gouraud's careful dispositions, it sustained a complete check.

Enemy Cross Marne

Before the enemy's columns could reach the main line of resistance, where the French Fourth Army was solidly established, they were broken up by the dense and accurate fire of our batteries as well as by the fire of machine-guns distributed along the line of our advanced posts.

It was in vain that the Germans endeavored several times during the day to take this position by assault; they did not succeed in encroaching upon it anywhere.

West of Rheims the day did not go so favorably for us. On the front of the Fifth Army, the enemy made rapid progress between the Marne and the Andre in the general direction of Epernay, forcing the center of this army (Italian 5th Corps and Italian 2d Corps) back up on its second position.

At the same time he crossed the Marne east and west of Dormans, drove in the advanced posts holding the south bank of the river and established a bridgehead following the general line Mareuil-le-Port-Comblizy-St. Agnan-Fossoy, where the left of the Fifth French Army and the right of the Sixth were posted.

To meet these attacks the reserves of the various armies and almost all the divisions in general reserve had been engaged during the day of the 15th. By evening, Gen. Petain had only one infantry and one cavalry division left in rear of the Fourth Army and one division in rear of the Fifth.

Thus the German offensive, though definitely stopped along the front of our Fourth Army, had gained undoubted successes on the front of the Fifth Army and at its junction with our Sixth Army. Here it had succeeded in breaking our front and even in crossing the Marne at Dormans.

Maintain Plans

Was this partial advantage going to be the precursor of an advance sufficiently deep and executed rapidly enough to bring trouble to our adjacent lines of defense and prevent us from carrying out our program? Was it going to divert us from our counter-offensive, whose preparation still required two more days?

These were questions which could very well present themselves during the day of July 15th. However, indecision was no longer justified if one compared the paucity of the results obtained by the enemy with the magnitude of his effort and the mighty forces which his initiative had unchained—if, in sum, the extent of his check was considered.

He had failed in Champagne on a front of more than 25 miles. He had crossed the Marne at Dormans on a front of nearly 12 miles. The two fronts were some 18 miles apart and separated by the powerful bastion presented by the town of Rheims and the adjoining Montagnes de Reims, both of which remained in our hands.

In the 48 hours still required to complete the preparations for our counter-offensive, he would be unable to widen and augment his advantages on the Marne sufficiently to bring about a decision of the battle he had engaged.

On the other hand, once this delay was ended, we could attack him in flank from the Aisne to the Marne, on a front of 25 miles, in a new direction and on fresh ground, unexpectedly and in force; in a word, under conditions calculated not only to neutralize his advantages, but even to render them disastrous.

To effect this, we had only to inexorably maintain our plan and execute it in accordance with our previous intention of seizing the initiative and pronouncing an offensive between the Aisne and the Marne.

Without ceasing our efforts to penetrate the enemy's designs or guard ourselves against dangers which might be immediate, the wisest course was to pursue and, if need be, intensify the line of action decided upon.

It was to this task that I devoted myself on July 15, 1918.

Although he shared my confidence, the Commander-in-Chief of the French armies, in more direct contact with the events of the battlefield, was especially preoccupied by the German advance south of the Marne in the direction of Epernay, and to cope with it, he contemplated drawing on the troops designated for the counter-attack and thereby postponing its preparation.

While on my way to Mouchy-le-Chatel, where I was to meet Field Marshal Haig, I took occasion to stop at Noailles, the headquarters of Gen. Fayolles. Here I was informed of these dispositions.

I at once sent a message to general headquarters which insured the necessary correction and the preparations for the counter-attack were pursued without any delay being occasioned.

However, in view of the legitimate anxiety of the French commander-in-chief, I requested Field Marshal Haig to send immediately the two British divisions which, following the instructions contained in my letter of the 13th, would bring the number of British units on the French front up to four.

Notwithstanding his fears of seeing a secondary offensive, similar to the one directed against the Champagne front, started in Flanders in conjunction with a main attack to be undertaken between Chateau-Thierry and Lens, Sir Douglas yielded to my arguments, and two new British divisions, the 13th and 34th, were put in movement towards the French front.

Under these conditions, the two British divisions constituting the British 12th Corps, and already en route, were placed at Gen. Petain's disposal for reinforcing the front of the Central Group of Armies, which, for the time being, was on the defensive.

The two divisions just starting were to detrain in the Oise region and remain there at my disposal. They were to be employed ultimately, either offensively to reinforce our 10th or our 6th Army, or defensively in support of our 3rd Army.

In this way, immediate needs in the matter of defense were met, while the preparation of our counter-offensive was pursued and the forces assigned to it increased.

Action Encouraging. Averages Hold Well. Decline's End Near.

By Wall Street Spectator

NEW YORK, April 21.—The market's action on Monday might be considered as generally encouraging. In spite of a vicious bear drive in the early trading, the general averages held stubbornly above the low points of Saturday, and for the first time in almost a month, the stock list as measured by the Standard Statistics index of 90 composite stocks was able to close higher for the second successive session.

True, the advance was but nominal, yet the ability of the market to display rallying tendencies in the face of individual breaks to new depression period lows of such standard investment issues as U. S. Steel and Standard Oil of New Jersey, speaks well for the caliber of support in other sections of the list.

It is yet too early to say that the rank and file of stocks are in a buying zone. Additional hurdles will have to be crossed before the danger signal can be lowered, and the manner in which bad news is taken from this point on will be an important factor in judging the current position of the market.

CLOSE STUDENTS of price fluctuations in attempting to set a definite time limit for the completion of the current readjustment point out that the decline in the market in the spring of 1930 terminated after 35 trading days. The fall decline terminated after 81 trading days. Assuming that the market this spring reached its high on February 24, this decline which has been in progress since that time has already occupied 45 trading days. If the duration of this spring decline extended no longer than it did in the spring of 1930, then we could expect the termination about April 29. If it should continue for as long a period of time as the decline last fall, then it would terminate about May 30. At any rate, it appears that May 30 is the maximum limit on the time side.

SEARCHING for attractive trading issues which are expected to do more than their share in any general market advance, has turned a good deal of attention to Drug, Inc. According to observers who have made a close study of this stock, it is pointed out that its price movements have been contrary to the market trend. The low levels of Drug, Inc., by months were 61½ in January, 67 in February, 70½ in March and 71¾ to date in April. The explanation of this is said to be due to earnings which are reported to have shown about a 5 per cent increase over 1930 in the first quarter of the year.

Considering the expansion of the business since 1928, which was continued in 1930, and reflected by the increase of 31 per cent during the year in the number of shares outstanding, the ability of the management is shown by the fact that earning power has been maintained. It offers a dividend yield in excess of 5 per cent on its regular $4 annual payment.

THE RELATIVE firmness of General Motors while other motor shares have been under heavy selling pressure of late is attributed to usually well informed reports which expects to see this industrial leader cover its full dividend requirements for the first half year. Although first quarter earnings are not expected to exceed 60 cents per share, it is held that profits for the present three-month period will be sufficient to meet dividend needs of $1.50 for the combined quarters.

Orders Kolster To Sell Shares

TRENTON, N. J., April 21.—Vice Chancellor Alonzo B. Church filed today an order directing sale at public auction of 349,094 shares of stock held by the Kolster Radio Corporation of Newark as security on notes. The corporation is in receivership.

The stock, including 348,290 shares of the Federal Telephone Company, was pledged with the Bond Mortgage and Securities Company as security for $1,400,000 in notes. Claims on these notes aggregate $1,359,436.14.

Differing Needs Served By Fixed Trusts

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

IN CRITICIZING THE STUDIES of fixed investment trusts made in this column last February, Sidney S. Korzenik, economist connected with Columbia University, declares that the distributive trusts and the cumulative trusts are designed to meet the needs of entirely different types of investors. He believes that each has its place and that the conclusions reached on the distributive type of trusts in these columns have been unjust.

In commenting on this Mr. Korzenik said:

"People who buy stocks for investment may be divided into two main groups: Those who are interested in obtaining the largest possible income or return consistent with sound investment policy; and those whose first concern is the rapid building up of their principal.

Two Classes Developed

"IN ORDER TO PROVIDE for the needs of these two types of investors, there have developed two major classifications of fixed trusts, the cumulative type and the distributive type. Figuratively speaking, the difference between these two types lies in the question of whether it is the better part of investment wisdom to harvest your fruit currently, or whether it is more advisable to attempt to save it with the hope of getting more thereby. Actually, the relative virtues of the two plans come down to the individual temperaments and circumstances of the investor. The investor contemplating the purchase of fixed trust shares must ask himself what kind of trust will best suit his needs.

"The distributive type of trust aims at providing the investor with a high yearly distribution, without depreciating the value of the investment. Accordingly, whenever a split-up occurs in the portfolio of this type of trust, the excess shares received thereby are sold off and the sum procured is distributed to the trust shareholders with other accumulated returns on the underlying stocks.

Appreciation in Value

"IN THE CASE OF THE CUMULATIVE type, both the aim and the procedure is the reverse. The purpose here is to provide a form of investment which, while returning only a moderate annual income, will show a marked appreciation in value. Consequently, stocks added to the portfolio through split-ups are retained. So, although the number of stocks comprising the portfolio are constantly increasing and the value of the trust shares may rise proportionately, the investor receives a current return merely from dividends and the sale of subscription rights.

"The distributive type of trust came into the field in this country as a result of considerable study on the part of its sponsors, not only of the operation of investment trusts in general, but of the recent changes in attitude and taste on the part of American investors.

Meets New Conditions

"THE DISTRIBUTIVE TYPE of trusts met these conditions by supplying not alone an investment of unquestioned merit, but a METHOD OF INVESTMENT which enables the investor to realize all the cash profits from his holdings instead of contenting himself with a meager rate of return and the hope of larger increment that may never get beyond the paper profit stage. On the other hand, if the investor's circumstances or temperament are such that he prefers to retain the extra distributions received from the underlying companies in the way of stock dividends and split-ups, he may readily do so under provisions that make for the proper balancing of his holdings at all times."

Further discussion of Mr. Korzenik's analysis of the position of distributive fixed trusts will appear in this column tomorrow.

WHEAT POLICY UNCHANGED

WASHINGTON, April 21.—In response to inquiries from newspaper correspondents relative to press reports that the Federal Farm Board had yesterday decided to dispose of its stabilization wheat holdings in Europe for what they would bring, Chairman James C. Stone made the following statement:

"There is no foundation in fact for such report. The subject was not even considered by the Farm Board yesterday. The board has made no decisions in regard to future wheat stabilization operations except those previously announced. These are:

"One—That an effort will be made to sell abroad by July 1 35,000,000 bushels of out-of-position wheat, stored at Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Northwest seaports, and

"Two—That stabilization purchases will not be made from the 1931 crop.

"Any statement that the Farm Board at this time contemplates any other action is erroneous."

Stone said yesterday that between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 bushels of the 35,000,000 bushels had been sold abroad at a price slightly above the world level.

Merger of Copper Firms Indefinite

Cleveland E. Dodge, vice president Phelps Dodge Corporation, in answer to inquiries regarding the possibilities of a merger with Calumet and Arizona Mining Company, said there have been negotiations and exchange of considerable engineering data between the two companies. He said he thought these negotiations would be resumed soon, but that everything is still very indefinite with no commitment on either side.

Legal Investment, in the opinion of counsel, for Life Insurance Companies in the State of New York

For a more complete statement respecting the Company and these Bonds, reference is made to a descriptive circular which is summarized in part as follows:

Company: Associated Electric Company controls a large group of operating public utility properties. Its bonds are issued to provide for their senior financial requirements. Stability of income is obtained through serving widely diversified territories and types of industry and, in addition, the usual restrictions found in the senior obligations of operating public utility properties are provided by the protective covenants of the Indenture.

Properties: The subsidiaries of Associated Electric Company supply electricity and/or gas in over 600 communities, having a population of over 2,000,000, located principally in the states of Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, South Dakota and in the Philippine Islands, and also provide electric, gas or ice service in a large number of communities in eight additional states.

Capitalization: The consolidated capitalization of Associated Electric Company and its subsidiaries outstanding as of December 31, 1930, after giving effect to retirements since that date and to the issuance of securities included below, will be as follows:

Capital Stock (650,000 shares, no par value), stated value	$65,000,000
Associated Electric Co.:
4½% Gold Bonds, due 1953	20,000,000*
4½% Gold Bonds, Refunding Series, due 1956	23,000,000
5% Gold Bonds, due 1961 (this issue)	32,000,000
Subsidiaries' Bonds and Preferred Stocks	37,499,500
Subsidiaries' Minority Common Stocks and surplus applicable thereto	386,000†

* An additional $5,000,000 principal amount, having been cancelled, may be refunded.

 Includes Subsidiaries' Bonds, $37,347,800; and Preferred Stocks, stated at liquidation values, $151,700.

† At par or stated value except that 9,377 shares Clarion River Power Company Participating Stock, par value $100, are included at an estimated market value of $10 per share.

Earnings: The following is a statement of the consolidated earnings (irrespective of dates of acquisition) of properties now included in the Associated Electric Company group for the twelve months ended December 31, 1930, and annual bond interest and preferred dividend charges on securities outstanding as above:

Gross Earnings and Other Income, including $508,603 credit for Interest during Construction	$29,085,582
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Taxes (except Federal Income Taxes) and $11,944 Applicable to Minority Common Stocks	16,008,637
Net Earnings before Provision for Replacements, etc.	$13,076,945
Annual Interest and Dividends on all Funded Debt of the Company and all Funded Debt and Preferred Stocks of Subsidiaries, as above	5,396,802
Provision for Replacements (Depreciation)	$1,739,332

Net Earnings, as Above, were 2.42 Times the Above Annual Charges

Net earnings for 12 months ended December 31, 1930, as above, after providing for both Maintenance and Replacements at the rates now required under the Indenture, were $11,337,613, or over 2.10 times the above annual charges.

Ownership: Associated Electric Company and its subsidiaries constitute one of the important operating groups of the Associated Gas & Electric System. The outstanding securities of Associated Gas and Electric Company have an aggregate market value, estimated on the basis of recent market quotations, of over $450,000,000.

We Recommend These Bonds for Investment

Price 97½ and interest, yielding over 5.16%

We offer, when, as and if received by us and subject to the approval of counsel, the portion of this issue now offered for sale. It is expected that Temporary Bonds will be available for delivery on or about May 5, 1931.

Stocks Decline — Early Gains Lost Here

STOCK MARKET PULLED DOWN BY RAILS

Trading Volume Continues Lean as Carrier Issues Plunge to 6-Year Low

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Railroad shares again dragged the stock market down grade today.

Trading continued in lean volume, but the carrier issues, as a group, plunged decisively through the six-year low of December 17. Losses in these issues ranged from 1 to more than 6 points, while the rest of the list was pulled down about as much, with wider losses in a few specialties.

Illinois Central dropped 6 points to the lowest in at least 30 years. U. S. Steel dropped 2 to another four-year low.

Rail shares developed pronounced weakness when directors of Atlantic Coast Line adjourned their annual meeting without an announcement of the $3.50 semi-annual dividend due July 10. While it was reported that the dividend would not be considered until the May meeting, the market could not interpret deferred consideration favorably.

Illinois Central directors meet for dividend action next week, and it is well known that earnings are running substantially below the current annual dividend rate of $7, which has been maintained since 1917.

Wall street hears much discussion in connection with the shrinkage of rail earnings and plans to cut expenses, including possible efforts to reduce wage scales. At least one rail executive has recently expressed himself in favor of lower wages, but feeling against such action is so strong in other quarters that little official comment is available.

While railways for March as a whole show scant improvement over the earlier months of the year, at least a few carriers managed to do fairly well.

Wall street is awaiting the quarterly dividend meetings of Bethlehem and United States steels next week. While mild optimism was expressed by officials of U. S. Steel yesterday, they made no promises as to dividend action, although one financial news agency has stated definitely that the regular payment of $1.75 may be expected. U. S. Steel's ingot output this week is reported to have shrunk from 53 to 50 per cent of capacity.

Rehearing Asked on Oil Freight Rates

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Alleging unjust discrimination has been caused by freight rates fixed for petroleum and petroleum products, the Texas Company today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to reopen its investigation and revise the charges.

The commission in a 6-to-4 decision ordered an adjustment of petroleum rates several months ago. The Texas Company claimed its chief competitors (Standard Oil) were given preferential treatment as a result of the decision.

Daily Average Oil Production Gains

TULSA, April 21.—Daily average production of crude oil in the United States during the week ended April 18 totaled 2,418,431 barrels, or an increase of 119,779 barrels, according to Oil and Gas Journal.

Phoenix Oil Gets Oklahoma Well

TULSA, OKLA., April 21.—Phoenix Oil Company's No. 2 Swan well is flowing at the rate of 800 barrels of oil per day against a strong gas pressure. The well is also making 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 21.—Professional traders had the Curb market to themselves today. In the absence of any outside demand or any favorable news that might start a covering movement, prices sagged slowly. It was one of the dullest days of the year.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

THE SECRET SIX -:- By Frances Marion

Scorpio Escapes Death, Shoots Gang Leader

A sensational melodramatic story of the underworld, adapted from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Cosmopolitan picture.

Franks' privately-subsidized pier was a small one. Tucked between two larger wharves, it hid from the land side behind a supposedly deserted warehouse. Nightly, launches unloaded their contraband cargo, or loaded up for deliveries nearer the city. The police never suspected it, but Colimo's gang had long known its location.

In fact, there had been some talk of "hijacking" it in Colimo's headquarters in the city.

On the wharf, in the darkness, Scorpio sat on a pile, watching through the gloom as the launchmen and lookouts in the old warehouse unloaded their freight.

"Don't exactly see why Franks wanted me to watch here," Scorpio was thinking to himself. "Two of his men are in the warehouse anyhow. But then, maybe he's got a tip."

He fingered the revolver, and curiously eyed the barrels, cans and sacks of sand, piled on the wharf to give it a legitimate appearance. Meditatively he chewed on his cud of tobacco, and continued counting, as the sacks containing bottles of liquor, were passed upward.

Scorpio Wounded

"Eighty, eighty-one, eighty-two," he droned to himself.

Colimo, walking close to the dark building, cautiously approached the old warehouse.

True to his word, he took none of the gang. He, and he only, was to wreak vengeance for his brother's death.

At last he saw Scorpio.

In a staccato rattle his gun spoke, and bullets plowed through his target's shoulder. Scorpio dropped, with a splash, into the water below.

The gang leader's face cleared. He waited a few seconds, then cautiously retreated to his car.

"Got him," he tersely informed his men.

"Now let's beat it back to the city." The big auto whirled down the street and disappeared.

Under the wharf, bleeding profusely, Scorpio dragged himself to dry land.

Carefully he felt his wounds. He discovered to his relief that no bones were broken. The cold water had revived him from the first shock of the impact. Drawing his wet handkerchief from his pocket, he plugged the injured shoulder rudely, and crept to the edge of the wharf. The launchmen and lookouts had fled at the first shot.

"On the spot!" he muttered. "They put me on the spot!"

Then, as he began to think, rage welled within him.

"It was Johnny Franks, the yellow dog!" he grated between his teeth. "He's been acting queer lately—sore about Peaches I guess. And tonight—that's why I was sent down here. He—his old pal—and he put me on the spot."

The wounded man crawled up the bank and staggered down the narrow alleyway beside the warehouse.

"He won't get away with it—the yellow dog!" he grated, as, after a survey of the street, he started for the steak house.

In Franks' office, Johnny and Newton sat uneasily. Franks rather regretted the sacrifice of his big aide. For after all, it was Franks who had killed Colimo's brother.

Shoots Franks

Vronski sat, stolid and ignorant of what had happened. Suddenly Franks spoke to the Russian. "Get us a drink," he ordered. Vronski stepped to the icebox to comply. A knock on the door startled them.

Bleeding, dripping and dishevelled, Scorpio entered the room and eyed the two at the desk.

The man's plan of campaign had already been mapped out. He intended to play ignorant—and make sure. And then—

"They winged me!" he hoarsely informed the two at the desk.

"You're bleeding like a stuck pig—we'll have to get a doctor up here. Right now you'd better have a drink."

He moved the bottle toward his henchman. Scorpio shook his head.

"Where's my milk?" he demanded.

"Brandy's better right now," insisted Franks. Scorpio nodded uncertainly, and his eyes ranged the room.

In the waste basket they encountered something white.

He looked again.

"Looks as if you didn't expect me back," Scorpio snarled.

"You're crazy, Slaughterhouse—take a swig of brandy," he insisted, and turned toward the icebox for another glass.

That was the chance Scorpio was waiting for. As the man turned his back, Scorpio drew. He fired quickly, three times.

"Put me on the spot, will you, you dirty swine!" he roared.

Johnny Franks, three bullets lodged in his spine, slid slowly to the floor, and lay still in the widening pool of blood.

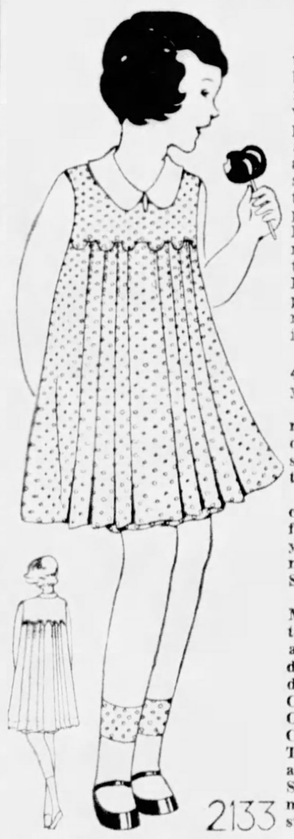
Pleats Are Very Smart
Pattern 2133
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS



Your little daughter will love this cunning frock with matching bloomers because it has borrowed its style from the grown-up mode where yokes are so very smart and pleats so very new. The dainty scallops here give the frock an air usually found on very expensive garments, yet you will find them easy to make. Stitching the pleats part way, holds them neatly in place. The becoming collar may be made of contrasting material, or not, just as you like. Dimity, lawn, cotton broadcloth, pique and swiss are suitable fabrics for Pattern 2133. Sleeves are included with the pattern.

May be obtained only in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8. Size 4 requires $2\frac{3}{8}$ yards of 36-inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

THE NEW SPRING AND SUMMER PATTERN CATALOG features an excellent assortment of afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes, also delightful ACCESSORY PATTERNS. PRICE OF CATALOG, FIFTEEN CENTS. CATALOG WITH PATTERN, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. Address all mail and orders to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

DAILY TRUE STORY — Mountain Girl

Girl's Advice Results in Much Happiness

"Never thought you'd be leavin' fer to live down in th' lowlands 'mongst furriners, Rance."

"I don't hope to do it. Seems like it was my duty."

Rance Williams did not seem happy over the prospect of leaving his mountain home where his people for many generations had lived their lives.

Jad Burgess had expressed his surprise mildly. Rance and Jad's daughter, Sally, had been keeping company for some time, and keeping company up Grayson way among the mountain folks constituted a formal engagement.

"Mom can get along right well, but Laura needs a lot of doctoring down at a hospital in Roanoke," Rance explained. "That takes a heap of money."

Jad Burgess nodded.

"A man's got to stand by his own, Rance. What does Sally say?"

"She ain't none too overjoyed, any more'n I am."

And Sally Burgess was unhappy, decidedly so.

She and Rance walked down the road a ways and sat on a fallen sycamore tree to talk it over.

"You'll git like them folks down there, Rance, and then you won't like us at all—I know lots who've done that."

Leaves for City

"Not me, Sally. If you want to wait for me I'll be back and we'll be married. Of course, if you don't want to wait a year, I ain't got the right to insist—plenty of boys round here are eager for you."

"I'll wait—I'll always wait—but I'm feared you'll change and won't want to come back. Folks away down there in the big cities live different and easier and have gay times."

"I'm not going just to live different or to have gay times, Sally. Laura's my sister, Ma's only girl, and since she hurt her back so tryin' to help old Mrs. Tutton when her house got burned, you know how's she been."

And so Rance Williams went to Philadelphia, where a distant relative had agreed to give him work at one of his chain of gas and oil stations.

To the good people in Grayson, Philadelphia was as far away as London or New Zealand.

Rance not only worked hard, but intelligently.

Mr. Luther, the distant cousin of his mother, appreciated his efforts. Before long he was put in charge of one of the stations.

Luther was quite a wealthy man. His chain of stations extended in several other cities.

And Barbara Luther, the daughter, was a charming and beautiful girl. At the end of six months Rance was superintending the supplies for all of the stations and his earnings were amazing to a mountain boy.

Rance was the sort of a young man who would attract a girl, even if he wore rough mountain clothes. In the neat, stylish garb of city young men, he became doubly attractive.

Compares Women

Barbara Luther noticed this. She became very friendly with Rance and, because she was really a charming girl, he found himself mightily interested in her.

There were times when he found himself comparing Barbara Luther to little Sally Burgess—Sally in her blue print dress, cotton stockings, rough shoes and sunbonnet and Barbara in her snappy sport clothes or her soft clinging evening frocks.

Rance had a nice little car to make his business trips in. He got around a great deal, covered much territory and rapidly seemed to absorb northern city ways, speech, manners. He was an entirely changed young man in that respect.

He was able to give his sister, Laura, the best of all she needed. She was then in a sanitarium, under treatment and rapidly recovering. There was no doubt now but what her back would be made as strong and as straight as ever.

Meanwhile Rance worked and saved and managed to go in with Luther as partner in the filling stations in a small town.

He had many opportunities to go out in good society with Barbara and he became fond of this sort of life.

Remembers Promise

The year had nearly ended. Laura would be able to go back home, cured, in a few more months.

"You won't go back, will you, Rance?" Barbara had asked.

"It's home—mother wants wants me," he said, rather evasively.

But there was Sally—his mountain "gal."

And Rance was—well, he was Rance Williams, son of the late Clay Williams and of a long line of Williamses who had been respected in their mountain district.

No one who knew them had ever asked for a receipt or a note. When a Williams gave his word, that was sufficient.

Rance pictured the mountain, the fallen sycamore tree—Sally with tear and dust-stained face, sobbing in his arms. He could hear himself saying, "I'll come back, I promise, I give my word."

And to Rance Williams that was the answer.

His sister Laura was finally cured. All by herself she went back home and now she was the same as ever, working about the place and soon to be married to Jim Boyd, who had waited all this time for her to get well.

Rance knew that his task was finished, so far as anyone back home in the mountain could see.

And, being a straightforward young man, he had a talk with Barbara.

"If you were me, Babs," he said, "and you had courted a girl and promised to marry her—and had given her your word to come back—what would you do?"

Barbara may have paled a little but she put her hand on Rance's shoulder and looked him in the eyes.

"If I were you I would do just what you are going to do, Rance. I'd go back and marry the girl, but I would come back with her—I wouldn't waste my life grubbing on an old mountain farm when you have such wonderful prospects here."

Rance did not give up his position. Mr. Luther put a reliable man in to substitute for him for a while and he started for his mountain home.

When he left the station at Crocketts he took his suitcase and struck through the hills by a path, a short cut.

He had written home to his mother and to Sally that he would be there some time on such a date.

Rance stopped when not far from the road near Sally's home. He opened his suitcase, put away his good clothes and put on the suit he had worn when he left home, a rusty old suit, short in sleeves and trouser legs, a dilapidated, shapeless old hat, a frayed blue shirt. He even had the rough shoes he had worn away.

Changes Costume

Rance did not want Sally to be embarrassed, to think that he had become a city dude.

Jad Burgess saw him coming and met him with a hearty hand-shake.

"Never changed ye a bit—and looks like you never been away at all, Rance," he said, with approval.

Then a young lady came out, a beautiful young lady in a charming little costume. She ran up to Rance and threw her arms around him.

It was Sally!

"Rance! Oh, Rance—it's so good to see you! It has seemed so long since you went away!"

Rance looked at her and turned red.

Sally understood.

"Paw sent me to school in Wytheville. I was feared you would come back all citied up and be sort of ashamed of me—but I'll go put on my old clothes, sunbonnet and all, and be your mountain 'gal' again forever."

She didn't have to do this, Rance confessed why he had returned looking as he did. He went back to his hidden suit case and returned in his modern clothes.

Rance's mother lives with Laura and her husband now and Rance and his "Mountain gal" are prosperous and happy in Philadelphia.

Suits Against Town Hall

Actions Begun to Restrain Commissioners From Beginning Long-Delayed Work.

Injunction suits, classified as actions of taxpayers, have been entered to restrain the County Commissioners from proceeding toward the erection of a town hall. One, in the name of residents of the Schenley Farms district, where a town hall site was selected, will be argued here next Monday. Another, filed in the Dauphin County Court, Harrisburg, by William A. Magee, attorney for a Pittsburgh citizen, charges that the town hall bond issue is illegal.

In one suit, backed by a number of residents who live near the Oakland site recently selected by the County Commissioners, the commissioners are declared at fault because the transaction involves more than $300, hence could not be entered into legally without advertisement for bids.

The Dauphin County suit, which the court has ordered the commissioners to answer, seeks to halt the sale of $6,000,000 town hall bonds. It alleges that no vote was taken by the commissioners on the entire $43,000,000 bond issue of 1928 stating that a resolution to issue the bonds had been inserted in the minutes on a motion and second, without a vote.

The situation would be amusing were it not tragical to those who had hoped to see a town hall long ago. First we have residents of the district up in arms evidently because they do not want a town hall for a neighbor. Among their objections is one that such a structure would violate the city zoning ordinance, which classifies that locality as residential.

Then we have the intimation that the commissioners have bungled the financing. This on top of the serious error of having taken nearly three years to make a selection.

Boosters of various sites outside of Oakland are disappointed, as was to be expected, so the commissioners have not saved themselves from criticism by delaying so long. Had they been prompt in their decision they might have avoided litigation, but even if it had arisen, it is probable that it would have been settled long ago and that the building now would be in the course of erection, if not completed.

Butler Line Abandoned

urt Permits Cessation of Operation of Road Unable To Pay Way.

Judge F. P. Schoonmaker of the United States District Court has consented to the application of Maurice R. Scharff, receiver of the Butler Short Line, electric railroad, for abandonment of the road. The action leaves thousands of persons with no other means of rapid transit than bus transportation between Pittsburgh and Butler.

Reasons assigned for the road's inability to continue are that traffic does not produce sufficient revenue to maintain it and that the receiver is unable to negotiate a loan to make necessary repairs.

Thus the Butler Short Line follows in the path of numerous interurban trolley lines throughout the state that have been abandoned in recent years. Created to meet the needs of the communities they served a quarter of a century ago, they then were the realization of a demand for rapid transit. Today something more rapid takes their place, the automobile bus. They, too, will have their day and pass, as the more rapid airplane is developed to its commercial possibilities.

There Is a Power Trust

The term "power trust" is often referred to by the subsidizer and propagandist publications of the electric utility corporations as if it were a thing which had NO EXISTENCE—a sort of Jack-o-Lantern, devised by liberal and progressive critics of utility company practices.

But THERE IS A POWER TRUST, as the word "trust" has been used, and quite properly, both in court decisions and in common speech and understanding, for more than 40 years. Senator Norris is merely using language in its usual acceptation and speaking with truth and precision when he refers to the "POWER TRUST POISON SQUAD" as at work again.

He so entitles a statement issued by him in reply to the pamphlet now being circulated by the National Electric Light Association.

No trust that has been dissolved by the courts as a violation of the anti-trust laws of the United States has ever described itself as a trust. Almost without exception such illegal combinations have been merely "ASSOCIATIONS" or corporations within a given industry.

Such "ASSOCIATIONS" have been described and referred to as TRUSTS because they act in unison, obedient to some unified control (usually an artful evasion of the express prohibitions of law), and while disclaiming formal organization, they are still able by the element of TRUST, arising from identity of interest, to achieve effective unity of action in the pursuit of their common corporate objectives.

This is all that any trust has ever been, and IN THE TRUEST AND STRICTEST SENSE OF THE WORD, SUCH A TRUST EXISTS IN THE ELECTRIC POWER INDUSTRY IN THIS COUNTRY.

The power trust has conned well the lessons of the trusts that have gone before.

It studiously avoids the pitfalls into which other trusts have fallen.

It would not think of committing the vulgarity of having a formal organization, or elected officers, or an executive committee, or minutes in which its inter-corporate agreements were recorded.

Trusts have been tried and convicted for using such devices. Their officers have been fined and their associations have been dissolved by court decree.

THESE THINGS ARE NO LONGER DONE.

But Senator Norris is absolutely right when he denounces the pamphlet of the National Electric Light Association as "another feeble attempt to defend THE TRUST from the charges of excess profits."

The testimony on record before the Federal Trade Commission precludes denial of Senator Norris' charge that this trust has spent millions in various endeavors to control public sentiment and to build up a sentiment in favor of the trust, "not hesitating to approach the pulpit and to send their emissaries into communities to visit women's clubs, to influence Boy Scout organizations, to control farmers' organizations, to subsidize college professors and school superintendents."

LET US HEAR NO MORE OF THE VAIN AND FATUOUS ASSERTION THAT THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS A POWER TRUST.

SOLAR ENERGY

By Archibald Henderson

In the very remote past groups, even races of people, were Sun worshippers. They looked upon the Sun as a sort of god which was supplying us, with conscious beneficence, of the means of life growth and happiness. Now that we have discovered, in these modern days, the exact debt we owe to the Sun, it is surprising that the cult of Sun worshippers does not come once more into being.

It is only with very recent years that scientists have arrived at a really plausible explanation of the enormous internal heat of the Sun. The ancients, reasonably enough in the light of the limited knowledge at their disposal, believed that the fires of the Sun and other celestial bodies could be accounted for by internal combustion. Go back something over a century and we find Sir William Herschel expressing the conviction that the Sun was a habitable planet! less than half a century ago Sir Norman Lockyer went on record with the belief that the impact of swarms of meteors upon the surface of the Sun was sufficient to maintain solar heat.

Then a new and very plausible theory was advanced by Helmholtz and taken up by Lord Kelvin, to the effect that the solar heat was caused by shrinkage, contraction of the bulk of the sun. In 10,000 years it was estimated that, with the most powerful telescopes then in use, a shrinkage in the sun's diameter of 120 feet a year could be detected. Unfortunately for the theory, it required the life of the sun to be only 20,000,000 years—and this did not accord with other scientific facts. So the famous contraction hypothesis had to be thrown into the discard.

The new theories of matter and energy, especially associated with the names of Einstein, Rutherford and Bohn, put the matter in a new light. All matter was considered electrical in nature, and matter came to be regarded as merely a form of potential or bottled-up energy.

The heat generated in the interior of a star or of the sun is now believed to be caused by the impact of electrons and protons upon each other. Energy, through their violence—impacts, is set free as radiation. This energy is computed to be sufficient to set both the masses into motion with a velocity of about 161,000 miles per second. As Jeans says: "In no other way can a given mass of matter be made to yield energy of amount comparable with this... Each proton, or antom, as it is annihilated, makes a splash of radiant energy which travels through the star until, after innumerable absorptions and re-emissions, it reaches the star's surface and wanders off into space."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 21.—Perhaps the most enduring of New York's colorful characters are its locality mayors. The Diamond Jim Bradys, the Oscar Hammersteins and even the Jimmy Walkers come and go, but offer only the ziz-boom-aah of a bursting rocket.

The locality Mayors go on forever. Only one seems ever to have deserted. He is Frank Dostal, Mayor of Avenue B, whose friendly ministrations smoothed out many rough spots in his hard-boiled area. He recently tired of the slums and moved to California.

As a rule, the locality Mayor is the most popular man in his teeming neighborhood. He is the peacemaker in family quarrels, the professional baby kisser, the first aid in rental eviction and the bail bondsman. His office is on the curb under the shelter of his rakish derby.

How he lives is diffused by an aura of mystery. No one cares, however. If it be by graft, it has every appearance of being extremely gentle. He seldom grows rich, but always has an extra cigar in his pocket for a henchman and is a whirligig of activity on election day.

While such Mayors go through an election formula they are more or less self appointed. Stitch McCarthy has been Mayor of Grand street—the East Side's Broadway—for more than 30 years. He is a real life Ben Turpin and a wit of no mean pretensions.

One community caliph does not wear the mayoralty title. He is known as the Duke of Essex street—a garrulous good fellow who packs the vote of his section in his vest pocket. Battery Dan was elevated to a philosophic pomposity by the ship news crew.

There are, too, the Mayor of Poverty Hollow, the Mayor of Chinatown, the Prince of Delancey street, the Baron of Brooklyn Bridge, and along the west side riverfront is the Czar of West street. All are products of ward politics—a city's haphazard motif in self-government.

I dropped into the old Hippodrome the other evening. Once the scene of stupendous stage spectacles, it is now given over to low-priced vaudeville. The audience was composed of all the people one somehow thought never came to New York—including the long-faced lodgeman who was invariably called upon to read the lament: "Whereas it has pleased Providence to remove our brother, etc."

* * *

For some reason, sitting in the Hippodrome, I thought of the revivalists, "Come ons" in our towns. They were the shiftless ne'er-do-wells who hit the trail and knelt sobbing at the mourners' bench. The next day they would, with trembling hands, put on white collars and wander about in a haunt-eyed and subdued ecstasy of self-righteousness. They would hold in for two or three weeks, then fall from grace—letting go somewhat in the manner of a Fourth of July setpiece, the American Eagle, General Washington, etc.

The Hippodrome offered several oldtime crossfire patter teams, singing strollers interpolating their turn with gags and sudden dance steps. A big laugh came when a long-haired comic held out a lock and observed: "I don't know whether to get a hair cut or buy a violin." And I laughed as loud as anyone. My wife says louder.

* * *

There was also a skit called "Youngsters of Yesterday," a white-haired Mark Twainish gentleman of 86 who cut a few buck and wing capers, a Mr. Genaro, who "originated the cake walk" and is still doing it in his late 60's, and Josephine Sabel who popularized "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." There's something saddening to me about watching old timers—a wistful melancholy that brings a slight clutch to the throat. And a misty swim to the eye.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Redemption

How can I cleanse a soul I love from stain
Until I see it shining, strong and true,
In hope's bright armor, proud, erect again,
The brave and lovely thing that once I knew?
How can I lead it back to paths of light
From those strange byways where it wanders now,
How plant within its deeps a love of right
That will redeem, at last, each broken vow?
Why, I shall put so much of faith therein,
Weight it with such a burden of my trust
It must renounce the quest of every sin,
Must turn once more to courses wholly just.
If mine is but the courage to be strong,
I can redeem the soul I love from wrong.

Nicaragua and the State Department

By BAINBRIDGE COLBY

THE American people have shown, throughout their history, a disposition to acquiesce in, if not always to approve, the action of the President or the Department of State, in defining our attitude or shaping our course with relation to questions arising beyond our borders.

It was this ingrained habit which enabled the country to stomach the unpalatable, promptitude and comprehensiveness of our recent apology to Premier Mussolini for Gen. Smedley Butler's rather overpunished discursiveness in the field of extemporaneous oratory.

Whether the startling innovation upon our historic policy of protecting our imperiled nationals in countries where public disorder prevails, and where local authority is unequal to the task of affording such protection, reflected in the Secretary of State's warning to Americans in Nicaragua to flee for their lives, will be acceptable to American public opinion, I think is very doubtful.

"THIS government cannot undertake," says the Secretary of State, "general protection of Americans throughout that country with American forces. To do so would lead to difficulties and commitments which this government does not propose to undertake."

It is these words in the message sent to the American legation at Managua, which mark a striking departure from the historic and traditional policy of the United States in dealing with similar situations.

Warnings to our citizens to withdraw from endangered situations and to seek safety in protected areas have been issued in the past, notably in the case of Mexico in 1914 and 1916, but those warnings were part and parcel of active efforts, with all the means at our command, to provide our citizens with as full protection as lay within our power.

The unique feature of the policy now, for the first time in our history, announced by the Secretary of State, is its apparent rejection of the duty of protection.

THIS is not predicated upon our lack of power or upon the existence of circumstances that would render the success of protective measures doubtful

It is based upon the fact that the protection of Americans now in Nicaragua would involve "commitments which this government does not propose to undertake."

In other words—that there are considerations of a political or diplomatic character that transcend in importance the lives of our citizens in Nicaragua.

We can only speculate as to what such reasons may be.

IN A PRESS dispatch, appearing in a very reliable organ, the statement appears that "officials of the State Department admitted that Mr. Stimson's program for diminution of the use of American forces to protect American property in the interior, was a reversal of previous policy."

Among the grounds on which these officials are reported to justify the department's reversal of policy, is that it will develop a sense of responsibility in the Nicaraguan government and its national guard, and hasten the final recall of our military forces.

The improvement of the morale of Nicaragua's militia will hardly impress the country as justifying the sacrifice of American lives, nor will the political acceleration of the withdrawal of American Marines from regions where their presence is still imperatively required, console the country if this departure from the American policy of protecting its citizens wherever they may be, and to the extent of our power, is followed with tragic results.

IT IS NO part of the duties of the State Department to strive for a reversal of American policies. It is its function to continue policies long established and historically justified; to supply them with fresh vindications as new problems arise; to see that the basic reasons which underlie such policies are made manifest.

These principles have their source in our moral and spiritual inheritance as a people, in our habits of thought from generation to generation, in our established principles of conduct, in our conceptions of right and wrong, in the generous promptings of our human feelings.

They are the very stuff of which we are made. Policie sprung from such roots cannot be abandoned with safety. The cannot be reversed without affront to the nation.

"WHICH shall we do," said John C. Calhoun, "abandon or defend our commercial rights, and the personal liberties of our citizens in exercising them!"

"When did submission to one wrong," said Henry Clay, "induce an adversary to cease his encroachments on the party submitting!"

"Whenever by the operation of the law of nations," said Secretary of State Marcy, "an individual becomes clothed with our national character, be he a native-born, or naturalized citizen, an exile driven from his early home by political oppression, or an emigrant enticed from it by the hopes of a better fortune for himself and his posterity, he can claim the protection of this government and it may respond to that claim without being obliged to explain its conduct to any foreign power; for it is its duty to make its nationality respected by other nations, and respectable in every quarter of the globe."

Are we to be told, no more to heed it?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Do you know what "straight thinking" means?

When your opinion is asked are you unbiased in your reply?

Can you excuse yourself from certain duties that normally fall upon a person in your position or can you find an excuse for putting the duty up to some other member of the family?

Are you able to think straight and in an unprejudiced manner?

Are you able to come to a straight conclusion based upon facts even when it involves your own discomfort?

The line between duty to self or the other fellow is a fine one.

If outside duty unfits you for your real duty to the home folks, you ought to be able to think straight enough to see where your duty lies.

There are some overly sensitive, conscientious persons who cannot be trusted to look out for their own health.

Their ambition is greater than their strength.

They should practice straight thinking, and realize to whom and for whom it is their responsibility to keep as well physically and nervously as possible.
